Fire-Eater from South Carolina Sponsor for Administration.

RIDICULOUS ASPECT

Senate Committee Agrees to Report the Hepburn Measure Without Amendments.

MR. DOLLIVER IS FURIOUS

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM
L. W. STRAYER, Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Senator Benjamin R. Tillman of South Carolina, rampant enemy of the President and his official acts, standing on the floor of the senate as the spokesman of the administration and in charge of President Roosevelt's most cherished piece of legislation, is the remarkable spectacle that awaits the senate within the next few days. For the railroad rate bill has been handed over to the tender mercies of this emotional, sensational, fire-eating senator and he has been authorized to take it into the senate with a favorable report from the committee on interstate commerce. This honor carries with it that of taking charge of the measure on the floor of the senate. With him is the responsibility for guiding it through the shoals and rocks of the parliamentary sea to a successful vote.

The whole situation is the most ridiculous that could be imagined. It was brought about by the action of the senate committee on interstate commerce which today voted to report favorably the Hepburn bill without amendment.

Defeated All Amendments.

This was accomplished by a coalition of three Republican members of the committee with the five Democratic members, and by standing together they were able to secure a favorable report and defeat all of the proposed amendments. Not even those amendments which the Democrats themselves had proposed were accepted.

Yesterday it was thought that at least the court review amendment proposed by Senator Knox would be adopted, in view of the fact that most of the Republican members of the committee and several of the Democrats were favorable to such alteration. But the Democrats who had been depended upon were brought back into line by their colleagues at the last moment and were induced to vote for the unamended Hepburn bill by making a party issue of it. It was argued to them that a tentative agreement had been made with the Democratic members of the house that if the latter would vote solidly for the Hepburn bill the Democrats in the senate would stand together to secure its report to the senate without change. This compact was carried through.

Senators in Bad Humor.

But it is the queerest favorable report that any bill has had in many a day. It carries with it the stipulation that every member of the committee is free to vote for such amendments in the senate as he sees fit, and it binds none of them to support it.

The session of the committee today has engendered a great deal of ill feeling on every hand. Senators Elkins, Aldrich and Foraker are in a temper because they were not permitted to make such amendments as it is known a majority of the committee is favorable to. Senator Dolliver is writhing under the humiliation that has been placed upon him by passing him for a Democrat to make the fight for the bill on the floor, and it requires no stretch of imagination to calculate the President's feelings when he learned of the turn affairs had taken. It took but little time after the committee came together today to ascertain that the supporters of the Hepburn bill had control of the situation. One vote demonstrated that, and it was seen that no amendments could be put through. There was some discussion and then the adjournment was taken for lunch and so the Democratic members could caucus.

Would Not Swallow Whole Bill.

At the afternoon session there was more talk and finally, at the suggestion of the chairman, Mr. Elkins, Senator Dolliver offered the following resolution:

"Resolved, That the interstate commerce committee report favorably house bill No. 12,987, as passed by the house of representatives."

Mr. Aldrich did not propose to permit the bill to go to the senate with the understanding that all the Republican members were bound to support it there without alteration, and so he offered the following amendment to the Dolliver resolution:

"It being understood that members of the committee have the right to vote as they choose or offer amendments in the senate during the consideration of the bill."

The vote on this question was eight to five in favor of it. Tillman, McLaurin, Carmack, Foster of Louisiana and Newlands, Democrats, and Dolliver, Clapp and Cullom, Republicans, voted in the affirmative. Elkins, Aldrich, Kean, Foraker and Crane, all Republicans, voted against it. Carmack and Cullom were not present, but were permitted to vote by proxy.

A Thrust at Dolliver.

Then it was suggested that the chairman report the bill to the senate. But Senator Dolliver interposed an objection. He said it was customary for a bill to be reported by one favorable to it, and he thought that rule should be followed in this case. Senator Clapp moved that Mr. Dolliver be authorized to make the report, and it had been generally understood that the Iowan would be selected for this honor, in view of the fact that he has fought hard for the Hepburn bill. But Mr. Aldrich moved to amend by substituting the name of Mr. Tillman, and the motion in this form was adopted. Senators Aldrich, Kean, Foraker, Crane and McLaurin voted for Tillman; Elkins,

SERVE NOTICE OF EVICTION UPON MANY THOUSANDS

Overcrowded New York Tenements Must Come Down for Pennsylvania Terminal.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The most extensive eviction of tenants in the city's history, by which over 4,000 persons must move from their homes within the next few weeks, was ordered today by the real estate department of the Long Island Railroad Company. Two blocks of tenement houses on Thirty-second street, west of Eighth avenue, in which live more than 600 families, are to be torn down to make additional room for the great railway terminal of the Pennsylvania railroad.

These tenements have been greatly overcrowded for several months, during which time they have harbored, in addition to the regular tenants, many of those who were evicted from a two-block section directly east of and adjoining their present homes.

This eastern section has already been converted into an immense excavation for use of the underground terminal. Despite repeated notices from the railroad company the tenants remained, many of them because poverty made it next to impossible for them to move.

Of the 4,000 persons affected by today's order, 1,000 must vacate the premises by March 1. These are said to be in arrears for their rent. The other 3,000 have been allowed until April 15.

EXPLOSION INJURES FOUR.

Workmen Are Caught by Dynamite Blast in the Manor Gas Coal Company Mine.

GREENSBURG, PA., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—Four men were badly burned by an explosion in the mines of the Manor Gas Coal Company at Claridge this evening. Two of the injured, Mike Clarinch and Peter Kecede, were brought to the Westmoreland hospital in a critical condition. Their faces are crushed and burned. Frank Dusack and Joseph Poskos were taken to their homes.

The men had placed four charges of dynamite in the workings of the mine. After two had gone off the men returned to the room and received the full force of the second explosion.

Bright Hopes for J. W. Alexander.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—H. W. Alexander, son of James W. Alexander, former president of the Equitable Life Assurance society, said tonight that his father's condition was more encouraging and the physicians are now hopeful of recovery.

F. X. BARR WANTS LARGEST PLUM IN GIFT OF MAYOR

Gentleman from Edgewood Would Collect Delinquent Taxes.

WILLING TO MOVE

Edgewood is not within the city limits, but that doesn't make any difference to F. X. Barr. He wants to be appointed collector of delinquent taxes and Mayor-elect George W. Guthrie has been asked to name him. Mr. Barr is willing to get a moving van and become a resident of Pittsburgh if the new executive will agree to hand him the plum.

The Pittsburgh charter ordinance contains a provision that if "satisfactory experts" cannot be found within the city, the mayor can go outside to find them. This is how Mr. Barr comes in. As a job holder and the representative of a family of job holders, he is an expert. Nothing is allowed to escape.

Mayor-elect Guthrie will have a precedent. Mayor Hays went to Canton, O., to find a city detective. It is true Controller Larkin held up this official's pay until he became acclimated, but Mr. Barr would not need to fear of opposition from this point. At present the controller has little to do with the delinquent tax department, and then he is supposed to be a supporter of the man from Edgewood.

Mr. Barr has not had a public position since the first of January. Then he retired as clerk of courts because the people of the county refused to continue him in office. With a Democratic victory on Tuesday, for which he modestly claims credit in proportion to the size of the stipend of the delinquent tax collector and the advertising which goes with it, the gentleman from Edgewood gets busy. In return, cordial support of the Guthrie administration from a morning and afternoon Democratic newspaper is assured. Top of column, next to reading matter, with illustrations every time the mayor says the word.

When the new mayor went to Atlantic City yesterday for a two weeks' rest, he carried this new burden with him. He had been apprised of the demands of Mr. Barr. He had other troubles before this load was unloaded. Had he been home yesterday afternoon he would have received calls from a number of Democrats. They had heard of the ambitions of Mr. Barr and were ready to object. Some of the men who were most active in the support of Guthrie are extremely vigorous in the expression of opinion on the candidacy of the gentleman from Edgewood.

For some reason many Democrats become irritable when the name of Barr is mentioned. They have a notion this family has been much given to office holding. It is recalled that during both of the Cleveland administrations rich plums were drawn by the Barrs. After that there was a temporary retirement until a fusion movement came along in 1902. Then Francis Xavier was put into a $6,000 job for three years. In 1905 the people blocked an effort to duplicate the salary.

In the closing days of the mayoralty contest it was discovered that Guthrie had a chance and there was a strenuous effort to declare in. Guthrie happened to win, and among the first to knock at the door of the mayor-elect and demand reward was the gentleman from Edgewood. The job is estimated to be worth at least $13,000 a year, and then add to this about $10,000 or $12,000 more for printing the list of delinquents in the two Democratic papers controlled by the prospective tax collector. It is worth moving from Edgewood to Pittsburgh to secure. The flitting would have to occur before the first of April, and van hire is cheap.

Mayor-elect Guthrie is simply asked to shut his eyes and stop his ears to criticism and deliver the goods. While he paces the boardwalk at Atlantic City he will reach a decision.

THE GENTLEMAN FROM EDGEWOOD

F. X. Barr, who is willing to live in Pittsburgh for a $25,000 job.

Beginning at the extreme left of the picture and going from left to right around the table the delegates are as follows: M. Sagher, Sweden; M. Bacheracht, Count Cassini, Russia; Count Ferino, Portugal; Count de Tesla, Netherlands; Count Molmusi, Viscount Venosta, Italy; Sir Arthur Nicholson England; M. Revoil, France; Messrs. Gummere and White, America; Count de Buisseret, Baron Joostaus, Belgium; Count Koziebrodzki, Austria; Count Tattenback and Radowitz, Germany; Duke d'Almodovar, Spain; El Motri, El Torres and interpreters, Morocco.

BIG STEEL PLANT AT MOUTH OF SHIP CANAL

Jones & Laughlin Record Deeds for $1,000,000 Worth of Ohio River Land.

The purchase by the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company of $1,000,000 worth of property, extending along the Ohio river front two miles from West Economy to Aliquippa, for the erection of a mammoth steel plant, was confirmed yesterday by a deed for a part of the tract being recorded at the court house in Beaver, Pa. The deeds for the entire property are in the hands of Register and Recorder James Anderson and will all soon be a matter of public record.

Not only do the deeds name Jones & Laughlin as the purchaser of the property, but from high authority it was ascertained last night the company has purchased this property, which is all bottom land, and that upon it will eventually be built a plant that will exceed in size the combined plants of the company along Second avenue and on the South Side.

It has been several times reported during the past few months that the Second avenue and South Side plants were to be removed, but this is denied as being contemplated in the near future, although it may become a necessity ultimately.

The mouth of the proposed Pittsburgh & Lake Erie ship canal, connecting the Ohio river with the northern lakes is expected to be at or near the spot which Jones & Laughlin has purchased for future use. The purchase of this $1,000,000 tract is understood to have resulted directly from the canal project and the necessity of finding more room for extensions and better shipping facilities, the proposed canal offering a through water-route for the transportation of ore from iron mines in Michigan. The constant crowding by extensions of the Second avenue and South Side plants have made imperative the acquisition of ground outside the city for future developments and the long litigation in the courts over the red ore dust nuisance in the Oakland district has furnished another motive for the removal of that plant to another location.

GARFIELD QUESTIONED.

Attorneys for Packers Quiz Him Closely as to His Action in Beef Investigation.

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Commissioner of Corporations Garfield today was subjected to a severe cross-examination in the packers' case. He admitted he had turned over to the department of justice some information which had been secured during the investigation of the beef packing industry, but asserted it was nothing which had any direct bearing on the case now on hearing.

The information given the department of justice, he said, had been received by the agents of the departments from men all over the country asserting themselves to have information of violation of the law by the defendants. No information obtained from the packers was given.

JUDGE ENJOINS WILSONS FROM GOING TO CHURCH

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—Judge Moss, who recently enjoined a man from wooing his wife, today issued an injunction to prohibit H. Wilson and Mrs. Mary Wilson, his wife, from going to church. They are charged with disturbing religious service at the Pleasant Home Baptist church.

BURNING MINE MAY CONTAIN DEAD BODIES

STEUBENVILLE, O., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—A fierce fire, caused by a black-damp explosion before working hours this morning, is burning in No. 2 mine of the Western & Lake Erie Coal Mining Company at Dillonvale. About 500 men are out of employment. The mine is being flooded. It is feared that several men who were in the habit of starting to work after midnight may have been killed by the explosion.

Argentina President's Health Serious.

BUENOS AYRES, ARGENTINA, Feb. 23.—(Special Cable.)—President Quintana's health has become worse and his physicians have prohibited any visits, even from his most intimate friends.

SEVERE DRY SPELL IS THREATENED

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—Portions of this city and the oil fields in this state are threatened with a severe dry spell, as the result of attachments being entered today against 42 saloons. The distributors of wet goods are controlled by the Clendenning company, against which attachments aggregating $10,000 have been made. The liabilities of the company are given at $31,000, while the assets are placed at $70,000. None of the saloons have been closed yet, but the danger of shutting off the supply of wet goods is imminent, as the bar fixtures have been attached. The attachments were made at the instance of the Commercial Banking and Trust Company of Cincinnati, the Moerlein Brewing Company of Cincinnati and S. Grabfelder & Co. of Louisville, Ky.

FAILS TO BRING UP THE LAKE ERIE SHIP CANAL BILL

Mr. Dalzell's Efforts Meet Defeat Because of Lack of Quorum in the House.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Representative John Dalzell today made another attempt to bring up the bill granting a charter to the Lake Erie & Ohio Ship Canal Company, but was unsuccessful. He tried to get a suspension of the rules in order that the bill might be considered and on a roll call there was 112 votes in favor of it and 36 against, with seven voting present. This made a total of 185 votes, or nine short of a quorum.

A number of Pennsylvania members were absent attending the funeral of the late Representative George Castor in Philadelphia or there would have been enough votes.

However, Mr. Dalzell is certain that he will get the bill through at this session. It can be brought up on call of the committees at any time and it has been demonstrated that there will be no trouble whatever in getting a majority in favor of it. It is possible that Mr. Dalzell may bring it up tomorrow if the opportunity arises.

SAFETY PIN IN THROAT; TREATED FOR DIPHTHERIA

Six-Year-Old Girl Recovers Her Voice After Long Illness—Revealed by X-Rays.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Treated for two months for diphtheria, Margaret Curl, 6 years of age, is today well, because a surgical operation removed a safety pin from her larnyx. The presence of the pin was indicated by X-rays. More than two months ago the child put the safety pin in her mouth. It slipped down her throat, lodging below the larnyx in the trachea.

The child lost her voice, inflammation begun and the external symptoms were exactly those of diphtheria. The most powerful remedies affected it neither the one way nor the other. Finally the X-rays were applied and a photograph taken. The negative showed the safety pin lodged in the trachea, and then after a most delicate operation the pin was extracted.

This was the latter part of last week. Today it was reported that the child was about its home, playing, and almost entirely well. She has entirely recovered her voice.

Remarkable Progress.

The success that has been attained in bringing into general demand and making popular all over the United States Moet & Chandon "White Seal" champagne, vintage of 1900, is shown by the customs house statistics of importations during the year 1905. No less than 99,387 cases of Moet & Chandon champagne were brought into the port of New York last year, keeping this grand wine at the head of the list, the amount being over 50 per cent greater than the importations of the brand which stands second on the list. White Seal "1900," acknowledged as perfection in champagne, is given preference at all first-class hotels and restaurants, and is used almost exclusively at all prominent functions.

MORE HOPE FOUND IN MOROCCAN CONFERENCE

Adjournment Taken Until Next Saturday, but Spirit of Conciliation Prevails.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Ambassador White today cabled the state department from Algeciras that the conference had adjourned until Saturday next, after discussing at some length the question of an international bank. A very strong spirit of conciliation appeared to prevail.

The understanding here is that there is no immediate prospect of a hostile issue between France and Germany on this subject.

ALGECIRAS, SPAIN, Feb. 23.—The first feeling of depression over Germany's rejection of the French proposals is gradually wearing off and a slightly more hopeful feeling is observable among the delegates.

This is due largely to the amicable spirit shown between the French and German delegates during the formal debates on the Moroccan bank question. Strong influences operate to induce the Germans to recognize the syndicate of French bankers who furnished the first loan to Morocco and who seek thereby to obtain a preferred position.

The deadlock on the question of policing Morocco is unchanged, but the improved feeling also extends to that question.

PARIS, Feb. 23.—Premier Rouvier laid the Moroccan situation before the cabinet today, but no announcement was made concerning any modification of the present status. Minister of Marine Thompson announced his intention to ask parliament to build three battleships, each of 18,000 tons, which will be the largest French ships yet constructed.

A sensational debate was expected in the chamber of deputies today, as several orators intended to question the government upon the Moroccan situation. Premier Rouvier made an earnest appeal to the chamber not to force a debate at this moment, as it might embarrass the interests of the country. Later, the premier added, when the conference of Algeciras terminated or was suspended, he would fully discuss the question.

M. Rouvier's reference to the possible suspension of the conference caused surprise. The orators yielded with the exception of M. Jaurez, the Socialist leader, who vigorously criticised the ministry's alleged indecision.

ALL SEE "ALICIA ROOSEVELT."

Cubans Not Disappointed in Their Desire to Catch a Glimpse of the American Bride.

HAVANA, Feb. 23.—(Copyright Cable.)—The sojourn of the Longworths in Cuba will be marked by an absence of formal entertainment, as the couple has especially requested that this be the case. They took a long automobile ride today and tomorrow night they will be tendered a performance at the National theater, where a varied program has been arranged.

Two balls in one night in Havana are unprecedented and resulted in some confusion, as few people knew which ball the Longworths would attend first, and, of course, all wanted to see "Alicia Roosevelt." Some went first to the American club, then to the palace, and others reversed the process, but all had a chance to see the bride at close range, for there was no jam at either place. The Longworths went first to the American club.

Writs Granted Accused Miners.

BOISE, IDAHO, Feb. 23.—The supreme court issued a writ of habeas corpus in the cases of President Moyer, Secretary Haywood and Committeeman Pettibone of the Western Federation of Miners, accused of the murder of former Gov. Frank Steunenberg. The hearing is set for March 1.

Drydock Dewey Sighted.

LAS PALMAS, CANARY ISLANDS, Feb. 23.—The United States drydock Dewey has been signaled off this port. The Dewey reports having encountered heavy weather resulting in strains. It is the intention that the drydock shall remain here a fortnight for repairing.

HOUSE AGREES TO INVESTIGATE RAILROADS--RATE BILL GOES TO SENATE

VOTE TO PROBE ALLEGED MERGER

Resolution to Inquire Into P. R. R. and B. & O. Passed Unanimously.

COAL AND OIL ARE INCLUDED

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM
L. W. STRAYER, Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Without a dissenting vote the house today adopted the joint resolution introduced in the senate and passed by that body providing for an investigation by the interstate commerce commission of the Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio and other railroads and their relations to the coal and oil industry of the country. The resolution amended by the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce so as to include both coal and oil and no other products was reported by Mr. Townsend of Michigan, who made a strong speech in support of it. He said:

> As originally introduced in the house the Gillespie resolution provided for an investigation into the carriers of bituminous coal. The senate resolution provided not only for an investigation in reference to bituminous coal, but as to all other products. The gentleman from Kansas, Mr. Campbell, who has been active in looking after the interests of his people, presented to the committee facts which warranted an investigation in regard to oil. The committee thought that inasmuch as there were specific charges in reference to coal and oil the investigation should be extended to these products. The interstate commerce commission has been carrying on an investigation with reference to anthracite coal and is about to undertake an investigation with regard to oil. It is expected that this investigation will be prompt, will be speedy and effectual.

Control Through Stock Holdings.

> Now it has been charged, and I think with authority, that there are through inter-corporate railroad stocks, a control which precludes the benefit to the people in certain instances by one carrier owning the stock of another. It has been disclosed, in fact, that many of the officers of the coal-carrying roads are officers of other carriers and through them the product is taken from the mine to the market. It must necessarily stand as a fact that when carriers are so combined and especially when you add to the fact that many of these carriers actually own the coal and the coal fields, as is alleged in this case, they will tend to monopolize those products and those necessaries of life, coal and oil, will be enhanced in their price to the consumers who are thereby injured.

Mr. Gaines of West Virginia addressed the house on the resolution, saying:

> I address the house at this time only because the subject matter out of which this resolution grew, has occurred principally in the state of West Virginia. In April, 1904, I introduced into this house, shortly after the community of interest which has been complained of, had been established by these roads, a resolution asking for an investigation by the interstate commerce commission of that arrangement. Very shortly thereafter the interstate commerce commission investigated that arrangement and reported fully to the country the nature of that interest and control.

Combined to Prevent Traffic.

> The real trouble is this, that the railroads have combined not for the purpose of promoting the movement of traffic and in that way increasing the revenues and the business of the roads, but for the purpose of preventing the movement of traffic on the part of the smaller of the two companies combining. For instance, it is charged and believed that one of the great railroad companies of the country engaged in the transportation of coal has procured the control of the competing coal roads in West Virginia, to-wit: The Chesapeake & Ohio, the Baltimore & Ohio and the Norfolk & Western, not for the purpose of promoting the exchange of traffic among all these companies, but for the purpose of preventing the three controlled roads from carrying the amount of coal to market that they would if it were not for the arrangement among the railroads.

Mr. Gillespie of Texas, whose original resolution started the campaign of investigation against the railroads, said:

> I think the whole country is to be congratulated upon the quick response of this and of the other branch of congress to this demand of honest, intelligent and patriotic American citizen for an investigation into the conditions that are making them commercial slaves. If half of what I hear is true in the coal regions of the United States, there is a system of commercial brigandage and desperadoism prevailing compared to which the physical desperado of the pioneer days of this country is a gentleman of the first class.

Mr. Williams of Mississippi spoke in favor of the resolution and it was passed without division.

MR. GOFF'S BRIDE OLD SCHOOLMATE

Activity of Matrimonial Agency, Seeking Publicity, Pursues a Modest Paperhanger.

MAY CLAIM HIM A SUBSCRIBER

Although H. A. Goff of 6 Freeland street is married to Mrs. Emeline B. Proudly of Ravenna, O., he did not secure her through the agency of a matrimonial advertisement. That this was the manner in which he got his bride was the information contained in a dispatch to The Gazette from Ravenna last night. Mr. Goff, who was a widower, quietly said that his bride is an old schoolmate whom he knew 49 years ago.

Nevertheless, that matrimonial agencies have busied themselves with his case since he lost his first wife about two years ago, is Mr. Goff's full belief. Who started the story that he had advertised for a wife he does not know, but he has suspicions that Ravenna gossips cooked up a story to suit themselves, or a matrimonial agency is seeking advertisement.

"You see," said Mr. Goff, "Ravenna is a town of 6,000 or 7,000 inhabitants. I don't suppose they have much to do in their leisure time except to discuss the affairs of their neighbors. Therefore, when an elderly man goes to Ravenna and marries a lady well-known there, but neglects to take the inhabitants to his bosom, confiding all to them, he must expect some such farcical tale as this.

Both Lost First Mates.

"Mrs. Proudly was an old schoolmate of mine. She married and her husband died, I married and my wife died. Mrs. Proudly and I corresponded after the death of her husband, and last week I went to her home and we were married. I didn't advertise for a mate, and neither did she."

Mr. Goff did not see the romance in this story, the story of boyhood lovers, who have been separated by fate for many years, at last are marked down by Cupid's bow. He thought it was a very matter-of-fact case, he being a successful paperhanger with no time for romances. But he did speculate wonderingly on the activity of matrimonial agencies.

"A few days after my first wife died," he said, "I began to receive circulars from the fellows who print memorial cards; later I got solicitations for an order from tombstone makers, and shortly afterward, to cap the climax, I began to get letters from girls and women who wanted a husband. I must have got a hatful of such letters. I paid no attention to them, although I wondered how the writers knew of my bereavement.

"Now a light dawns on me. Evidently some matrimonial agency, seeing in the newspapers the notice of the death of my wife, sent my name to its subscribers, probably telling them that I was on its books. Perhaps the agency kept track of me, and perhaps made up this story and is trying to use the newspapers to advertise itself, intending probably to send clippings to its subscribers, in proof of its usefulness in obtaining helpmeets for lone widowers.

Description Easy to Secure.

"The description in the advertisement which the present Mrs. Goff is reported to have replied to answers to my appearance perfectly. However, I am 65 years old, have lived in Pittsburgh many years and am fairly well known to a great many people, so that my description could easily be obtained."

Mr. Goff has three grown sons, two of them married. Two of the sons have kept bachelor's hall with their father since the death of their mother. The house, therefore, needs "fixing up," and pending the making of the repairs the new Mrs. Goff is remaining in Ravenna. She will join her husband in a few days and will be cordially welcomed by her stepsons.

"When father says he did not advertise you may be sure he did not," said Harry A. Goff, one of the married sons. "We kind of suspected that he might get married, for the house was pretty cheerless with him and the two boys keeping house together. Last Friday father told us he was going to Ravenna. He went and returned a couple of days ago."

Mr. Goff is fairly well-to-do, and owns his neat home on Freeland street. He is six feet tall, weighs 220 pounds, with no superfluous flesh on him, and is a fine looking man. The alleged advertisement in the dispatch from Ravenna gives these facts and even mentions that Mr. Goff does not drink or use tobacco, which is a true bill.

DIRT IS FLYING AT LESS COST IN PANAMA

Chief Engineer Stevens Reports a Large Increase in the Amount of Yardage Moved Monthly.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The Isthmian canal commission has received a report from Chief Engineer John F. Stevens at Panama which shows that the total yardage moved on the Culebra division for the month of January exceeded that moved in December, and that the average per yard for January was lower. Mr. Stevens' report is as follows:

"The work for the month of January, 1906, Culebra division, shows a total yardage moved of 120,590, at a cost of 73 cents per cubic yard. Comparing this with the figures for December, the latter month shows 70,620 yards moved at a cost of 93 cents.

"The above figures are made in accordance with the monthly reports which have been made since the Isthmian canal commission took charge of the work; and you will see that as compared with certain months last fall we have reduced the cost of handling this material over 100 per cent."

Pittsburgher Buys Coal Property.

WASHINGTON, PA., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—T. J. Barnard of East Bethlehem township has disposed of his coal holdings amounting to several hundred acres for $500 an acre, the biggest price ever received for undeveloped coal in this section. The purchaser is John K. Ewing of Pittsburgh. He is said to represent Pittsburgh capitalists, who have secured over 3,000 acres in this territory.

Blackburn Again Indicted.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Feb. 23.—The grand jury today returned another true bill against Congressman Blackburn, charging him with practicing before the treasury department. It charges that Blackburn appeared before the department in the interest of W. R. Kryder, in May, 1905, and secured a compromise. He is charged with receiving a fee of $50.

IMPORTANT: CLUB WOMEN PLEASE THIRTY HUSBANDS

Mrs. Samuel Hamilton of Braddock Gives a Reception to the Men and Now They Want More. Cards and a Spread.

Caesar had his Brutus; Charles I. his Oliver Cromwell; boarding houses have their prunes, but the Women's club of Braddock have their—husbands.

One week ago those women decided it would be an honor to their husbands to invite them to a reception given by the club. It was thought first to hold a reception late next month, and right sincerely did the men sigh, for the mean creatures thought there might be a chance for the plans to miscarry, and then they could have another night to themselves at home or the club.

The initial line of a justly famous poem is:

> The Assyrian swept down like a wolf on the fold, or words to the same effect, but those same Assyrians were like a whisk broom compared to the sweeping done by the Braddock women. They swept down on their husbands early this week at the dinner table with the welcome news that on Friday night the club (women's) would entertain them at the home of Mrs. Samuel Hamilton, wife of the superintendent of county schools.

Well, to tell the truth, the men did think sudden like of places they had to go last night and spoke up like little soldiers and said so.

Tears or persuasion of more strenuous caliber may have been utilized to carry the day, but the women won. In fact, they did so without a dissenting vote. Last night 30 men with their wives either drove or walked to Mrs. Hamilton's pretty home and they had to acknowledge a most enjoyable time. Some had insisted they would not be there, as they did not want to become infected by women's club ideas. But after some parleying last night they were led to a table just groaning with delicacies, and Women's club stock went from nil to away above par, and more bid.

The first order of the evening was progressive euchre, and while the men often reached toward an imaginary stack of "blues" when they had "two pair," always managed to stop the impending disaster. Some handsome prizes were given and then the feast was spread. The husbands and their wives went home about midnight, and in many instances the men asked when "another" would be held. The women are "de-lighted," as one strenuous man would say. Besides Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. A. G. Stevenson, Mrs. A. M. Scott, Mrs. A. W. Scholley and Mrs. Lewis Petty had the affair in charge.

FORMER COMPANION HAS MURDERED MAN'S BONDS

Detectives Unravel Mystery of Wealthy Miner's Death and Disappearance of Large Fortune.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 23.—The Call says today that detectives believe they have located the murderer of John Stinson, a wealthy mining man who disappeared from this city in 1898. The body of an unknown man was found floating in Stove lake and buried as a pauper. A few months later it was discovered that the body was that of Stinson and that his deposit box with a local trust company was empty, although it was known to have contained a large amount of money and other valuables.

Now the news has been received that yesterday Mrs. Frank W. Sawyer of Boston, a niece of Stinson, arrived at her mother's, Mrs. Sarah Connor of Portland, Me., with the news that detectives hired by her to investigate the death of her uncle had located $75,000 worth of bonds belonging to Stinson in San Francisco, and are now closely watching the man who has them.

This man, says Mrs. Sawyer, was an old companion of Stinson's in the mine and worked with him for 40 years. "He became suddenly wealthy after uncle's death," she said in an interview last night, "and when we began the investigation last month this fact gave us a clue upon which to work. Soon we found startling evidence.

"This man had in his possession $75,000 of the bonds which uncle owned. Our detectives are watching every move of that man, and his arrest will be accomplished shortly."

PORTLAND, ME., Feb. 23.—Mrs. Sarah Connor, who claims to have evidence that her brother, John Stinson, was murdered in 1898, says that Mr. Stinson was believed to have had property valued at between $800,000 and $1,000,000. Stinson went to California to hunt gold in '49 and made a fortune. Afterward he became a mining operator and promoter.

TORPEDO BOAT WINSLOW BECOMES HELPLESS AT SEA

Fighting Craft of Spanish War Fame Flies Signal of Distress and is Towed into Port.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NORFOLK, VA., Feb. 23.—The torpedo boat Winslow was towed to a mooring at the Norfolk navy yard late this afternoon from sea by the naval tug Mohawk, with her engines completely disabled. The Winslow left New York Tuesday and suffered three breakdowns during her voyage.

The first break in the Winslow's engines occurred Wednesday morning and Lieut. James A. Schofield, who is commanding her, put into Delaware breakwater, where repairs were made. The trip was resumed but another break occurred, and the Winslow returned to the breakwater. Wednesday night was passed patching up the crippled engines and Thursday the little fighter again headed for Norfolk. When about half way to Cape Charles a complete breakdown in the machinery occurred, and the craft was helpless.

Fortunately the sea was calm and the Winslow drifted down the coast, passed Cape Charles, the mouth of the Chesapeake and Cape Henry. This morning she was sighted by the Leader and asked to be reported in distress.

Knights Hold Full Dress Ball.

CAMBRIDGE SPRINGS, PA., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—The most important event of the week at the Hotel Rider, where the Knights of Columbus are holding their annual midwinter outing, was the full dress ball held tonight in the ballroom and diningroom of the hotel. The women were magnificently gowned. About 1,000 guests were in attendance.

Want Mrs. MacKnight's Relatives.

Superintendent of Detectives McQuaid yesterday afternoon received a telegram from Superintendent of Police John S. Taylor of Philadelphia, requesting him to locate at once S. W. Sparks of Bellevue, a brother of Mrs. Seela Sparks MacKnight, who died in Philadelphia Thursday night, or her father-in-law, Mr. MacKnight of Pittsburgh.

PROF. SPEICHER WANTS HIS VIEWS UNDERSTOOD

Insists There Are Too Many Holidays. Too Much Money Given to Army and Navy.

Prof. J. C. Speicher of the Munhall schools has made another statement on the holiday question he discussed on Wednesday and in it he wants his views on the holiday controversy clearly understood. Yesterday Prof. Speicher said:

"I insist there are too many holidays for the good of school children. As far as the teaching of patriotism is concerned, it can be far better done in the schools than on the streets. Children should be taught to emulate the virtues and examples of all great men who have helped to make our country great. When public demonstrations are made which are intended to teach patriotism, militarism is usually emphasized. I again insist true patriotism is not born of the desire to use the weapons of war.

"As I said before," Prof. Speicher continued, "$253,000,000 annually is too much money for the support of our army and navy. In the countries of Europe there is not near the illiteracy there is in the United States, and it is all because the big appropriation for our warlike defense and offense is not given to education instead. If the present force and tendency of the military spirit is not unchecked, it is destined to bankrupt the most prosperous nations. The most alarming example is found in our own country."

Prof. Speicher said the true patriot is the man who supports his family. He does not believe in war at any time and thinks the more children are permitted on the streets the more they get away from educational advantages. Prof. Speicher says he is in favor of children's recreation grounds, but thinks too much athletic exercise is hurtful. In most of his views, Prof. Speicher says he and President Schurman of Cornell university are of the same mind.

AUSTRIANS TO VOTE.

New Bills Introduced Giving Every Man Over Twenty-Four the Right of Suffrage.

VIENNA, Feb. 23.—Five bills embodying a scheme for universal suffrage and other electoral reforms were introduced in the lower house of the Austrian parliament today by the premier, Baron Gautch von Frankfurn. The bills provide for the election of 455 deputies to the lower house, every Austrian 24 years old and domiciled in a constituency for at least a year will be entitled to vote, and everyone possessed of Austrian citizenship for at least three years will be eligible to election.

A division of the electoral districts is designed so as to give the Germans 205 representatives, the Slavs 230, the Italians 16 and the Roumanians four. A bill amending the standing orders of the house provides for the suspension of disorderly members for a period not exceeding one week.

FAVORS BETTER SALARIES.

State Superintendent Schaeffer Will Discuss Salary Bill at National Convention.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 23.—(Special.)—At the national convention of school superintendents which is to meet in Louisville, Ky., February 27, 28, and March 1, Pennsylvania will be represented on the program by several speakers, among them Dr. Nathan C. Schaeffer, state superintendent of public instruction. Dr. Schaeffer will discuss the "Minimum Salary Bill," and will speak particularly of its effect in this state.

At the department this morning it was said that Dr. Schaeffer will advocate better salaries for teachers, pointing to the fact that Pennsylvania is far behind some of the other states in the matter of compensation. The minimum monthly salary in this state is $35, while in Indiana, for example, it is $45 for a term of seven months.

MANSFIELD TO RETIRE.

Noled Actor Allows Himself Three More Seasons on the Stage—Will Preserve Vitality.

BOSTON, Feb. 23.—Richard Mansfield tonight, through his manager, authorized the statement that he had formulated plans for retiring from the stage. He intends to play three more seasons, ending his theatrical career in the spring of 1909. Mansfield is less than 50 years old. It is his desire, he says, to retire from the stage before his dramatic powers wane and before the present strain on his vital and nervous energies shatter his health.

Beyond his three remaining seasons Mr. Mansfield has no definite plans. He expects to make a tour of the world and it is probable he will give some attention to literary work. Two of the leading American universities have offered him chairs in their faculties.

COAL ACREAGE IS SOLD.

Three Deals Put Through Which Involve a Total Consideration of $101,500.

UNIONTOWN, PA., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—A deal was closed here today whereby George G. Gans sold 530 acres of Marshall county (W. Va.) coal land to Isaac H. Brownfield for $50 an acre. Gans bought this coal a year ago at $20 an acre.

James R. Barnes has sold 1,080 acres of Marshall county (W. Va.) coal land to Jasper Augustine for a price said to be $65,000. Augustine has also purchased 300 acres from Barnes for $20,000, the latter tract being in Greene County, Pennsylvania.

CLOSE OF DEDICATION.

Brilliant Dance Is Held in Elks' New Temple in McKeesport.

A social event which surpassed anything of the kind in McKeesport this season was the reception for the ladies at the newly-dedicated Elks' temple last evening, which was crowded with over 300 couples. The reception closed the dedicatory exercises of the temple erected by McKeesport lodge No. 136, B. P. O. E. Scores of elaborate gowns designed especially for this occasion made the affair brilliant.

On the stage between dances a musicale was held, and afterward a banquet was served in the banquet hall.

TILLMAN IS PICKED

Clapp and Newlands voted for Dolliver, and Foster, Tillman and Dolliver did not vote. The committee then adjourned.

Senator Dolliver was highly incensed because of his defeat for the honor of reporting the bill. "It was the final act of hostility toward me," he said when asked for the reasons.

"Now don't laugh out loud at the idea of me acting as spokesman for the administration," remarked Senator Tillman. "If it strikes you as ridiculous, just go over into a corner and take a quiet laugh. But really, if anyone believes that I will not take seriously the duty laid upon me he will be treated seriously. The action of the committee means nothing except that it means we do not yet know just what we want."

Aldrich Glad He Did It.

Senator Aldrich, who is most responsible for the existing state of affairs, seemed pleased with his work. In explanation he said:

"As this action was taken by means of Democratic votes it seemed to me only fair and proper that a Democrat should make the report and as Mr. Tillman is the leading Democratic member of the committee it seemed logical that he was the man to be selected for this honor. Yes, it is true that this makes Mr. Tillman the spokesman for the administration so far as this bill is concerned."

Senator Elkins, chairman of the committee, made the following statement:

"It was evident from the convening of the committee that the Democrats, with the three Republicans who voted with them, controlled the situation and would permit no amendments. We all favored the court review amendment and I had two or three others that I was especially interested in having adopted and which the Democrats favored. Then Mr. Tillman himself had an amendment prohibiting railroads from engaging in any other business. But they would not permit any of these to be put in the bill and as soon as I discovered that, I said it was useless to stay here all afternoon discussing these amendments when there was no possibility of adopting any of them. So I suggested that someone should move to report the Hepburn bill favorably and this was done by Mr. Dolliver.

Done for Political Effect.

"The course of the Democrats was dictated by political considerations, I am sure, for there could be no other excuse for dissenting from amendments which they favor. I had heard three weeks ago that they proposed to make political capital out of the situation if possible. The effect of the committee's action is merely to transfer the bill to the floor of the senate where it will be open to amendment and, as expressed in the resolution for reporting it, every member of the committee is free to support such amendments as he sees fit."

Senator Foraker, another one who helped bring about this remarkable situation, took a sly smile after the meeting. When asked for his version of it he said:

"The bill was reported out by Democratic votes and it is right that it should be placed in Democratic hands. Senator Tillman is the senior Democratic member of the committee. I do not believe there will be any minority report. So far as I know there will be none. My minority report will be my speech on Wednesday. We had hoped that a bill could be agreed upon that all Republicans could support as a party measure. But this was refused us. The Democrats have played good politics and that is just about what this action amounts to."

It is expected that the bill will be reported to the senate on Monday, or if not then, within a few days. It is not believed that the final success of it has been endangered by the mess into which it had gotten mixed and the probability of the adoption of the Knox amendment providing for judicial review of the findings of the interstate commerce commission is just as strong as ever.

ALARM CAUSED BY MONT PELEE

Is Active and Inhabitants Are Fleeing, Fearing Another Great Eruption.

LA LOUFRIERE SYMPATHETIC

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1906, by New York Herald Co.)

BARBADOES, B. W. I., Feb. 23.—Mont Pelee, in Martinique, is again active, and the inhabitants of the island are in terror of a recurrence of the great eruptions of four years ago. Five persons are in the hospital in Fort de France, who were struck by falling rocks thrown up by the volcano, and most of the residents have fled to shelter behind the mountains to the southward. Many houses have been demolished, and the walls of many others are tottering.

A trading schooner reports that the volcano is in violent activity. By day a column of heavy black smoke, several miles high, rising from the crater was visible to those aboard the schooner 30 miles away, and at night the flames could be plainly seen at a greater distance, as they burst from the volcano's crater and spread in a great sheet of fire.

Sailors aboard the vessel saw molten sand or lava pouring over the lips of the crater in overwhelming masses, rolling down over the plantations on the eastern slope of the mountain.

In sympathy with Mont Pelee, La Soufriere, on the island of St. Vincent, is in more violent eruption than at any time since a considerable part of the island was devastated in the spring of 1902. Residents of Kingston are fearful of the worst, and are in hourly terror of an earthquake which will wreck the city, even if it is spared by the volcano. Two severe shocks have been felt already.

In Martinique, St. Vincent, Gaudaloupe, St. Lucia and Dominica earthquakes have been more severe even than during the period of intense activity four years ago. As the shocks become more powerful and frequent the residents of the towns are verging on a state of terror, and are fleeing to the country in fear of being buried beneath falling walls.

At Castries the wharves sunk five inches. Business is entirely suspended there. The cathedral and bank building have been all but wrecked. The walls of many buildings are cracked and the sides of many houses are bulging over the sidewalks. All vessels have left the roadstead loaded down with as many passengers as could be taken aboard.

BOY IS EXONERATED.

Harry Haas, Aged 10, Who Killed Brother With Poker, Tells Story to the Coroner's Jury.

Harry Haas, aged 10, was exonerated by the coroner's jury yesterday for the killing of his brother, Howard P. Haas, aged 13, at their home in Woodville avenue, Mt. Washington, February 15. The jury recommended the case be investigated by the juvenile court. Harry killed his brother by thrusting a poker into his abdomen.

"I didn't mean to kill my brother," said the little boy to the jury. "Howard pulled the bed covers off me and wouldn't let me sleep, so I got mad and jumped out of bed and picked up a poker and thrust it at him to scare him. I didn't mean to hurt him at all." The mother of the prisoner confirmed the testimony of her son.

Nicholas Mamala, aged 26, of 2036 Gladstone street, Allegheny, died at St. John's General hospital yesterday from burns received while at work in the plant of the American Steel and Wire Company, Preble avenue, Allegheny, February 13. He fell into an ash pit and was burned.

GERMAN LIEUTENANT WINS.

Gets License to Wed Wilhelmina Busch and Wedding Day Is Next Week.

LOS ANGELES, CAL., Feb. 23.—A marriage license was issued yesterday to Lieut. Edward Scharrer and Wilhelmina Busch, daughter of Adolphus Busch of St. Louis. The county offices were closed in honor of Washington's birthday, but Lieut. Scharrer looked up Chief Deputy County Clerk G. S. Barson, Jr., and secured the license. The lieutenant gave his aged as 28 and that of Miss Busch as 22.

Mr. Busch and family are now staying at their winter home in Pasadena. The couple will be married there next Thursday, March 1.

Stetson's Estate Goes to Family.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 23.—John B. Stetson, the hat manufacturer who died Sunday afternoon at his home in De Land, Fla., made no provision in his will for the university at De Land which he founded, and which bears his name, or any of the charities in which he had been interested. The will, filed today, divides his entire estate estimated at $5,000,000, among the members of his family.

ALL TESTIMONY IN ON PHILIPPINE TARIFF BILL

Last Witnesses Are Heard by Senate Committee and a Report Will Be Prepared.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The senate committee on the Philippines today concluded its hearings on the Philippine tariff bill, which have been in progress for the past month, and Senator Lodge, chairman of the committee, said that he probably would call a meeting of the committee for next Tuesday to decide upon a report.

Witnesses before the committee today were C. T. Smith of Michigan, who opposed the bill in the interest of the beet sugar makers; George B. Rea of Manila, and W. C. Welborn, director of agriculture for the Philippine islands, both of whom advocated the passage of the reduction bill.

Mr. Welborn said that he had changed the opinion advanced by him before the house committee that the passage of the bill would have the effect of bringing practically all of the Philippine sugar to the United States. He now believed, he said, that even with the pending bill a law, much of the sugar produced in the islands would continue to go to China.

Is Dragged by Street Car.

Harry McNutt of Millvale was run down by a Millvale and Etna car early yesterday morning at Bennett station. He was dragged a short distance and sustained severe lacerations and bruises about the scalp and back. He was taken to the Allegheny General hospital. He lives at 1970 East street, Allegheny.

Another Victim of Gas Stove.

ERIE, PA., Feb. 23.—Morris Goleba, aged 28, a prominent dealer in Japanese wares, whose father resides in New York and other relatives in Pittsburgh, was found dead in his room this afternoon. Fumes from a gas stove caused his death. The body was also badly burned.

How Much Use
are you making of the piano you now have? Is it a paying investment? Do you keep it for its musical value or is it just a piece of furniture? Have you ever thought about owning an Angelus piano player? Or better yet, an
ANGELUS PIANO
An Angelus piano looks just like any other good upright piano. But it contains a genuine Angelus built inside out of sight. You can play the piano by means of the regular keyboard or you can insert a roll of any music you want to play, and by means of the Angelus get from your piano music such as is possible only with an Angelus or a great artist.
The Angelus is the simplest, the easiest operated, the most durable player in the world. It has the famous PHRASING LEVER, emphasis and melody device, and the diaphragm pneumatics. No other player has these things.
The Angelus piano costs a little more than any other self-playing piano, but there's a sound reason for its higher cost.

Alleghenian Is Prominently Mentioned as the Successor of County Solicitor Alcorn.

FALL CANDIDATES APPEAR

Next Tuesday the county commissioners will select a solicitor to succeed Thomas B. Alcorn. The present occupant retires on March 1 because he is a Democrat and this is a Republican administration. There is reason to believe that Major A. B. Hay of Allegheny will receive the appointment. The position carries a salary of $3,000 per annum.

Major Hay has been prominent in his support of the Republican party. He is also one of the leading lawyers at the Allegheny county bar. At the head of the Soldiers' Civic league he rendered good service for the party in two campaigns. His old soldier friends believe he is entitled to a reward. Commissioner Campbell is a veteran of the civil war and, it is understood, desires the appointment of Major Hay. It is known there is no difference of opinion between Mr. Campbell and his colleague, Mr. Price, in the selection of a solicitor. Neither of them will announce the name of the appointee in advance of the date of his formal selection.

This fall a common pleas court judge, district attorney, sheriff and jury commissioner are to be chosen. The term of Judge Robert S. Frazer expires next January. It is probable he will not have any opposition for re-election. For district attorney numerous men are being mentioned. Friends of the present official, Robert E. Stewart, say he would not refuse a second term. Others talked of are Assistant District Attorneys John S. Robb and W. D. Grimes and Representative L. B. Cook, Charles A. O'Brien and Harry L. Goehring.

No Candidates for Sheriff.

So far no one has appeared as a Republican candidate for the nomination for sheriff. Jury Commissioner John A. Harvey will probably seek a re-election. He is an old soldier.

The primaries for the nomination of county candidates will be held in September. As the state convention is called for June 6, it will be necessary to elect the 45 delegates from this county some time previous to that date. Chairman Ford says he will call the county committee together about March 15 to fix a date for the election. As 60 days' notice has to be given, the delegates will be chosen in the latter part of May. They will be elected by popular vote.

Major A. B. Hay.

Alderman Charles C. McGovern, through his attorney, John S. Weller, yesterday secured an order from the official returning board to have the election officers of the first district of the Thirty-fourth ward appear in court and produce the ballot box. It is claimed there were gross irregularities in the count by which John Hogue was given the seat in select council by a majority of 1 over John Harrington.

The members of the board, according to the petition of McGovern, are: Judge, James Dorman; majority inspector, John Lauth; minority inspector, Austin Wall, and Clerks Patrick Marshall and John McGuire. McGovern asserts that after the polls closed first one and then another of the board left for a time, and it was 11 o'clock before all the board was ready to count the vote. On the first count, McGovern says, John Harrington, Republican, was elected to select council over John Hogue, C.-D., when the other district totals and that of the First were compiled. McGovern sets out the number of votes cast in the district under this count, which he contends is the correct one, and it shows the majority of the Republican candidates won out when the ward totals were computed. When the vote was first counted McGovern says it was recounted, but not posted, and the members of the board, with the exception of the judge, went to Hogue's residence, which is over the polling place, where they stayed until 3 o'clock in the morning. The judge, meanwhile, it is alleged, was sleeping in a room back of the polling place.

Says They Made Three Counts.

At 3 o'clock Wednesday morning, McGovern says, the board made another count. It is alleged John Lauth, majority inspector, mutilated some of the straight Republican tickets by marking after the names of candidates and that these votes were thrown out and the result of the count was a majority of one for Hogue when the total of the ward was made. This count also affected the rest of the Republican candidates as well. He says the count was posted but that neither he nor Jeremiah McCarthy, the Democrat overseer, would sign the returns.

McGovern asked for the summoning of the board and the ballot boxes, and to order it to either make a return as on the original count, or that the whole vote be thrown out. The returning board judges were not fully convinced the matter was one for the board to determine, but rather thought it should be decided on a contest, yet they made an order summoning the board to appear.

The returning board was calling the vote in the Twentieth ward when it adjourned yesterday. The count of the vote in the Fourth district of the Sixth ward by the board of the district was made, and the tickets over which the dispute arose ordered counted by the court. The ballot boxes of the Eighth ward, Allegheny, were ordered in by the board, because of the threatened contest for alderman to be made by George Wolff against Charles von Moss, the incumbent. The boxes were placed in the prothonotary's office. Wolff had secured an order bringing in the First district board of the ward yesterday, but the election board judges held that the questions involved should come up on a contest.

One of the first appointments by Mayor-elect William H. Coleman of McKeesport is said to be that of Peter Kenny as chief of police to succeed L. E. Reitzen, who has served for three years under Mayor G. J. F. Falkenstein. Kenny has been desk sergeant at Central police station for nine years. He is an uncle of the mayor-elect.

Position for St. Peter.

Clerk of Courts Dodds yesterday appointed Paul St. Peter as an extra clerk in his office.

A patent for the Good Government party of Allegheny was taken out yesterday by S. C. Farrar, R. J. Miller, D. A. McClenahan, Earl D. Miller, Thomas Leggate, B. H. Smyser and H. B. Miller.

The county commissioners yesterday named Fielding B. Goff register assessor of the Second ward, Sewickley, to succeed John F. Gaston, who moved out of the ward.

W. S. Rees, T. D. McCloskey, Frank E. Price, R. M. Walsh and C. R. Miller patented the name Good Government party for the Tenth ward, Allegheny for the February election in 1907.

James A. Walker and William Thomas, both charged with illegal voting, appeared before Alderman Groetzinger yesterday and entered bail for appearance at court.

WALTERS IN RACE AGAINST BURNS

Twentieth Warder Announces His Candidacy for President of Select.

HOT FIGHT FOR CLERKSHIP

Dr. E. B. Walters, member from the Twentieth ward, yesterday announced his candidacy for president of the new select council, to be organized on the first Monday of April.

"I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for president of select council," said Dr. Walters. "I will submit my candidacy to the Republican caucus and will abide by the will of the caucus. My platform is to give the places on the standing committees to Republicans, as was done by the Citizens when they got control of councils. I am not personally ambitious for the office, but I believe we ought to elect a president who we know will appoint Republicans and not administration members on the committees."

There are now two physicians in the field for the presidency of the upper city legislative branch. The first to enter was Dr. H. B. Burns of the Eleventh ward. Dr. Burns supported the Republicans whenever a fight was made in his branch, but he was a strong Guthrie man in the last mayoralty contest and some of the Republicans fear that if made president he might appoint some Guthrie men on the standing committees. Dr. Walters, on the other hand, declares that if he is elected to preside over select council he will appoint only Republicans.

All of the standing committees of the present councils were picked by Director Bigelow and his brother, the late T. S. Bigelow. Only Democrats and Citizens were appointed on the important committees, and a Republican was only appointed when it was necessary to fill up the unimportant committees, such as committees on parks, health and sanitation, bridges and others which never met.

Dr. Walters says that if he is elected he will reverse this program. Dr. Burns has not yet stated what his policy would be. It is known that in the race for the presidency of councils offers of appointments on committees are being made. One member of select council said yesterday he had been offered a place on the corporations committee. Efforts are also being made to trade votes for president to get votes for certain candidates for city clerk.

Samuel J. Wainwright, Jr., is supporting Edward J. Martin for city clerk, although Wainwright retires from councils at the end of next month. Martin was defeated for re-election as city clerk by the late E. W. Hassler about two years ago. The defeat of John Upperman for re-election to select council from the Fifteenth ward is believed to have hurt Martin's chances, because Upperman and Wainwright were Martin's two strongest supporters.

S. S. Lesslie, a Citizens party worker of Director James W. Clark's organization in the Twentieth ward, was soliciting votes at the city hall yesterday for the re-election of John E. Gable, assistant city clerk.

The caucus of Republican councilmen-elect will be held next week to nominate candidates for presidents and clerks of the two council branches. It was stated yesterday that select and common council would first each hold a separate caucus, followed by a joint caucus of members of both branches.

MAY FIGHT THE BILL.

Faction in Allegheny City Is Still Opposed to Annexation.

Mayor Wyman and the other officials of Allegheny were notified yesterday to be present, or represented, in quarter sessions court on March 8, when the petition of Mayor Hays relative to a Greater Pittsburgh will be read.

It is possible there will be some opposition from the element in Allegheny politics arrayed against consolidation. W. C. Gill, chairman of the public defense committee, intends to have a meeting of that body next Tuesday night to discuss plans for attacking the constitutionality of the bill. They are still demanding a separate vote.

Engineer John McGraw, who was appointed by Judge Shafer to fix the boundary lines of the greater city, will not commence his work until it has been decided whether or not there will be a fight on the legality of the bill.

Open Until 10 O'clock Tonight.

A Good Book.
Wild Justice
By Lloyd Osbourne, author of "Baby Bullet." Illustrated.
This is a book of stories and in reading them one wonders why so fair and pleasant a land has been given over for so many years to rough sailors and adventurers. There is an element of humor running through the book that gives to the narration a piquancy that is simply delightful.

In our news yesterday afternoon regarding our special sale of overcoats we spoke particularly about a certain line of coats that were of a medium weight, and in price ranging from $16.50 for $25.00 overcoats up to $23.50 for $35.00 overcoats. We bought 150 of them early this week, and expected them to be delivered to us by express yesterday afternoon. When the news was written it had entirely escaped our memory that New York manufactories closed on Washigton's Birthday. Thus it happens that these coats were not shipped until yesterday afternoon by express, and consequently will not be ready until about half-past nine o'clock this morning.

We again desire to say to all men interested in a new overcoat that whoever buys one of these medium weight coats will have one of the dressiest topcoats, one of the best tailored topcoats, one of the most fashionable topcoats that ever came from the hands of an expert tailor.

New Millinery for Spring.
Our first authoritative display of model Hats for Spring brings together a most beautiful, exclusive and elaborate exhibit, including many imported hats that indicate the most favored designs as conceived and executed by the leading artists of Paris.
Not only is Paris well represented, but also that other eminent city authority on millinery, New York.
Our variety for Spring embraces many effects in exclusive styles, individual styles to suit individual desires.
Some among the new hats are those leghorn, horsehair, blocked pressed hats, in chip and Yedda and horsehair Neapolitan.
Especially embroidered little sailors with contrasting little brims, white and black, white and light blue, and white and lavender, the correct lingerie hat ornamented in floral effects, in queen's gray, old rose, Alice blue, new green, black and white, is among the smartest creations of the early Spring period.
These new and captivating styles are altogether inexpensive.
We wish especially to call the attention of mothers to our imported Hats for children, from the leading arbiters of Fashions for children.
We have just received an importation of Paris and New York Mourning Model Hats. They are made of chiffon, straw, silk and maline. No two alike. We also exhibit some very rich hats with veil attached, in black chiffon, nun's veiling, and silk.

A Touch of Spring Fever.
Such weather as yesterday puts everyone in the notion of Spring, and no one more so than the housewife, whose eyes are now taking in the perspective of house cleaning and house refurnishment, which begins a few weeks from this date. Our fourth floor, West, Curtain and Drapery department is just now the cynosure of the housewifely eye, and beyond question it has a great many things that personally interest her. Let us see some of them—
Well, there are the new Art Tickings and the new Cretonnes, the latter in great variety of both American and foreign products. Where's the housewife who does not know how to employ this pretty fabric? Price range, 18c, 20c, 25c, 30c a yard, and up to $3.00.
Then there are the new Sash Curtains, those dainty things that are so inexpensive. We have just received a shipment of full length sash curtains, 1 yard wide, 2½ yards long. Material is Swiss. Price range is 25c a pair, 50c, 75c, $1.00 and up to $6.00.
Then we have the Ruffled Sash Curtains, those with lace insertion and lace edge, $1.50, $1.75 and up to $3.75 a pair.
We also have Sash Curtains of plain net, with lace insertion and lace edge, from the cluny lace Sash Curtain to the Sash Curtains of Arabian lace. Price range, $1.25, $2.00, $2.75, $3.50 and up to $40.00 a pair.

Men's Shirts to order.
Of all the miserable things a man can wear, an ill-fitting shirt is the limit.
The one that hikes up in front or crawls up in the back, or drags at the shoulders or cuts him under the neck. Some shirts have all these faults, others only one, maybe two.
We've spent years in bringing to perfection shirts that have none of the foregoing faults. Every year we manage to get nearer the mark. Every detail of our shirtmaking has been watched and carefully studied until we know our shirts fit well, wear well and are always comfortable, and are sold for the lowest prices.
Colored shirts to measure, $2.00, $2.50, $3.00, $5.00.
SPECIAL NOTE—Thousands of new patterns to show for selection.
New E. & W. Shirts—
The St. Cloud, the newest production from "E. & W.," made from French materials which are new and attractive and different from any style this noted shirtmaking firm has ever shown. Price, $3.50.
Men's Neckwear—
All new, fresh supplies every week. Fashion favors Four-in-Hands. We have them, dark, light silks, in neat and bold effects. Plain colors in every shade that men care to wear. Our showing is the most elaborate we have ever made. The variety at 50c and $1.00 is practically unlimited.
SPECIAL SALE of regular 50c Four-in-Hands, 3¼ inches, at 35c each, 3 for $1. Poplin silk is the material, all plain colors, having as a finish self-colored figures. These Four-in-Hands tie into those stylish long knots. Cannot be duplicated under 50c.

Special Sale of Corsets Today, 50c.
Not a lot of corsets marked down, not a lot of corsets below what they are worth, but just our complete new lines of corsets to sell for 50 a pair. And here is what you can choose from for half-a-dollar:
BATISTE GIRDLES, WITH SUPPORTERS.
SHORT CORSETS OF BATISTE.
SHORT CORSETS OF NET.
MEDIUM LENGTH CORSETS, WITH DIP HIP.
LONG CORSETS OF BATISTE, HIGH BUST, DIP HIP, SUPPORTERS ON FRONT.
We rather think that's a mighty fine collection of corsets to sell for half dollar a pair.
But if you insist on going into variety regardless of price, why then we can show you every good corset, every favorite corset that is made, and some of them you can buy nowhere else but here. For instance, the celebrated Fasso, the Pompadour, the La Vida and other fine corsets.

The Burglars Are Again Burgling.

And this puts us in mind to say that the sneak thief's opportunity lies in leaving the porch window, or any window unlocked. And it goes without saying that the incentive for Mr. Burglar to enter the house, while the family is away, is the jewels that are unprotected.
Safecraft was designed and patented especially for household use. It is nothing more nor less than a first-class burglar and fireproof safe built inside a piece of furniture and this furniture can take any design that the maker thinks best—say a bookcase, a dower chest, a work table, a smoker's cabinet, etc.
The safe itself is the celebrated Herring-Hall-Marvin Safe Co.'s make.
Safecraft is exhibited in our Furniture Department, fifth floor, West.

Delicate Subject--the Eye.
We are apt to treat the eye indifferently, seeing that it is among the most important members of the body—in fact, it gets more overtime than it should. But we only learn by experience.
However, if you should take a notion to have your eyes looked over we ask you to see our optician—he'll probably tell you something that you'll be glad to know. And he won't charge you anything for the information, either.
If you prefer, go to an oculist and bring us his prescription to fill.
Aluminum Spectacles and Eyeglasses, best crystal lenses, $1.00 up.
Gold-filled Specs and Nose Glasses, $1.50 up.
Solid Gold Spectacles and Nose Glasses, $4.50 and up.

$2.50 Colored Umbrellas, $1.65 Each.
While this announcement is full of snap, we are compelled to take a little of the snap out of it by publishing the fact that there are only 100 of them. Consequently the 100 women who will benefit by this reduced price should be in the department before dinner-time.
They are all silk, in such colors as navy, wine, purple, green, brown, black. All have neat white borders, therefore can be used in a dual way, umbrella-parasol. These umbrellas have no case.

Kodaks and Other Things.
Such Spring weather as this is sure to bring out the kodaks in a hurry. What? You haven't any? Well, well, that's too bad—but we can fit you out in a jiffy if you will come to our Kodak Department today. Yes, you're right about Eastman's Kodaks; they're the only kind worth having; that's the reason we sell them.
Eastman's Kodaks, from the little $1.00 Brownie up to the large 5x7 Cartridge Kodak for $35.00.
Then the other essentials of kodaking are here, too, and you may be interested in them.
Daylight Developing Machines, for developing your films in bright daylight, $2.00 for the small machine, up to $7.50 for the large size.
Post Card Albums, from 25c each up to $2.50.
Kodak Books, from 15c each up to $3.00.
Stereoscopes at 50c each, and 25 views for the scope 50c, making your outlay $1.00.
We desire to give notice that we always have on hand a fresh line of films and everything that pertains to Kodakery.
We further give notice that we do developing, printing and enlarging. Our work is A-1. Prices exceptionally low.

Saturday, February 24, 1906.

The United States consul at St. Johns has furnished an exhaustive account to the state department of the Canadian tariff commission inquiry in New Brunswick. His statements show that the merchants and manufacturers of that province are in favor of raising Canadian duties to the level of this country, as a matter of principle, whenever that can be done without consequent injury to Canadian interests. It is noticeable that the spirit of retaliation or reprisal met with little encouragement on the part of the commissioners.

Premier Rouvier succinctly defined the position of the French government yesterday with reference to the questions in dispute at the Algeciras conference. In reply to an interpellation by the Socialist leader in the chamber of deputies, he declared: "France wants peace, but only with safeguards to its dignity and interests." The deadlock on the police question continued yesterday at Algeciras, but the French and German delegates participated amicably in the discussion on the Moroccan bank question. A better feeling prevailed, the continued optimism of the American delegates being regarded as significant.

In answer to a question in the house of commons it was stated that birching in the navy had been suspended until further orders and in the future the punishment of caning is to be inflicted only under the supervision of captains. It was a British admiral who recently defended hazing as a wholesome method of toughening young boys for the arduous life of a sailor. The new regulations regarding flogging show that while the British navy is still behind the times in one respect, there is hope that it may ultimately abandon a form of punishment which even few schoolboys are now compelled to undergo.

Meeting at London yesterday, the chamber of shipping of the United Kingdom received a report of the admiralty's plan for the co-operation of the merchant marine in the coming naval maneuvers which is especially interesting to this country on account of the shipping subsidy bill which has passed the senate and is pending action in the house. From 300 to 400 merchant ships will join with the British navy, the admiralty indemnifying ship owners for loss of time and paying for the coal consumed. The object is to demonstrate how shipping may be protected in war time, an art in which England is admittedly the most proficient of any nation.

A decided improvement in the service of the Panhandle is presaged in the announcement that the elimination of all tunnels has been decided upon. The carrying out of this policy means a material increase in the comfort and safety of the road's patrons. Increasing traffic has led to plans for new stations at Washington, Steubenville, Carnegie, Crafton and Bridgeville. A 25-minute service between Pittsburgh and McKeesport is promised by the Baltimore & Ohio, trains to run every half hour during the day and hourly at night. With its rapid expansion Pittsburgh makes fresh demands almost daily upon the facilities afforded by the railroads centering here.

A lively campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor is taking place in Georgia. All the candidates, save one, are newspaper editors: Hoke Smith of the Atlanta Journal, Clark Howell of the Constitution, Col. Estell of the Savannah News and John Temple Graves of the Atlanta News, recently deposed by injunction. Interest is added to the contest by the candidacy of the Rev. Dr. Nunnally, a minister of the Baptist denomination. The fight is growing fierce in crimination and recrimination. Each candidate bases his claims to the nomination not so much upon his own fitness as upon the alleged unfitness of his rivals. The campaign is already characterized by a virulence which is peculiar to the Democratic party no matter in what state of the union it is found.

After every legal technicality which the ingenuity of his numerous staff of lawyers could invoke had proved fruitless, including an appeal to a federal court a few minutes before the march to the gallows was begun, Johann Hoch, wife murderer and bigamist, was hanged at Chicago yesterday. The ease with which a criminal who can secure the means may delay paying the penalty for his crime was strikingly illustrated in the case of Hoch. His guilt was undoubted, but legal quibbles permitted him to live comfortably in jail for nine months after conviction. During the delay the usual maudlin sentiment which makes heroes of brutal murderers found expression, which was particularly unfortunate occurring in a city which holds the world's record for murders.

The Woman in China.

Pittsburghers who have returned from missionary service in China and others who are conversant with affairs in that country through long acquaintance with members of the local Chinese colony unite in attributing the present critical situation to an impending revolt against the rule of the dowager empress. The antipathy of the reformers is not directed primarily against foreign residents, though the general uprising which is looked for would undoubtedly place them in great peril at the hands of the inevitable mobs. China's trouble furnishes fresh verification of the famously ungallant French proverb. In this case the woman is the empress dowager, whose rule, ever since she deposed the young emperor, has surely not been of a character to encourage loyalty among her subjects or the friendliness of other nations. It is more than a coincidence that directly she assumed the reins of government, the anti-foreign element of the population should at once have become perniciously active. The ex parte evidence is certainly sufficient on which to found an indictment of her policy with reference to the Boxers' outbreak of a few years ago. Her official censure of Chinese troops for firing upon Boxers, who were destroying the railway near Tientsin, is not forgotten, nor are other suspicious circumstances indicating her sympathy, at the time, with Boxer outrages.

Before the young emperor was deposed, he issued a decree, called forth by the outrages upon missionaries and foreign merchants, commanding local authorities throughout the empire to protect the lives and property of foreign residents upon pain of losing their heads. The outrages ceased at once and for two years there was no renewal of the attacks. This was a sample of the program of reforms contemplated by the young emperor. Intelligent students of Chinese affairs believe the forcible ending of the dowager empress' rule would be followed by a genuine awakening throughout China, resulting in a practical emulation of Japan's wonderful progress. Pittsburgh has furnished some notable workers in the field of Chinese missions and there is reason to be anxious for their safety while the present critical situation prevails.

A Wise Decision.

Germany's decision not to press a tariff war on the United States is evidence of her wisdom. Germany finds it necessary to buy from us; we are not dependent on Germany. The exports of the German empire to the United States consist of manufactured goods that we could well do without, on a pinch, such as pottery, fine paper, laces, gloves, silk goods, sugar and toys. Germany cannot well do without our meat products and cereals.

The United States consul general at Berlin has just made an important report which shows that the United States has been a consistent and ever increasing buyer of German products. This country purchased during the last calendar year nearly $15,000,000 more merchandise than the year previous. On the other hand the sales of American manufactured goods to Germany showed no such increases. It is figuring like this that must have given the German parliament pause in its declaration of commercial war against this country. That action, we are told, does not mean peace, but a truce. In time we believe Germany will have sufficient discretion to make that truce a peace.

A Plea for the Poet.

Spring is here. Not according to the calendar, but in the magazines. The March numbers, which were made up along about New Year's day, are now appearing on the news stands and include the customary crop of spring poetry. For some reason or other, the poet of nature's resurrection, with his familiar rhymes that are never permitted to grow rusty through disuse, is the favorite butt for the professional funny man. This is the season when the jokes concerning the timid poet who slinks into the editorial sanctum, deposits his manuscript on the desk, and dodges the editorial boot as he makes his hasty exit, are being taken out of the joke-chest and carefully dusted off, preparatory to an active spring campaign. While the idea in itself may have been excruciatingly humorous when it made its initial bow in the years gone by, it has been so overworked as to deserve an extended vacation.

Why the idea of spring should inspire the poet is easily understood by all persons who think of other things beside three meals a day and how to get them. When nature awakes from her long nap, the man with the poetic soul, who has been meditating by the fireplace, rouses himself, lays down his pipe and begins to pipe his lay. The sunshine thaws his thoughts. He rejoices within himself that there will be no more big gas or coal bills to pay until the next winter, the children can get through the summer without much extra clothing, and for a few months, at least, he is independent of the plumber. But these subjects are too prosaical for poetry. So the poet who is glad winter is over sings of love instead, and green fields, and the rippling river, but all the time he is thinking how pleasant it will be to wear an old flannel shirt and sit out under the trees and eat ice cream. We shall all be glad when spring really arrives, but we won't all say so in words that rhyme and fit in so many syllables to the line. It is the poet's way of telling how happy he is, and it is only the thoughtless who laugh at his rhymes of rejoicing.

The Business Situation.

So far as financial transactions are concerned, the volume of business was reduced this week by two legal holidays in Pennsylvania and one in the United States. Aside from this interruption, the activity in the stock market has been subsiding from natural causes. The present and prospective output of new securities is one cause. The Gazette yesterday published a tabulated statement of the new issues of stocks and bonds which have been authorized since the beginning of the year by railroad, industrial and municipal corporations. The total exceeded $582,000,000. Of this total part has already been sold and the remainder is now on the market or will be offered to investors in the near future. The great bulk of the new issues is for the purpose of making extensions, improvements and purchasing new equipment. Another natural cause for the subsidence of speculation is the higher rates quoted for loans to stock exchange borrowers.

The week's developments do not indicate any progress toward averting a strike in the coal fields this spring. The outlook at present favors a continuation of work in the anthracite field, but announcements made by representatives of both labor and capital in the bituminous field tend to prepare the public for a strike in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. There is yet time, however, before the expiration of the present agreement, for a settlement of the differences. There is evidence of some preparation on the part of large consumers of coal to anticipate future requirements, but as yet there is no evidence of serious apprehension among manufacturers and the railroads.

It is not apparent that the supreme court decision this week on the right of public carriers to be vendors of commodities; the discussion of the railroad rate bill in congress or the growing disposition of legal authorities to inquire into the affairs of corporations generally, have had any disturbing effect upon business. There was never a time when the actual ownership of corporations was so largely held by the public as at present, and this in itself is a safeguard against the agitation for government regulation running to dangerous extremes. The recent tendency, however, has been for actual control to get into fewer hands. Instead of this control being exercised for the benefit of all owners and with a strict observance of the rights of the public, the preponderating evidence shows that it is often used for personal aggrandizement, or in a manner to discriminate against the very creators of corporations. The protest now finding voice in state legislatures and in the national law-making body is not directed against the corporations, but against what are felt to be unfair practices by the managers in control. No one aims at impairing the service or the legitimate profits of corporations, just as no one aimed at weakening the solvency of the great life insurance companies in the recent investigation. This is the reason business interests have remained undisturbed during the current agitation, just as they refused to become panic-stricken when the legality of the Northern Securities Company was called into question or when the decision was made against the Joint Traffic association a few years ago.

THE SINGER OF ONE SONG.

He sang one song and died—no more but that;
A single song and carelessly complete.
He would not bind and thresh his chance-grown wheat,
Nor bring his wild fruit to the common vat,
To store the acid rinsings, thin and flat,
Squeezed from the press or trodden under feet.
A few slow beads, blood red and honey sweet,
Oozed from the grape, which burst and spilled its fat.
But Time, who soonest drops the heaviest things
That weight his pack, will carry diamonds long.
So through the poet's orchestra, which weaves
One music from a thousand stops and strings,
Pierces the note of that immortal song:
"High over all the lonely bugle grieves."

The World's a Stage and We the Players

Gossip of Men and Things on Both Sides of the Gleaming Footlights.

By
Charles M. Bregg.

There hangs on the wall of the club room of the Pittsburgh Flying Squadron an old play bill of the Grand Opera house, announcing the engagement of what the bill calls "the eminently eccentric comedian," Mr. E. A. Sothern as the "whimsical" (again quoting the program) "Dundreary." In the theater below the club rooms the distinguished son of this distinguished father has been appearing all the week in a classic repertoire of commanding scope and variety.

The conjunction of events gives the old program a peculiar interest.

I say above that the Dundreary performance was at the Grand Opera house, though the bill in question nowhere states that fact, but the name of John Ellsler is appended to a brief note on the program and in the cast, playing Abel Murcott, is Newton Gotthold, and as these two gentlemen jointly managed the Grand at the date of this engagement, the inference is clear. The date given is Monday evening, February 5, 1872, thirty-four years ago this month. There are a number of oddities about this old play bill that make it a curious relic of the less complex methods of theatrical management in those days.

The information is vouchsafed that the engagement is "the greatest event of the season," a fact that is not hard to accept when we remember the fame of the Sothern Dundreary. For this engagement we are told "the talented Miss A. Roselle has been engaged from the Haymarket theater, London, to play Georgiana," and the further information is offered that "the new version of the play is now presented for the first time in Pittsburgh."

The cast of this production of Tom Taylor's old comedy was a notable one, and it would be interesting to trace the career, work and final days of the people who composed it, if the data were available. The Asa Trenchard was Mr. J. E. Irving, a comedian of great reputation in that day, but so far as I know no relative of the English Irvings. Mr. J. F. Dean was the Sir Edward Trenchard while Oscar Stevens, another local favorite and fine comedian, was the Buddicombe. As noted above Newton Gotthold played Murcott, and every old Pittsburgh theater-goer remembers the excellent qualities of that player's art.

Binney was played by W. H. Crompton, an actor of whom the American stage has heard much in later years. Mr. Crompton became in his later years a famous player of old men's parts and his reading in classical roles was a thing of beauty. He was the Friar Laurence in the Sothern-Marlowe production of Romeo and Juliet last year and read the prologue with a clearness of diction and beauty of tonal quality that will long be remembered by those who heard it.

✦ ✦ ✦

Georgia Dickson, whose subsequent career as a comedienne on our native stage needs no elaboration, was the Mary Meredith of this cast. Miss Roselle, who played Georgiana, I am told by a local theater-goer with a good memory, did not make a hit locally. She was from the Haymarket theater, but her work did not measure up in the eyes of Pittsburgh critics with the prominence given her in connection with the cast. This old bill, which by the way, was the theater "programme" of the period contains a variety of information on its single sheet of 11x4½ inches. For instance this paragraph is inserted below the cast and immediately above an earnest admonition as to prices:

In the Course of the Piece Mr. Sothern Will Introduce the Reading of BROTHER SAM'S LETTER.

Received nightly with the Unprecedented Compliment of a Triple Encore. The piece ends with a new rhyming TAG, which the audience are (sic) respectfully requested not to interrupt by rising from their (sic) seats.

✦ ✦ ✦

The bill contains further information of a like specific and engaging character saying naively, "Although in every city, even Philadelphia, (why the even?) where Mr. Sothern has been playing at two theaters on the same night, for Several Weeks, and filling each theater beyond its capacity. Even there (note the emphasis) the Prices were Advanced." A scale is then given in which prices range from $1.00 down to 25 cents, which must be regarded as extremely reasonable, considering the character of the entertainment offered.

A large "cap" letter announcement at the bottom of the program declares that the gallery entrance is on Diamond street, but the name of the theater nowhere appears. Mr. Ellsler takes occasion in a footnote to inform his patrons that if they want to change their seats during a performance to please "step to the box office and change the coupons," which leaves the inference plain that ushers then as now were in the habit of keeping an eye open for the main chance.

Thirty-four years have elapsed since this particular performance of the famous Dundreary was given and last night in his dressing room Mr. E. H. Sothern, son of the man who gave the character world-wide fame, talked of his work in classic roles and of his plans for the immediate future.

"I am pretty sure," said the actor, "that the joint work of Miss Marlowe and myself has greatly matured since last season. Players are more or less diffident toward each other when first thrown together in opposite and responsible positions. I am sure Miss Marlowe's Juliet was affected last year by my immature Romeo. She was unused to me and I to her, and as my Romeo was new I guess my nervous and flighty methods kept the Juliet in a state of uncertainty. As for 'The Taming of the Shrew,' I have endeavored to give the play a sensibly humorous interpretation, following mainly the suggestion of the text.

"I was in this comedy a long time ago with Booth, playing small and unimportant parts, like the tailor, but I have long felt that the play had a lighter setting. Of course, an actor must give his own impressions vitality. To imitate anyone else, however worthy, is the death knell of usefulness on the stage."

From Sothern of Dundreary to Sothern of Petruchio and Romeo and Shylock is an interesting journey.

I have a courteous note from Mr. R. W. Young in which he questions the soundness of my judgment respecting the Ben Greet performance of "As You Like It," on Wednesday evening last. I am sure Mr. Young does not regret any more than I do the necessity that seemed to force me into the criticism in question. My admiration for Mr. Greet's work has always been great, and my conception of the value and interest to be secured through Shakespearean productions that sacrifice everything else to scholarly preservation and expression of the text is quite as high as the most ardent partisan of the English player.

But I am sure Mr. Young will agree with me that the preservation of the text and the elimination of all confusing accessories will count for very little in the long run unless that text is read by players who are well grounded in the art of emphasis, enunciation and pronunciation. These things I still contend the majority of the Greet players lacked in a lamentable degree.

✦ ✦ ✦

Readers who say "um" for "him" and "Arden" for "Arden" and "Dook" for "Duke" can hardly be considered fit interpreters for even Elizabethan Shakespearean text. I do not believe the oddity and barrenness of the stage, nor the preservation of certain lines of the play that we usually have eliminated, or the continuous progress of the acts, or even so good a Touchstone as Mr. Greet's, atone for the slovenly reading of some of the players in the Greet entourage. It was against these things that my criticism was directed and not the advantages to be derived from the evident purpose of Mr. Greet to give us clean and unobscured versions of the Bard's works. This is a task that deserves the highest commendation, a commendation that I have persistently and earnestly offered.

But better get the First Folio and read for oneself, or secure the services of a good reader, than to have the beauty of good, old-fashioned, blunt English slurred by incompetent and insipid players.

CASUAL GLIMPSES AROUND THE CITY

The Pittsburgh Hotel Clerks' association held its annual election and bi-monthly meeting last evening at the Antler, where a banquet was enjoyed, Proprietor Olmsted being the host. The new board of governors has been instructed to secure permanent quarters, which the club members may call home when they desire some place of convenience and rest for themselves while off duty. As soon as this home has been secured the scope of the organization will be widened to include clerks from all the leading hotels of Western Pennsylvania towns. The association now has a membership of about 50 clerks.

The annual election resulted as follows: President, W. H. Joyce, Colonial; first vice president, J. B. Stuart, Dorset; second vice president, William Heath, Fort Pitt; third vice president, T. W. Gallivan, Monongahela; secretary and treasurer, William L. Seebohm, Boyer, re-elected; board of governors, W. C. Patterson, Henry; Cooper Riggs, Colonial; F. J. Wolf, Buckingham; J. B. Kelly, Monongahela, and Peter S. Coombs, Boyer. Mr. Coombs was president of the association during its first year, and was the unanimous choice for re-election, but he refused. Mr. Joyce is well known to the hotel men and the traveling public and is certain to further the ends sought in the organization.

The Pittsburgh Hotel Proprietors and Restaurant Keepers' association of Pittsburgh held its regular meeting at the Colonial last evening, enjoying a banquet, with Proprietor Frank C. Smith as host.

Engineers Discuss Concrete.

Civil engineers entered heartily into the discussion of "Reinforced Concrete for Railway Structures" at the Monongahela house last evening at the February meeting of the Railway club of Pittsburgh, which was attended by about 200 of the leading railway men and civil engineers of Pittsburgh and its vicinity. Robert A. Cummings presented the subject in a paper, and illustrated his claims by having materials on a table for inspection. Willis Whited, city bridge engineer of Pittsburgh, took up the discussion from the standpoint of concrete in bridge construction. E. K. Morse, consulting engineer of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company; Emil Swensson and George T. Barnsley talked of the use of this material in various forms of bridge and structural work. Twenty-one new members were admitted to the club roll, bringing the membership list to more than 700. Refreshments were served.

Dental Frat Men Have Big Dance.

The annual dance and banquet of the Nu chapter of the Psi Omega fraternity was held last night at the Hotel Henry, about 150 couples being present. These included the active and alumni members of the chapter and their friends. The Nu chapter is that of the dental college of the Western University of Pennsylvania. The committee consisted of B. F. Jenkins, '06; Walter Ritchie, '07, and E. A. Hennen, '08.

Going to Atlantic City.

Police Magistrate Samuel Abernathy of Allegheny and his wife will leave this morning for a two weeks' trip to Atlantic City.

✦ ✦ ✦

Traveled With Sigsbee.

A most interesting talk was made to the students at the Carnegie technical schools yesterday by Prof. Henri Marion, the instructor in French at the United States naval academy at Annapolis, a position Prof. Marion has held for many years past. There is not a member of the naval academy's faculty who has a wider acquaintance than he has. Prof. Marion accompanied Admiral Sigsbee on the recent cruise he made to France to receive the remains of Admiral John Paul Jones, recovered from a forgotten grave through the efforts of Gen. Horace Porter, this country's ambassador to France, with whom Prof. Marion enjoys a long and delightful friendship. His talk to the students yesterday was about the recovery of the remains and their delivery to the representatives of the United States.

✦ ✦ ✦

"Exiles" Going to Banquet.

The banquet of the "Pittsburgh Exiles," the Pennsylvania lines west freight office men, which is to be held this evening in Columbus, will take the following from Pittsburgh: D. C. Copperstone, C. S. Lilley, U. G. Couffer, W. B. Cornell, J. C. Hill, C. L. Ferrall, W. T. Kerr, W. O. Judd, H. J. Denig, L. W. Heinmiller, T. C. Barratt, J. H. McPherson, John B. Hill and R. J. Roy.

✦ ✦ ✦

Preparing for Big Convention.

Committees of the various councils of the National Union Fraternal association met at the Colonial last evening. P. E. Vann Brouck, president of the national organization, presided. The business concerned preparations for the annual convention of the grand lodge in this city next August. About 700 delegates are expected to atend. About 25 committeemen were at the meeting last night.

✦ ✦ ✦

Among the People Traveling.

James E. Roderick, chief of the bureau of mines of Pennsylvania, is registered at the Duquesne. He will confer with various district mine operators. Mr. Roderick refused to discuss the probability of a strike of the miners.

Attorney W. J. Brennen left last night for Cleveland.

J. C. Hillebrand and H. von Zonneveld of Holland, are registered at the Seventh avenue. They are here interesting Pittsburgh people in bulbs of flowering plants.

James I. Buchanan returned last evening from a brief business visit to Chicago. Mr. Buchanan is president of the Pittsburgh Terminal Warehouse and Transfer Company, whose big warehouse building has just been completed on the South Side.

Quiet Observations on Ways of the World

It Is More Like Spring Time Than Winter in New York.

By
ERASMUS WILSON.

Had George Washington himself ordered his birthday weather it couldn't have been more perfect, for, as we hear on every side, it is perfectly lovely.

Yesterday the meteorological conditions were beastly, as they say here, neither a steady drizzle, nor steady rain, but a provoking mixture of both. But the people didn't seem to mind it, at least not to the extent of interfering with their dinners and gaieties.

Business is quite generally suspended today, no rush nor jam on the streets, but the crowds in hotels, theaters, subways and superways are filled almost to the crushing limit.

The list of banquets for tonight would make the heart of a banquet editor leap and flutter with delight, particularly if he could rely on the news agency covering them, thus leaving him nothing to do but to banquet.

⁂

You should have been at the French ball last night, if only to have it to say that you had attended one of these much-talked-about affairs. Had you been there you would be feeling more or less bored, or at least considerably disappointed.

Like many other things, a French ball isn't half bad, at least not half so bad as it is usually painted. Much of the badness in many of the terribly, awfully bad things we read about, is imaginary.

They say there is much badness in this great city, but you must first want to find it, and then hunt for it. No doubt there is much foulness in the social subway, but you are not compelled to go down into it.

⁂

Pittsburgh is well represented here nearly all the time, but this big city pretends not to notice the fact. Indeed, our city seems to be ranked among rural villages, except by those who have extensive dealings with us, or have designs on our wealth.

In fact, New Yorkers think there is only one place this side of heaven that is worth while, and that is New York; and to be really candid about it many of them rank heaven as second class.

Ask the folks here what would become of their beloved New York if it were not for the western towns, as they term western cities, and they reply by asking what would become of these towns if it were not for New York.

You can't argue with them, and it would do no good if you should succeed in pinning them down and giving them a good talking to, for as soon as you would let up they would give you the laugh, snap their fingers in your face, and tell you to go to, but for their part they'll live and die in New York.

⁂

The Newspaper Publishers association has helped to swell the crowd at the Waldorf-Astoria for a day of two, but it takes a college crowd to raise the roof, which was done, metaphorically, last night at the Amherst Alumni feast. No such carryin'-ons are anticipated at the publishers' banquet tonight.

Here in New York you are not troubled about what comes next, for next is usually crowding so hard that you have to hurry up to make room for it. So rushed are society folks that they haven't time to say their prayers, and hardly time to ask to be excused for not saying them.

Some Palatable Breakfast Food Served Hot

By PETER PRY SHEVLIN.

Gilded Graft.

We hated yet admired his grit in mill and market maze,
The clever "frenzied financier" with wondrous wicked ways.
This gilded god our necks has trod—a greater crook comes after—
The man who robs
The trust nabobs!
His name? The Gilded Grafter!

"That bill"—says a congressman;
"—is doomed!" snaps his boss.
"If the ring finds nothing doing, why, your trust must stand a loss!"
"Here's the coin!" the financier
Remarks in accents daft.
Of course, he robs the people, but he's trimmed by Gilded Graft!

To set a thief to catch a thief, of course, is nothing new;
So after frenzied finance comes the gilded grafter crew!
As now blackmail is getting stale, they try with happy laughter
A way to bleed
The trusts' gold greed—
The wily Gilded Grafter!

"That contract for your railroad—
Of course, I name the price!—
Might be given to—ahem!—concern that always treats me nice!
"That franchise then is yours!"
The scion says with craft.
The magnate robs the public, but he's trimmed by Gilded Graft!

Waylaying the Thirst-Quencher.

It was in the cold gray dawn of the morning after one of the recent banquets in Pittsburgh and the scene was laid in the hallway of a downtown hotel. "Bubble water" had fizzled in great abundance the night before and, for obvious reasons, many of the banqueters had taken rooms in the same hostelry.

One of the thirsty guests rang for ice water. No response. Then he rang again, again and again.

Finally the "bellhop" arrived with an empty water pitcher.

"Thunderation!" howled the guest. "This is the fifth time I've rung for ice water!"

"Yes, sir," said the boy, "but the hotel is chock full of guests who were at that same banquet last night and every time I passed a door someone would reach out and snatch the pitcher away from me!"

Peter Pry's Philosophy.

Abused nature never forgets.

You can lead a boy to school but you can't make him think.

Really smart men always put the shoulders of other men to the wheel.

Be intelligent, first; educated, if possible; but intellectual last of all.

When you smile you are cashing in a sight draft on the bank of good health.

A man's love should be like that of the bee who steals honey from a flower's heart without injuring it.

Very truly, pride goeth before a fall. But after a man is down and out if he calls honest pride to his aid he is soon helped on his feet.

Up-to-Date Slang.

"Now, boys," said a teacher in an Allegheny school yesterday, "I will give you a sum in mental arithmetic. If Mr. Jones owed me $13 and Mr. Brown owed me $10, how much money should I get? Bobby, you may answer."

"It would be '23 for yours!'" answered the lad with the shaggy hair, and teacher wondered why the class tittered.

The Kiss.

Love shone in his eyes.

"Ah, May, there are some things impossible to express."

The maiden's lips pouted prettily.

"Why not try special delivery?" she murmured.

He did.

We're Always "It."

Blinker—We'll probably have a coal strike on April 1.

Clinker—Yes, it is always April Fool's day for the poor consumer!

Clever to the Last.

Smudge—Do you think there is any virtue in dying rich?

Grudge—Well, it proves that the millionaire is clever enough to keep his physicians from getting it all.

Goodbye, Miss February.

February,
Gay coquette,
We are wary
Of you yet.
One glance warm
Then days dun;
First a storm,
Then the sun.

Wintry weather,
Farewell bow
Altogether
Finish now!
February,
Clean up shop;
March the fairy
Buds will pop!

Becoming a Bore.

"Yes," said the chronic quoter, "the evil that men do lives after them."

"Sure; just look at the man who invented the word 'strenuous' and called Roosevelt's attention to it!"

A Continuous Performance.

Jim—Now, dearie, before we are married I must begin to economize on luxuries, for instance, the theater.

Jess—That's right. We'll start economizing when theaters close in summer—er-er—but just then the summer resorts open up, Jim!

A Sceptic.

Beryl—Is the new pastor very liberal in his religious views?

Sibyl—I should say so! He believes that even "original sin" has been plagiarized!

A Thirsty Man's Thought.

"I see they have discovered another of those wonderful caves in Kentucky," observed a southerner with a ruby headlight in the Hotel Henry last night. "Just supposing, my boy, that Kentucky cave contained an underground lake of 'moonshine,' with mint a-growing on its banks, and stalagmites of ice keeping that natural mint julep cool! Oh, Paradise come down!"

And the thirsty colonel meandered away to make his reflections come true.

A New Definition.

Jasper—You say Bjiggins is an optimist?

Casper—Yes, he hasn't any troubles of his own and he's too selfish to worry about the sorrows of others.

Her Inference.

The Bloomfield girl was inclined to be doubtful.

"And why do you love me, Archibald?" she cooed.

"You are so sensible," he ventured, "so fond of your home—"

"So homely, in other words!" she interrupted savagely. "Goodby forever!"

He Emulates Ajax.

"Ajax" Jones has a penchant for big words that fills the colored element with awe, but by wading through a maze of Jones' jawbreakers a Republican politician last night discovered one of the reasons that he should be called after the Roman demigod.

"'Ajax,'" asked the ward worker, "what's your favorite thirst killer?"

"Ma favorite imbibation, suh?" queried Ajax with dignity. "'Deed, suh, yo' interrogatory question kind o' obfusticates ma sense o' appropriate propriety."

"After the manner of the mythological gods, Ajax," smiled the politician, "what sort of ambrosia do you pour out in libations to Bacchus?"

"Dat's de way to talk, suh!" exclaimed the colored character. "Well, I 'casionally imbibes gin-sloe gin, suh, dat appeals t' ma sense o' color. None o' dat Pennsylvania applejack or Jersey lightnin' fo' dis chile!"

"Now, I know why they call you 'Ajax' Jones."

"Why, suh?"

"Because you are always defying the lightning!"

Not Prevalence, but Inequity.

Out of the conference now in session at Washington it is hoped that some influence may come to give direction to the movement for the establishment of a uniform code of marriage and divorce laws in the several states. The evil of divorce does not consist necessarily in its prevalence but in the inequity of its operation. Properly regulated, as it may be under a system of law wisely devised and conscientiously enforced, the wrong and the suffering and the social demoralization now caused can be averted.—Boston Post.

NEWS OF STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD

"WASHINGTON WAS GOOD MAN, BUT—" GROANS GROOM

Kindhearted Strangers Help Troubled Lovers to Secure a Marriage License.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, Feb. 23.—Love found the way for Harry Stalley of Liverpool, Perry county, yesterday, even though it was Washington's birthday and the marriage license office in this city closed tight as a drum after the noon hour. Harry came here intent on taking as his bride Miss Catherine Potteiger, who lives on a farm just outside the city. When the expectant pair arrived at the court house in the afternoon they were plunged into the depths of despair, for the office was closed.

"Who'd a-thought it?" groaned the dejected bridegroom-to-be. "Washington was a good man, but——"

The bride-elect looked ready to cry, but didn't.

Kind-hearted persons who saw the plight of the lovers gave them seats in the court recorder's chair, and after an hour found Dr. Harry M. Stine, recorder, who made out the license. Miss Potteiger and Mr. Stalley then left to hunt a minister.

Pastor Who Worked for Nothing Dies.

UNIONTOWN, PA., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—The Rev. B. F. Brown, aged 89, a retired Baptist minister for over 50 years, died this morning at his home near Ruble. Mr. Brown gave his religious services gratuitously. He was born in Woodbridgetown, and is survived by six children. His mother lived to the age of 101 years.

Manufacturers Hunting Sites.

WASHINGTON, PA., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—Following the announcement that the Pittsburgh Railways Company would build several trolley loops from the present Washington & Canonsburg line through the industrial section of Washington, the local board of trade has received applications from numerous manufacturing concerns for recommendations for sites for the locations of plants.

W. C. T. U. to Fight Liquor Applicants.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—The executive committee of the Lawrence County Women's Christian Temperance union will employ attorneys to fight the granting of licenses here next month. The W. C. T. U. will also join the local branch of the National Reform association, which intends to hold mass meetings in every ward in the city.

Name Candidates for Mayor.

FAIRMONT, W. VA., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—The Republican and Business Men's Progressive parties both held conventions tonight at which candidates for mayor were named. The choice of the Republicans was W. E. Arnett, while the business men named George E. Miller. The Prohibition ticket is headed by Ulysses A. Clayton. The election will be held March 17.

Sue Husband for Not Calling Doctor.

WASHINGTON, PA., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—Jesse Miller of West Finley township is under $500 bail for trial on a charge of cruelty and neglect. It is alleged Miller refused to call a physician for his wife and that because of this neglect she died. Neighbors made information against him before Justice John H. Jewell of Burnsville.

Officers Not Guilty of Extortion.

UNIONTOWN, PA., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—Justice M. D. Clifford and Constable Sheridan H. Crawford were declared not guilty of extortion by Magistrate John N. Dawson today. The charges were made against them by Frank C. Monahan, a cigar manufacturer. Monahan was prosecuted for violation of the Sunday laws.

Organize Telephone Company.

NEW WILMINGTON, PA., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—The New Bedford Telephone Company has been organized and a charter will be applied for. It will supply an independent telephone service to New Bedford, Pulaski and other towns in Lawrence county, Pa., and Mahoning county, O.

Find Farmer Dead in Creek.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—J. B. Harper, a well-to-do farmer of Davisville, committed suicide by drowning in a small creek near his home last night. The creek was so shallow he had to lie face downward. No cause for the suicide is known.

MAKES PLEA FOR AID OF THE FOREIGNERS

Y. M. C. A. Members Are Asked to Establish a Foreign Department.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Feb. 23.—The feature of the thirty-eighth annual convention of the Young Men's Christian association of Pennsylvania today was the address this afternoon by Attorney John E. Jenkins of Wilkes-Barre, who discussed the obligation of the Pennsylvania association to the foreign young men within the state. Mr. Jenkins stated that 22 per cent of the foreigners who immigrated to this country settled in this state, and that owing to their presence the increase in illiterates is alarming. Mr. Jenkins, who has made a study of conditions among the foreigners in the anthracite coal region, made an earnest plea for more work by the state organization and asked for the establishment of a permanent department to confine its work to the foreign population.

The committee on permanent organization recommended the nominations of all officers not elected yesterday. The following were unanimously chosen: Vice presidents, W. D. Todd, Warren; Dr. Thomas L. Kane, Kane; E. B. McGill, New Castle; second assistant recording secretary, Robert Raeder, Wilkes-Barre; press secretary, L. B. Hindman, Washington. The Rev. John Robertson of Glasgow, Scotland, this morning delivered the second of a series of exegetical studies on the gospel of St. John. F. A. Crosby of Harrisburg, boy's work secretary of the state committee, conducted a discussion on organization and extension. E. S. Roberts of West Philadelphia and C. B. Horton of Pittsburgh spoke. A feature of the afternoon session was a debate and general discussion of the subject: "Is the association failing to adequately use its equipment as a means of leading young men to Christ?" The affirmative was taken by Frank W. Stonecipher of Pittsburgh and the negative by J. L. Welsh of New Castle. H. T. Williams of Harrisburg also discussed the question. F. S. Goodman of New York talked on "A reasonable progress for the specific religious work of your association." The principal address this evening was by Clinton Rogers Woodruff of Philadelphia on "The Association's Civic Opportunities."

NOTES OF NEARBY TOWNS.

WASHINGTON—Several miles of country road in the vicinity of Waynesburg are to be paved by the state. Property owners have agreed to lay sidewalks and to keep the roads in repair.

NEW CASTLE—A new trolley line is to be built westward from New Bedford, this county, to Youngstown next summer.

ZANESVILLE—Mayor Deacon states that the lid will be slammed down next Sunday as tightly as he can clamp it, though he admits that cigar stores and news dealers will not be placed under the ban.

ZANESVILLE—Thieves climbed the Western Union telegraph poles in the west end of the city and stripped the poles of 5,000 feet of new copper wire. A reward of $25 has been offered for the arrest of the thieves.

SHARON—The coroner's jury in the case of Dr. Robert Calvin, who died from an overdose of chloroform at Jamestown, returned a verdict that he came to his death from "cause or causes unknown."

NEW CASTLE—W. L. Beats of Pittsburgh is heading a movement for the establishment here of a local branch of the Union Workingmen's association, an organization to promote the election to office of men friendly to organized labor.

PARKERSBURG—Robert Farnsworth of Sistersville is in jail here in default of $1,200 bond, charged with counterfeiting nickels for use in slot machines. He is said to have used wooden dies and stereotype metal.

UNIONTOWN—George P. Hughes was held for court by Magistrate Mohn Boyle for threatening to kill his sister-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Hughes.

IRWIN—The observance of Patrons' day brought more than 1,000 visitors to the Uniontown schools. There were special exercises and addresses.

NEW CASTLE—An outing of the uniformed rank companies, Knights of Pythias, of Western Pennsylvania will be held at Cascade park, this city, July 11. The companies will compete for the $800 cash prizes.

SHARON—J. Z. Levy of Pittsburgh, who purchased the Broadway theater at South Sharon, has awarded a contract for alterations and will convert it into a skating rink.

PARKERSBURG—The jury in the case of Fritz Merrick, editor of a socialist paper who was indicted for obstructing justice by refusing to answer questions propounded by the grand jury, disagreed today and was discharged.

NEW CASTLE—A $10,000 damage suit has been entered here by Lemuel Davis against the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company for injuries received while working for the company.

EAST LIVERPOOL—A good roads convention was held here today under the auspices of the National Good Roads association. Among the speakers were President Moore and Col. T. F. Rixey of the National association, and Congressman James Kennedy.

SAVES BOY RESCUER FROM TERRIBLE DEATH

In an Effort to Save Playmate John Brandt Narrowly Escaped With His Life.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 23.—In an effort to aid one of his playmates who had fallen down a coal chute at the Star Independent newspaper office, 13-year-old John Brandt's life was saved from being crushed to death by the coolness of William Frick, assistant pressman.

Brandt, in searching for his lost playmate, walked into the open elevator shaft and was precipitated to the basement. The elevator was descending at the time. Frick leaped to the lever that controlled the elevator and cut off the power, while the car was only a few feet above the prostrate figure of the boy, whose leg was broken by the fall.

Trying to Unload on Township.

IRONDALE, O., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—A special election to decide whether the charter of the town shall be forfeited has been ordered by council to be held on March 10. This results from the town having to support a public school, which has made taxation unusually high. If the charter is surrendered the township will have to support the school. Another charter will then be applied for, leaving the school outside the corporate limits.

Telephone Company Officers.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Feb. 23.—The West Virginia Independent Telephone association adjourned tonight after electing these officers: President, W. C. Handlan, Wheeling; vice presidents, J. H. Wise, Cameron; W. M. Cayton, Parsons; J. W. Downs, Buchannon; Hugh Amos, Byrnsville; Lon H. Hutchinson, Huntington; secretary, A. C. Davis, Parkersburg; treasurer, Lloyd Beeghley, Weston.

Mrs. Whiteman Must Stay in Jail.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—Judge Hunter H. Moss today refused to release on bond Mrs. Robert Whiteman, who is charged with shooting and killing Edward Deevers, her daughter's accepted suitor, a few weeks ago. After Mrs. Whiteman had forbidden Deevers to visit the house Deevers called and Mrs. Whiteman shot him dead in her front yard.

EFFORT TO SAVE HOCH A FAILURE

Attorneys Appeal to Federal Court and Strive When Wife-Murderer Dies.

STILL PROMISE AN APPEAL

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Johann Hoch, convicted uxorcide, confessed bigamist, and who, if but a fraction of the stories of crime that are told of him are true, was one of the greatest criminals this country has ever known, was hanged today for poisoning his wife, Marie Welcker Hoch. He faced death with a prayer on his lips for the officers of the law who took his life; and save for the words "goodby," his last utterance was an assertion that he was innocent of the crime.

The last scene in his career at 1:34 this afternoon while his attorneys were still making desperate efforts for a little more time on earth for him. His death, the lawyers say, has not ended the appeal that was made in his behalf, and although the man himself is dead, they promise to carry the case to the supreme court of the United States.

The time set for the hanging was between 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. Shortly after 9 Hoch's attorneys appeared in the office of the clerk of the United States circuit court, where they filed an application for a writ of habeas corpus on the broad ground that Hoch was held in peril of death in direct violation of the Fourteenth amendment to the constitution, which declares that no state shall deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law.

Delayed to Last Minute.

As soon as the application was filed, Attorneys Mayber and Comerford hastened to the jail where they informed Jailer Whitman and Deputy Sheriff Peters that the application had been made. The jailer and the deputy sheriff agreed to wait. The attorneys then appeared before Judge K. M. Landis, asked that the writ issue forthwith.

"It is requisite," said Judge Landis, "that proper cause be shown."

The attorneys argued that the writ should be issued because the state court was not a court of competent jurisdiction, that the sentence was in violation of the Fourteenth amendment, that Hoch was compelled to give, and did give, evidence against himself; that he was arrested in New York, and extradited on a charge of bigamy, and on being brought to Chicago was charged with murder. After some consideration, Judge Landis replied:

"The application for the writ is denied. The proper remedy for counsel was a writ of error from the decision of the state supreme court to the supreme court of the United States. The writ is fatally defective."

Attorney Maher asked for an appeal. The court said:

Case to Go Higher.

"Later in the day I will enter such an order as will enable you to have this case reviewed by the supreme court in the absence of your client. I will not complicate matters by a further delay. It would be much easier for me to grant this man 10 days time in which to have this case reviewed by the United States supreme court, but respect for orderly procedure compels me to do what I have done. That is my order."

As soon as it was known that the application had been denied, preparations were commenced for the execution. Hoch was advised that his attorneys were making strenuous efforts in his behalf and to the Rev. Mr. Slechte Hoch declared that he intended to insist that all the time given to him under the sentence should be allowed. He told the clergyman that if an effort was made to take him to the scaffold before 1:30 o'clock he would resist.

As the reading of the death warrant was finished Attorney Comerford appeared at the jail with an appeal bond. Jailer Whitman intended to proceed with the execution immediately following the reading of the death warrant, but he issued orders that proceedings be delayed.

Refuse Further Delay.

The attorneys again urged Judge Landis to grant the appeal and the court directed them to prepare their record. Attorney Comerford then hurried to the jail, where he arrived just as the death march was about to begin. He asked that proceedings be further delayed, but this request was denied after a talk by the deputy sheriff with Judge Landis over the telephone.

As the death march started, Hoch stopped several times to shake hands with the attendants, saying, Goodby, boys."

When Hoch stepped on the drop his face was pale, but his manner was composed and his courage unsurpassed. The Rev. J. R. Burkland, who was reciting the prayers for the dying continued them while Hoch was preparing for execution. While the deputy sheriff was pinioning his feet, Hoch spoke to him in a low voice.

The Rev. Burkland was still reciting the prayer and Jailer Whitman stepped to the edge of the scaffold and asked him to desist. Hoch spoke up in strong, clear tones and with a pronounced German accent, saying:

"Father, forgive them, they know not what they do. I must die, an innocent man. Goodby."

Just as he finished the drop fell.

Dr. McNamara, a county physician, declared that death had been instantaneous, the neck having been broken.

Desperate Efforts for Life.

While the execution was in progress Attorney Edward Maher was still making desperate efforts to induce Judge Landis to sign an appeal and grant Hoch a supersedeas.

A few moments after 1 o'clock Judge Landis left his chambers. As he stepped into the hall Maher stopped him, saying:

"We have only a little time. The papers will be here in a few minutes with the man's signature."

"I am going out now," replied the judge. "I shall be in court at 2 o'clock."

"My God, judge," implored the attorney, the tears springing to his eyes, "don't leave the building. Please don't do it. Give this man the right of appeal. We want to save his life, and at 2 o'clock it will be too late. For heaven's sake, don't leave the building."

"You make it terribly hard for me," said the judge, "but as I told you, I cannot grant an appeal. My oath of office demands that I do what I consider right. In this last hour before the execution I am appealed to and I do not think I would be complying with my oath if I delayed this execution."

"Judge, if I didn't think this poor man had been deprived of a fair chance I wouldn't make this appeal to you. What errors his attorneys may have made should not cost him his life."

Judge Landis, who had been making his way toward the elevator as rapidly as he could in the face of the interference of Mr. Maher, stopped and confronted the attorney.

"I have expressed my views on the subject of appeal," he said, in a slow voice. "I will not grant one, so there is no use of my remaining."

ALUMNI OF PRINCETON UNIVERSITY TO DINE AT HOTEL SCHENLEY TONIGHT

THE HON. J. BAYARD HENRY of Philadelphia, who will speak at the banquet.

R. D. TOTTEN, President of the Princeton club of Western Pennsylvania.

The 32nd annual dinner of the Princeton Club of Western Pennsylvania, will be given tonight at the Hotel Schenley. The reunion of the club will last all day at the Union club, Frick building, cards of courtesy having been sent to Princeton men hereabouts. The cards are good for today and tomorrow. Two hundred and thirty acceptances had been received up to yesterday morning by the committee in charge of the dinner.

The speakers' list is complete. The subject most likely to interest Princeton men is that of Dr. Edward G. Elliott, '97, "President Woodrow Wilson and the Wonderfully Successful Tutorial System." Dr. Elliott will sum up the results attained by this novel scheme, according to which college classes are divided up into groups, so that each man gets the personal attention of a tutor who guides his course and to whom he recites.

J. Bayard Henry of Philadelphia, will talk on "Our Bosses," Thomas C. Noyes, '89, will tell of Princeton men in newspaper work, and Congressman Joseph H. Gaines of Charleston, W. Va., has taken for his subject, "Princeton in the Nation's Service."

HIGGINS FINDS DIFFICULT TASK

Says It Is Hard to Get Insurance Superintendent—Pleased With Report.

MORTON DOES NOT AGREE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 23.—It is unlikely that the appointment of a state superintendent of insurance will take place within the next few days. When asked tonight when he was likely to appoint Superintendent Hendricks' successor, the governor replied that he would make the selection at the earliest moment. He intimated that men who come up to the standard which the office requires are difficult to find.

Concerning the report of the Armstrong committee, the governor said:

"It was my desire that when the legislature took action upon the insurance situation it should first ascertain the facts regarding life insurance in this state through a committee, assisted by counsel familiar with the investigation of a subject of this magnitude. I think the members of the committee have discharged their duties faithfully and well."

Industrial insurance, concerning which the special legislative insurance investigating committee made no recommendation, will be subjected to a special legislative inquiry if a joint resolution introduced in the senate today is adopted. Although a section of the insurance report was devoted to companies doing an industrial insurance business, the committee did not see fit to recommend the enactment of any law prohibiting it, stating that the reasons for the insurance as advanced by those engaged in it seemed practical, and rather overcome the sentimental objections.

The critics of industrial insurance have alleged that the poor are robbed by exorbitant weekly premiums, many-fold greater than those of ordinary insurance.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—President Paul Morton of the Equitable Life Assurance society today made the following statement concerning the report of the Armstrong committee:

"I have thus far only had time to read the report of the insurance investigating committee very hurriedly. It is certainly a most able and exhaustive document and shows that the committee and its counsel have done their work with great courage, thoroughness and intelligence. For this reason I feel bound to respect their conclusions, notwithstanding that I do not agree with them in some of their recommendations. That is all I have to say in regard to the matter at the present time."

TEACHERS MEET.

Dictation Work, Literature, Oral Expression and Arithmetic Among Subjects Discussed.

An interesting meeting of teachers of the fourth grade was held yesterday afternoon at the North school, Duquesne way, at which Miss Clara Hahn of the Humboldt school presided. Samuel Andrews, superintendent of schools, made a short address on the importance of the teacher's duty to children of that grade. The subjects discussed were dictation work, literature, oral expression, arithmetic, methods in spelling and writing, in which the participants were Miss Gillian, Miss Goldenberg, Miss Cready, Mrs. McCoy, Miss Pratt, Miss Mershall, Miss Becker and Miss Murray.

Miss Cready, in illustration of a point, quoted President Eliot of Harvard as saying: "The short memory gems I learned when a boy have been of more help to me in the hours of temptation than all the sermons I ever heard." A decision that a uniform course of literature should be recommended resulted in the appointment of Misses Hahn, Cready, Goldenberg and Marshall to submit a report on the matter.

Red Cross Aid for Starving Japs.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The American National Red Cross announced today that $23,165 had been received in subscriptions for the benefit of the sufferers from famine in the northern provinces of Japan.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM OVER BOXER UPRISING IN CHINA

American Minister Rockhill at Pekin Sends Reassuring Message to the State Department. Caution Is Always Necessary.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Announcements from the state department in regard to China are no longer alarming. Everything is serene and there is absolutely no cause for alarm. In this line is a bulletin from Minister Rockhill at Pekin. The announcement says:

"The secretary of state has received a telegram from Mr. Rockhill, minister to China, stating that he and his colleagues see no cause for undue apprehension concerning the situation in China. While they consider caution and watchfulness always necessary, they believe the published reports of uneasiness to be without cause. Missionary troubles are not more frequent than usual, and are due, as was the Shanghai riot, to local causes.

"Mr. Rockhill says the Chinese government appreciates the importance of preventing hostility towards foreigners; that it has recently been cautioned by Japan in this respect, and has declared its determination to insure their safety under all circumstances. While the boycott may continue, with local friction, nothing more serious is anticipated by those on the ground. A pronounced general feeling of determination is noted on the part of the Chinese to secure complete economic exploitation of their empire."

The Death Roll.

Daniel Welty.

Daniel Welty, aged 69, for 45 years a resident of Pittsburgh and vicinity, and who was formerly engaged in the carpet business, died Thursday night at Los Angeles, Cal., where he had been since last fall in search of health. He had been failing for several years, but his death was doubtless hastened by an accident which befell him about a year ago in South Carolina, when he fell and fractured his arm. Mr. Welty was born at Hannatown, near Greensburg, Westmoreland county, and came to Pittsburgh when a young man. He formerly resided in Sherman avenue, Allegheny, and for many years he had been a member of the First Lutheran church on Grant street. He was a Mason and a member of Federal council of the Royal Arcanum. Mr. Welty is survived by his widow and the following brothers and sisters: F. S. of 502 Jeannette street, T. J. of Washington state, I. F. of Turtle Creek, Mrs. L. C. Aughey of Washington state, Mrs. Susan M. Christy of Miamisburg, O., and Mrs. Clarissa Potts of Ada, O. The body will be brought east for burial.

Mrs. Margaret Snyder.

Mrs. Margaret Snyder, aged 72, dropped dead from heart disease about 11 o'clock yesterday morning at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Rosenmeyer, 1425 Swissvale avenue, Wilkinsburg. She was found lying in the hall by a grandson. She was the widow of John H. Snyder and had been a resident of Wilkinsburg for the last 28 years. Mrs. Snyder was a member of Trinity Reformed church of Wilkinsburg. Her son, George W. Snyder, a former chief of police of the borough, dropped dead two years ago. She is survived by three sons, William, A. H. and J. M. Snyder, and three daughters, Mrs. Rosenmeyer, Mrs. George House and Miss Jennie M. Snyder.

David A. Cowan.

David A. Cowan, aged 67, a lifelong resident of Baldwin township, died yesterday morning at his home in the Brownsville road. He was the second son of William and Margaret Cowan and was one of the prominent farmers of the district. Mr. Cowan is survived by his widow and the following children: Mrs. George Zuerner, New Castle, Pa.; Mrs. M. F. Hillman, Homestead; William G. Cowan, Pittsburgh, and Minnie, Park and Rachel Cowan, who reside at home. He also leaves two brothers, N. C. and William Cowan, and a sister, Sarah Elizabeth.

Mrs. Henry Garraux.

Mrs. Henry Garraux is dead at her home in Bakerstown, this county. She was born there and has spent almost her entire life within a short distance of the place where she died. Her maiden name was Nancy Morrow. She was a member of the Presbyterian church. Her husband and two daughters, the Misses Edna and Mary, all at home, survive her.

Mrs. Elizabeth P. Brooks.

Mrs. Elizabeth Petty Brooks, widow of Samuel S. Brooks, died Thursday evening at the home of her brother, J. O. Petty, 42 Creighton avenue, Crafton. She leaves no children and her husband died many years ago. Mrs. Brooks was a member of the Presbyterian church.

Obituary Notes.

Charles Higgins, aged 36, a clerk who resided at 1214 Webster avenue, died Thursday at Mercy hospital. He was a member of Pittsburgh Aerie No. 76, the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

The late Congressman George A. Castor, who died last Monday in Philadelphia, was buried yesterday. The list of honorary pallbearers included United States Senator Penrose, Gov. Pennypacker, Lieut. Gov. Brown, together with the committee appointed to represent congress.

FIRE DIDN'T STOP WEDDING.

Although Bride Loses Part of Trousseau and Father Hair and Mustache. She Is Married.

BUTLER, PA., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—Although part of her trousseau was burned, Miss Matilda McBride, daughter of Frank P. McBride of Coylesville, did not allow her marriage to Thomas J. McLafferty to be delayed. While Miss McBride, her mother and Miss Rebecca Flick of Butler, her bridesmaid, and other guests were in an upstairs room in the McBride home preparing for the wedding, a gas jet ignited a lace curtain and in an instant the room was filled with flames.

The women ran screaming from the room except Miss Flick, who seized a jacket and began beating out the flames. She stopped the progress until her father arrived and extinguished the fire. McBride's hands were severely burned and his hair and mustache were burned off, but he went to the wedding, which was held in St. John's Roman Catholic church.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

The following marriage licenses were issued yesterday:

Harry Rosenberg, Mary Williams; Patrick Shine, Annie Kreshling; James A. Walker, Susan Niles; John Holley, Emma Bailey; Frank A. Gueser, Margaret E. McGlade; John J. Sullivan, Isabella Brady, all of Pittsburgh.

Edward H. Stark, Stella Harnes, Wilmerding.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 23.

Gov. Pennypacker tonight expressed himself as highly gratified by the results of the uniform divorce congress at Washington, over which he presided and which adjourned last night, after outlining a method by which it is proposed that the various states of the union shall treat the subject of the marital tie and its obligation, acting in concord and with a view to correcting the present tendency to looseness and variation.

"While it is difficult to forecast future events," said the governor in reply to a question as to the probable results of the congress, "it is certain that the main object of the gathering was achieved. I mean by this that a basis was reached upon which all the states represented—there were 45 of them—can proceed to work in harmony and with the purpose of achieving a common end. The resolutions speak for themselves. Their purpose, as is shown, is to forward such legislation in the several states as will safeguard the marriage tie and render less easy its dissolution for inadequate cause. Results as reached by the congress commend themselves to everybody and it cannot be doubted that they will prove of great benefit.

"One of the very pleasing things about the body which has given such thoughtful and earnest consideration to a very important subject was the high character and intelligence of the gentlemen comprising its membership. I am moved to lay especial emphasis on this by reason of an editorial I read in one of the Philadelphia newspapers today, in which it was practically intimated that the character of the body was not representative and did not grasp the full intent of its assembling. This is far from the fact."

The governor said the congress was composed of representative men, a large proportion of whom, he said, were lawyers of distinction.

"As showing the universal interest in the object of the congress I might say the action of South Carolina was significant and very pleasing. That state does not permit divorce for any cause, and yet a gentleman came from there and was permitted to speak on the subject and he spoke very strongly and very effectively, too."

"ART OF THE TRANSLATOR."

Dr. Ludwig Fulda, Noted German Author and Dramatist, to Lecture Here.

Dr. Ludwig Fulda, one of the greatest of German authors and playwrights, who arrived in New York this week, and will visit the principal cities of the country to lecture on German literary and dramatic works, will next Tuesday address the Germanic society of Pittsburgh at the Twentieth Century club, on "The Art of the Translator." He is expected to arrive in Pittsburgh on the morning of the 27th and will extend his stay until the following day to visit the mills and other places of interest.

Dr. Fulda is a native of Frankfort and is a graduate of the Universities of Heidelberg and Berlin. His first great literary work, "The Talisman," published in 1892, attracted more than ordinary attention, because it brought upon him the displeasure of Emperor William, who refused to allow him to receive the Schiller prize of 3,000 marks, awarded him for the production. Dr. Fulda has gained considerable distinction by his translations from foreign works into the German tongue.

Tired of Carrying Needle.

Mrs. R. L. Ward of Fifth avenue, McKeesport, will soon undergo an operation at the McKeesport hospital for the removal of a needle which has been in her hand for four years. During that time it has moved two inches nearer her wrist and has begun to cause pain. While handling the needle, it entered the palm of her hand and broke off.

PRISONER CONCEALED TO PREVENT LYNCHING

Officers Rescue Him from Mob, Hide Him, Then Get Him to Jail in This City.

To save him from being lynched by an infuriated mob that had its hands on him, the hearing of John Tarr, before Justice of Peace James A. Anderson at Clairton, was suddenly terminated, the prisoner rushed away and concealed by the officers from 10 o'clock at night until 1 o'clock in the morning, when he was lodged secretly in the Clairton lockup and kept there until yesterday afternoon. By a ruse he was brought to Pittsburgh and placed in the county jail.

Tarr is 35 years of age and formerly a glassworker. He has been living alone in a small house at Blair station. He was arrested Thursday on informations made by the fathers of several young boys. The same evening when Tarr was taken to Justice Anderson for a hearing a crowd of angry men assembled outside his office prepared to administer justice without waiting on the slower process of law. They laid hands on the prisoner, he receiving a stunning blow in the face, when the constable and police rushed Tarr inside the justice's office.

He was spirited out the rear way and kept under cover until past midnight, the officers fearing to take him to the lockup. He was kept in the lockup under guard until yesterday afternoon when Constable White and Chief of Police Edward Kenealey let the word go out that Tarr was to be given a hearing last night. Justice Anderson held a private hearing in the lockup and a few minutes before the 4:26 p. m. train he was hustled to the station and brought to Pittsburgh for safe-keeping.

RUNNING SORES COVERED LIMBS

Little Girl's Obstinate Case of Eczema — Instantaneous Relief By Cuticura — Little Boy's Hands and Arms Also Were a Mass of Torturing Sores — Grateful Mother Says:

"CUTICURA REMEDIES A HOUSEHOLD STANDBY"

"In reply to your letter I write you my experience, and you are privileged to use it as you see fit. Last year, after having my little girl treated by a very prominent physician for an obstinate case of eczema, I resorted to the Cuticura Remedies, and was so well pleased with the almost instantaneous relief afforded that we discarded the physician's prescription and relied entirely on the Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Pills. When we commenced with the Cuticura Remedies her feet and limbs were covered with running sores. In about six weeks we had her completely well, and there has been no recurrence of the trouble.

"In July of this year a little boy in our family poisoned his hands and arms with poison oak, and in twenty-four hours his hands and arms were a mass of torturing sores. We used only the Cuticura Remedies, washing his hands and arms with the Cuticura Soap, and anointed them with the Cuticura Ointment, and then gave him the Cuticura Resolvent. In about three weeks his hands and arms healed up; so we have lots of cause for feeling grateful for the Cuticura Remedies. We find that the Cuticura Remedies are a valuable household standby, living as we do twelve miles from a doctor, and where it costs from twenty to twenty-five dollars to come up on the mountain. Respectfully, Mrs. Lizzie Vincent Thomas, Fairmount, Walden's Ridge, Tenn., Oct. 13, 1905."

Books and BookMEN

BY GEORGE SEIBEL

THE most important book of the week is in the field of the youngest science, Sociology. It is John Spargo's "Bitter Cry of the Children," published by the Macmillan Company, an indictment of child labor and a survey of conditions. A historical work of much interest is Prof. Breasted's "Ancient Records of Egypt," from the University of Chicago Press.

Three books of fiction of special interest made their appearance. One is "Wild Justice," by Lloyd Osbourne, which D. Appleton and Company publish. The other is a translation of Baroness Bertha von Suttner's great peace novel, "Die Waffen Nieder," published under the title "Ground Arms!" by A. C. McClurg and Company. The third is Frances Hodgson Burnett's "Dawn of a Tomorrow," published by Charles Scribner's Sons.

NAUSEA AND SOCIALISM.

The Jungle. By Upton Sinclair. New York: Doubleday, Page & Co. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 413 pages. Price, $1.50.

THE Tendenz-Roman has hitherto been almost entirely a European institution, and so it needs to be explained, as the phrase "novel with a thesis," is hardly adequate to translate the idea. The Tendenz-Roman is a sort of sermon-novel, which hides its text behind a story. There are protective tariff novels and female suffrage novels, anti-dueling novels and anti-vaccination novels, forest culture novels and divorce novels. It is only to be wondered at that no evolutionist has written a protoplasma novel and no barnburner a lightningrod novel. In America we have hardly had this sort of fiction at all. We have read Charles Reade and Marie Corelli without suspicion of ulterior motives; as for our own literature, the Tendenz has been confined to books of very slight merits, like "In His Steps" and "Black Beauty." In fact, American literature has known hardly more than two notable Tendenz-Romane, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and "Looking Backward." Of late, writers like Robert Grant, Jack London and Thomas Dixon have shown a tendency to go in this way, but we trust they will get over it. The Tendenz-Roman is not a very exalted form of art.

"The Jungle" is a Tendenz-Roman, and an example of all the vices of its species. The cover informs us that Jack London has declared it to be "the 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' of wage-slavery," and that David Graham Phillips calls it "the greatest novel written in America in 50 years." No one need take these recommendations very seriously, for the gentlemen who utter them are only prentice novelists themselves, and even were they expert journeymen like Mr. Howells that would give but doubtful validity to their critical dicta. A novelist is usually a poor judge of other people's novels, because he judges them by his own. In this case the recommendations on the cover prove nothing except the exceeding modesty of the men who wrote them.

But on reading "The Jungle" one speedily discovers two things. First, that it is a somewhat amateurish product full of crude sensationalism. Secondly, that it preaches the brand of socialism and class hatred which Mr. London and Mr. Phillips are doing their worst to foster. Then it dawns upon the reader that Messrs. London and Phillips are trying to boom this book because its author sits in the same pew with them in church. Unless, indeed, it prove that Artemus Ward's Golden Rule, "You scratch my back and I scratch your back," has become a canon of literary socialism. There is circumstantial evidence to support this suspicion, as Mr. Sinclair describes "a young author who came from California and had been a salmon-fisher, an oyster-pirate, a longshoreman and a sailor; who had tramped the country and been sent to jail, had lived in the Whitechapel slums, and been to the Klondike in search of gold. All these things he pictured in his books, and because he was a man of genius he forced the world to hear him. Now he was famous, but wherever he went he still preached the gospel of the poor."

The worst that hitherto could be said against Upton Sinclair is that he perpetrated that inartistic literary hoax, "The Journal of Arthur Stirling," which was exposed on the Book Review page of The Gazette about three years ago. He has written three other books, "King Midas," a fairly good first novel; "Prince Hagen," a rather vapid fantasy; and "Manassas," a war novel of some power and superabundant verbosity. Mr. Sinclair writes as one drunk with words. In "The Jungle" the same weakness is evident. But here Mr. Sinclair has acquired yet another vice or two. He has now become addicted to slang and quotation marks. One of his characters is "a little more than half piped;" another finds certain newspaper advertisements are "fakes;" at another time Jurgis is described as evidently "on the bum." Quotation marks are as liberally peppered over every page as they are over street-car advertising signs, and are made, like charity, to cover a multitude of sins. Parentheses are also overworked.

These, however, are after all only the external fringe of the book; let us get at its soul. A hideous deformed thing it is! Zola scraped together all the filth and muck he could find, and distributed them about in malodorous heaps, and one heap he labeled "La Terre," and another he labeled "Nana," and another he labeled "L'Assommoir," and so on. But Mr. Sinclair has gone to one of the filthiest spots he could find, to Chicago's "Packingtown," and raked together all the filth within view, and, as Mr. Sinclair would say, he has "dumped" it all into this one novel, "The Jungle." There are chapters that would turn the stomach of an able-bodied whale.

UPTON SINCLAIR,
Author of "The Jungle."

At the same time, it cannot be denied that there is a brutal sincerity back of the book which nearly atones for the absence of art. Mr. Sinclair has seen suffering and iniquity, and he writes of them with bleeding heart. He has seen gilded vice and triumphant injustice, and he writes of them with burning indignation. But apparently he has seen nothing else. His novel is a chamber of horrors, a sewer exhaling foul stenches. It is full of sickening, disgusting details, and of blunt words that are in the Bible and the Elizabethan dramatists, but are never read aloud. Were it not for this esthetic insensibility, the novel might be likened to Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables," though Jurgis is no Jean Valjean. But such as it is, it can only be considered as a hideous nightmare, the result of eating embalmed beef and reading tracts of the Fabian society.

At the first performance of Gerhart Hauptmann's "Before Sunrise," in the last act, a wag in the audience threw a pair of obstetrical forceps upon the stage. If Herr Hauptmann has preserved the instrument, he ought to send it to Mr. Sinclair. The hero of that drama is also so expert in facts and figures that he ought to join forces with Herr Schliemann, the "philosophical anarchist," who appears in the closing chapters of "The Jungle." In these closing chapters the Tendenz of the book is plainly revealed. "Ecrasez l'Infame," Voltaire's famous motto, is applied to capitalism. "Vote the Socialist ticket" is Mr. Sinclair's panacea for all ills. Then CHICAGO WILL BE OURS!

He has picked out the unloveliest spot in what is perhaps the unloveliest city in this land; he has painted all its blackest phases a deeper black and studiously said nothing about its brighter side. Then he leaves us to infer that this foul and fetid Gehenna is a truthful picture of modern society and that Socialism is the only door of escape. The fundamental premise is a falsehood, and the deduction is a fallacy. Mr. London's "Sea Wolf" was a far more ingenious plea for Socialism.

About the only thing Mr. Sinclair's novel has in common with "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is its hopeless astigmatism to the brighter rays of the spectrum. Everything is atrabilious, with shades of violet, indigo and blue. Mrs. Stowe's novel, however partisan and unfair, was not demagogic; Mr. Sinclair's is rabidly so. It is, in fact, the worst example we have yet had of the lurid fiction produced by the young school of writers who have their pictures taken in sweaters, duck trousers or shirtsleeves, and pose as the apostles of a new economic dispensation, which sets aside Herbert Spencer and Charles Darwin for Karl Marx and Henry George. They would have us believe that the workingman is eaten alive by rats and that all smoked sausage is preserved with borax and colored with gelatine. There can be only one criticism offered upon books of this kind.

Ugh!

Which is defined by Webster as "an exclamation expressive of disgust, horror and recoil."

Daniel Maclise's Etching of Charles Lamb.

THE GENTLE ELIA.

The Life of Charles Lamb. By E. V. Lucas. New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. Two volumes, 550 pages each, illustrated. Price, $6.00.

If there is a more lovable figure than Lamb's in all English literature, except perhaps Oliver Goldsmith, the literary biographer has not unveiled it. For clear sunshine and sheer courage, for simple honesty and homely cheer, no writer has ever lived like the gentle Elia. He was, as Mr. Lucas says, "a man and brother first, an East India clerk next, and a writer afterwards." Yet his essays are among the rarest treasures of our shelves. Why this should be so Mr. Lucas makes plain in happy terms. "In a few words, it is this—because Elia describes with so much sympathy most of the normal feelings of mankind, because Lamb understands so much, and is so cheering to the lowly, so companionable to the luckless. He is always on the side of those who need a friend."

The life of this sympathetic figure was as full of pathos as of simple joy, and Mr. Lucas' two large volumes overflow with smiles and tears, so much unselfishness and kindly humor are on every page. Here we have the very Lamb described by Hazlitt, who "always made the best pun, and the best remark in the course of the evening. No one ever stammered out such fine, piquant, deep, eloquent things in half a dozen sentences as he does. His jests scald like tears; and he probes a question with a play upon words. There was no fuss or cant about him." This tribute from one who knew him so well is more eloquent than bronze or marble panegyric. And when we realize what a shadow of tragedy lay upon this house; that Mary Lamb, in a fit of insanity, had stabbed her mother to the heart; that Charles had put aside love and the joys of home to devote his life to this afflicted sister in "dual loneliness," then we realize that it is not necessary to go to Roman annals or Greek epic for the picture of a hero.

Talfourd's life of Lamb, which appeared in 1837, has hitherto been our chief source of knowledge respecting him. The memoir by Barry Cornwall was the tribute of a warm friend; the monograph by Canon Ainger was a study by an admiring scholar; and so it chanced that there has not been until now any adequate biography of the man whose life should tempt the biographer more than any other save Byron's and Shelley's. And it must be said that Mr. Lucas has fulfilled his function ideally. He has written with all his heart, the only way to appreciate Lamb. No one can be lukewarm here, either hot or cold. "Imperfect sympathy" argues perfect ignorance; to know Lamb is to love him.

Perhaps the only way to know him really is through his works. Elia's essays are as self-revelatory as sonnets are by orthodox tradition assumed to be. Yet there are phases of his life which were incommunicable by his pen—only a Boswell could do them justice. This role of a posthumous Boswell is played by Mr. Lucas. He has gathered up every bit of gossip about the Lamb who loved turnips and laughed so loudly at Hazlitt's wedding that he was nearly put out of the house. The result is one of the most sympathetic and intimate of literary biographies since Irving's "Goldsmith." Every lover of Lamb should read it, and every other that reads it will become a lover of Lamb.

MR. PLATO OF HARVARD.

The Life of Reason. By George Santayana. Volume III. — "Reason in Religion." Volume IV—"Reason in Art." Volume V—"Reason in Science." New York: Charles Scribner's Sons. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 270, 230 and 320 pages. Price, $1.25 each volume.

When the first two volumes of Prof. Santayana's system of philosophy appeared, I characterized him as a modern Greek, reasoning as Plato might reason today, after having heard "the fairy tales of science and the long result of time." The concluding volumes of this remarkable work afford no reason for deviating from that opinion. Poetic in the highest degree, sometimes almost flowery, Prof. Santayana's style reminds one of honey-lipped Plato. Then his sublime unconcern about the physical basis of his reasoning, the empiric side of science, is emphatically Greek and Platonic. What does he care for anthropology as he discourses about religion, yet he has by abstract inference and deduction arrived at the same results as a Tylor or a Payne. What does he care for experimental psychology as he discourses about esthetics, yet he has developed a theory of the beautiful conformable to concrete facts as well as Lombroso's. What does he care for Darwin or Helmholtz or Roentgen, yet his view of science comprehends all the arcana of patient observation and ingenious apparatus. He is the poet thinking by apperception, realizing by interior vision that things must be as they indeed are.

That he can be entertaining and epigrammatic, even while he is profound and poetic, will appear from a paragraph in the last volume. He is writing of prerational morality and says that:

> Proverbs depend for their truth entirely on the occasion they are applied to. Almost every wise saying has an opposite one, no less wise, to balance it; so that a man rich in such lore, like Sancho Panza, can always find a venerable maxim to fortify the view he happens to be taking. In respect to foresight, for instance, we are told, Make hay while the sun shines, A stitch in time saves nine, Honesty is the best policy, Murder will out, Woe unto you, ye hypocrites, Watch and pray, Seek salvation with trembling and Respice finem. But on the same authorities exactly we have opposite maxims, inspired by a feeling that mortal prudence is fallible, that life is shorter than policy, and that only the present is real; for we hear, A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush, Carpe diem, Ars longa, vita brevis, Be not righteous overmuch, Enough for the day is the evil thereof, Behold the lilies of the field, Judge not, that ye be not judged, Mind your own business, and It takes all sorts of men to make a world. So when some particularly shocking thing happens one man says, Cherchez la femme, and another says, Great is Allah.

It is over against Herbert Spencer that Santayana must be set, as Plato has his opposite in the hard-headed Aristotle. So suave in diction, so daring in speculative flights, and yet so soberly conformable to practical science, these five volumes will be a source of delightful stimulus to every poet and thinker.

AN ANABAPTIST MARTYR.

Balthasar Hubmaier. By Henry C. Vedder. New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 383 pages. Illustrated. Price, $1.35.

The leader of the Anabaptists is an interesting figure in church history. Born in 1481, within a few miles of Augsburg, of peasant stock; given a careful religious training and educated at the university of Freiburg; teaching later at Ingolstadt and coming under the influence of the Reformer Eck; winning fame as a preacher and entering into communication with the Swiss reformers, embracing the heretical doctrines and speedily drifting into the deeper heresy of Anabaptism; he suffered persecution and was finally burned alive, while his wife was thrown into the Danube with a millstone about her neck.

It does not appear from Dr. Vedder's researches that Hubmaier was a scholar or theologian of extraordinary parts, nor much more of a hero than Cranmer. It does appear, however, that religious controversy and partisan fury were but agencies that drove men into fiercer fanaticism and confirmed them in creeds opposed to tradition. A graphic picture is presented of the intolerance that marked this era of reformation, when even the greatest names are soiled by persecution and parvanimity. The life of Hubmaier constitutes an instructive, if not inspiring chapter in the history of ecclesiastical polemics and schism.

CURING BY FAITH.

Health and the Inner Life. By Horatio W. Dresser. New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 255 pages. Price, $1.35.

Mr. Dresser's book purports to be "an analytical and historical study of spiritual healing theories, with an account of the life and teachings of P. P. Quimby." Mr. Dresser holds that man is "a soul with a body, not a body with a soul," and that the soul can impart its own states to the body which clothes it. The historical part of Mr. Dresser's book is far more valuable than his philosophical excogitations. Among other things he tells how Mrs. Eddy (then Mrs. Patterson) was treated by Mr. Quimby in 1862. "I well remember the day when she was helped up the steps to his office on the occasion of her first visit for mental treatment. She was cured by him, and afterward became very much interested in his theory." Mr. Quimby thus appears as the grandfather of Christian Science. The philosophy of Mr. Dresser's book is a species of pantheistic idealism, somewhat vaguely expressed.

WITH TENNYSON'S NOTES.

In Memoriam. By Alfred Tennyson. Annotated by the Author. New York: The Macmillan Company. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 265 pages. Price, $1.

The new edition of Tennyson's great elegiac poem is of special interest because it contains the author's notes, now for the first time published. In addition to these notes, the volume contains an introduction by the present Lord Tennyson, which opens with views of the poem by Gladstone, Henry Sidgwick and Westcott, and includes interesting testimony concerning Tennyson's views of religion. There are also four unpublished poems, "omitted," says the author, "from 'In Memoriam' when I published, because I thought them redundant." The notes left by Tennyson, partly in his own handwriting, and partly dictated to his son, shed much light upon the poem, and will be welcomed by all who wish for a fuller and truer comprehension of what Gladstone called "perhaps the richest oblation ever offered by friendship at the tomb of the departed."

BRIDGE IN 57 VARIETIES.

Foster's Complete Bridge. By R. F. Foster. New York: McClure, Phillips & Co. 324 pages, illustrated. Price, $1.50.

Mr. Foster in his introduction says that "since the rules were first published in London, in 1886, no fewer than 56 standard works on the game have appeared." Mr. Foster's work is therefore the 57th—and we do not see that any more are needed, for this handbook is complete though concise, and contains everything a player could wish to know, whether in the history or the strategy of the game.

ON THE 13TH PAGE.

The Perfume of Eros. By Edgar Saltus. New York: A. Wessels Company. 223 pages. Price, $1.25.

On the 13th page of this novel there appears a girl "adorably constructed. Her mouth resembled the red pulp of some flower of flesh. Her eyes were pools of purple, her hair a turban of gold.

"Cannibalistically Loftus looked the delicious apparition up and down. He could have eaten it."

I read no further. Still there are people who say 13 is not an unlucky number.

ANTHOLOGY OF CHILD VERSE.

Songs of Mother and Child. Collected and Arranged by Lida B. McMurry and Agnes Cook Gale. 204 pages. Price, $1.

Many familiar poems, sad and gay, are gathered into the attractive volume. Every mother and every lover of children will turn its pages with pleasure. Though Riley and Field are missing, such poets as Longfellow, Swinburne, Tennyson and Patmore are represented, with scores of others. The volume is very charmingly bound.

RECOMMENDED FOR INSOMNIA.

Hartford. By William Colegrove. Boston: Richard G. Badger. 111 pages. Price, $1.25.

To write an epic of 2,200 verses in the meter of "Evangeline" and entitle it "Hartford," is courting destruction. Mr. Colegrove's hexameters drag their serpentine length painfully through the bog of a commonplace plot. The poem meanders monotonously along thus:

Soon were assembled apart all the members composing the council,
Eager to hear the report, but embarrassed with grave apprehension,
Sumner then told them his story in order with careful minuteness,
Starting on Monday, he journeyed till Tuesday late in the evening—
Finding in Boston that Worthington has his men ready for marching.
Having delivered his message, the men were dismissed with great pleasure;
And 'twas arranged to return to the camp on the following morning.
Sumner remained over-night with a former acquaintance in Boston,
Worthington going to stay with a friend of his living at Newtown.

There are 111 pages of this, and it can be highly recommended for insomnia.

NEW EDUCATIONAL BOOKS.

Silver, Burdett & Co. have just issued several text-books of exceptional merit in their various fields. "The Making of the American Nation," by J. W. Redway, is a history for elementary schools, giving special prominence to geographic, economic and industrial aspects. Even railroad pools and rebates are touched upon, while trusts are also explained to the young mind. Maps and illustrations are numerous and good. "Giant Sun and His Family" is a popular astronomical treatise by Mary Proctor, the daughter of the late Richard A. Proctor. No fairy tale could be more interesting than this wonder book of science, with its many excellent illustrations. "The Elements of English Grammar," by A. L. Bartlett and H. L. McBain, seems to be an admirable volume in a field that has lain somewhat fallow while fads have flourished.

Among the new volumes of supplementary reading issued by the American Book Company are "Robinson Crusoe for Children," rewritten by James Baldwin; "Baldwin's Thirty More Famous Stories Retold," by James Baldwin, the stories being such as those of Columbus and the Egg, Galileo and the Lamps, Sir Isaac Newton and the Apple, James Watt and the Teakettle, the Man in the Iron Mask, the Fall of Troy, etc.; "Waste Not, Want Not Stories," retold by Clifton Johnson, being nine stories from Maria Edgeworth's "Parents' Assistant;" and two volumes in the "World at Work" series—"Fishing and Hunting," by Sarah M. Mott, and "In Field and Pasture," by Maude B. Dutton, both being ethnology in simple story form.

MAGAZINE NOTES.

The March Atlantic contains a paper on "Love of Wealth and the Public Service," by Prof. F. W. Taussig, editor of the Quarterly Journal of Economics; "Some Equivocal Rights of Labor," by George W. Alger; "Shakespeare and the Stage," by John Corbin, and "Anatole France," by Bradford Torrey.

The March Century contains a paper by Joseph Bucklin Bishop telling of his friendship with the late Secretary of State John Hay. In this number also appears an article on "The Jews in Roumania," from Carmen Sylva, the queen of Roumania. Charles de Kay has prepared an illustrated description of "The New York Custom House." Besides the serials of Mrs. Humphry Ward and S. Weir Mitchell, the fiction includes tales by L. Frank Tooker and others. "The Garden of the Sun," an account of Sicily and travel there, was found among the literary remains of William Sharp.

In the March Harper's Bishop Talbot of central Pennsylvania contributes some amusing recollections of his adventures among western mining camps when he was bishop of Idaho. Charles W. Furlong describes a thrilling "Night's Ride with Arab Bandits," over the sun-parched and lizard-infested Sahara. There is an article on "Ibex-shooting in the Mountains of Baltistan," by Joseph Clark Grew. Jennie Brooks tells about the "Ways of the Kentucky Cardinal" in a charming bird article. Henry James writes of old New York around the neighborhood of Washington Square, and President Thwing describes the University of Geneva and the famous men who have been associated with it. Margaret Deland's story, "The Awakening of Helena Ritchie," is continued, and there are short stories by Alice Brown, Thomas A. Janvier, Marie Manning, Grace Denio Litchfield and others. The frontispiece of the number is from a painting by Edwin A. Abbey, illustrating King Henry IV.

Lippincott's Magazine for March has "A Social Privateer," by Francis Willing Wharton, as its complete novelette. Ina Brevoort Roberts contributes an amusing satire of a game of cards, "For Sweet Charity's Sake." Will Levington Comfort contributes the story of a fine-grained Irishman who loves a red-haired girl, and Jennette Lee weaves a far-above-the-average tale called "Wings." "Personal Recollections of Jean Ingelow," by G. B. Stuart, will interest the literary.

Heart Weakness

The action of the heart depends upon the heart nerves and muscles. When from any cause they become weak or exhausted, and fail to furnish sufficient power, the heart flutters, palpitates, skips beats; and in its effort to keep up its work, causes pain and distress, such as smothering spells, short breath, fainting, pain around heart, arm and shoulders. The circulation is impeded, and the entire system suffers from lack of nourishment.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure makes a heart strong and vigorous by strengthening these nerves and muscles.

"I had palpitation and pain around my heart, and the doctors said it was incurable. I don't believe it now, for after taking six bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, three bottles of the Nervine and three boxes of the Nerve and Liver Pills I am entirely cured, and feel better than I have for five years, and it is all due to these remedies. I want you to know that your medicines cured me. It relieved me from the first dose, and I kept right on till the pain in my chest was gone, and I kept on feeling better even after I quit taking it." JOHN H. SHERMAN, Belding, Mich.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails he will refund your money.

SOCIETY

Contributions to this department must bear the name and address of the writer to insure attention.

MRS. Mary Temple Jamison of McDonald, known in literary circles as "Meg," has just returned from a visit with Mrs. Vinnie Ream Hoxie, the sculptor, of Washington, D. C. During her stay in the Capital city Mrs. Jamison was extensively feted and received on each Tuesday with Mrs. Hoxie at the latter's regular at-homes, which are attended by such guests as Mrs. Robley Evans, Mrs. Dewey, Mrs. Taft, Mrs. Foraker, Mrs. Shaw and Mrs. Fairbanks, all of whom Mrs. Jamison met and at whose homes she called. Mrs. Hoxie also gave a Sunday afternoon at home for Mrs. Jamison, at which she met the feminine newspaper writers of Washington. Mrs. Hoxie's husband, Lieut.-Col. Hoxie, is stationed in Baltimore. He entertained for Mrs. Jamison on his ship in the Baltimore harbor. Mrs. Hoxie and her husband, then Maj. Hoxie, spent several years in Pittsburgh, when the latter was stationed on the Ohio. Mrs. Hoxie is the only woman the United States government has ever honored by placing her statue of Farragut in Farragut square, Washington and a bust of Lincoln in the capitol building.

Students Hold Annual "Prom."

The annual junior promenade of the engineering and collegiate departments of the Western University of Pennsylvania was held last evening in the ballroom of the Hotel Schenley. T. L. Douglas, W. C. Arthurs, C. M. Hartman, E. R. Weise, W. C. Fisher and R. B. Thomp composed the committee in charge of the "prom," which was given under the patronage of Dr. and Mrs. Samuel B. McCormick, Dr. and Mrs. Daniel Carhart, Dr. and Mrs. Francis Phillips, Dr. and Mrs. Albert E. Frost, Dr. and Mrs. Alexander M. Hunter, Professor and Mrs. J. A. Smith, Professor and Mrs. Ferdinand Berger, Professor D. M. Des Islet, Professor and Mrs. J. C. Fetterman, Professor and Mrs. S. M. Taylor, Professor H. C. George, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Thaw, Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Copley Thaw, Dr. and Mrs. William J. Holland, Dr. and Mrs. John A. Brashear, Mr. and Mrs. George Hubbard Clapp, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Dempster, Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Hope, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew W. Mellon, Judge and Mrs. John D. Shafer, Mr. and Mrs. T. Harlan B. MacKnight, Daniel H. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Scott, William E. Hays and James Welman.

Bridal Couple Will Go Abroad.

After their wedding on Tuesday of next week Miss Edith Lang and William A. Seifert will leave for New York, expecting to sail on March 3 for a tour of European countries. They will be at home in McKeesport, where Mr. Seifert practices law, days having been announced for after July 1. The wedding will take place at 6:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. William Lang, in Termon avenue, Allegheny. The Rev. Dr. D. H. Geissinger, pastor of the First English Lutheran church, will perform the ceremony, and the bridal party will include Miss Marie Wachob as maid of honor, Miss Agnes Lyons of Arcola, Ill., as bridesmaid, Laird Lang as best man and Oliver Eaton as groomsman. William Lang of Richmond, Va., who, with Mrs. Lang, will be the only out-of-town guests, will give his sister away.

Mrs. Denny Is Hostess.

Mrs. John H. Ricketson, Jr., Mrs. B. F. Jones, Jr., Mrs. George C. Burgwin, Mrs. George McKee, Miss Isabel Chalfant, Mrs. James M. Schoonmaker and Mrs. George Irwin Holdship won the prizes at Mrs. Harmar D. Denny's bridge party yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Denny entertained with seven tables of bridge at her home in Ridge avenue, Allegheny, having no special guest of honor. The prizes, one for each table, were dainty silk embroidered boxes filled with beautiful French embroidered handkerchiefs. Mrs. Alexander Laughlin, Jr., and Mrs. A. Marshall Bell presided at the tea table at the close of the games.

Plans for Quiet Wedding.

The wedding of Miss Florence Bell Alrich and Harvey Schumacher next Thursday evening will be quietly conducted, with only the relatives in attendance. The Rev. Dr. Frank N. Sneed, pastor of the East Liberty Presbyterian church, will solemnize the marriage at 8 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Alrich, in Shady avenue, East End. Miss Ethel Pew of Bryn Mawr will be the bride's only attendant, while her brother, William Alrich, will serve as Mr. Schumacher's best man.

Euchre Dinner for a Dozen.

Mrs. Charles L. Taylor of Ellsworth avenue was hostess at a euchre dinner of 12 covers last evening, her guests including Mrs. Noel C. O'Brien of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dalken, Mr. and Mrs. Hew C. Torrance, Mr. and Mrs. Omar Scott Decker, Harry Rano, Mrs. William Boyd, Mrs. Charles Alexander Rook and Robert Pitcairn, Jr. A wicker horn of plenty filled with red roses was the centerpiece on the dinner table and the favors were little trifles appropriate to Washington's birthday.

Concert at the College.

Under the direction of Miss Cory, a delightful musicale was given at the Pennsylvania College for Women last evening. The program, which included piano and vocal numbers, was given by Miss Lelia Gilchrist, Miss Davis, Miss Nellie Webb, Miss Alice Faunce, Miss Margaret Lowry, Miss Emma Coulter, Miss Frances Gray, Miss Marcia Hoyt, Miss Hazel Kirkwood, Miss Lilla Green, Miss Vera Lewis, Miss Elsa Jerocl, Miss Regia Butler and Miss Weiss. The concert was given in Dilworth hall.

Gives Buffet Luncheon.

Mrs. Edward H. Jennings, a recent bride; Mrs. Robert Pogue of Cincinnati, and Mrs. A. A. Coles of Detroit, shared honors yesterday at the buffet luncheon given by Mrs. William Rittenhouse Kuhn of Aiken avenue. From 1 until 3, the hours for the entertainment, Mrs. Kuhn was assisted by Mrs. Murry A. Verner, Mrs. John J. Brooks, Mrs. Howard M. Hooker, Miss McCullough, Mrs. W. C. Ames and Miss Jean Kincaid.

Mother and Sisters Receive.

At the bridge party which Mrs. George Rankin of Kentucky avenue gave yesterday, her mother, Mrs. Theodore Brown, and her sister, Miss Minnie Brown, received with the hostess. At the 11 tables brought into use for the games, the prizes were won by Mrs. H. B. Shidle, Miss Jean Dunlevy, Mrs. Harry Letsche, Mrs. Johns McCleave, Mrs. Harry Porterfield and Mrs. Frank Pearson.

Mrs. Sweeney's Bridge Today.

Mrs. Gilliford B. Sweeney of South Negley avenue will be hostess at cards this afternoon. There will be no guest of honor. Both bridge and "five hundred" will be played, and an innovation will be introduced in the awarding of the prizes. Twelve tables will be in use.

Notes of Society.

Mrs. Frank R. Stoner of Sewickley gave an informal bridge party yesterday afternoon.

A fancy dress dance was given in the Bellefield club for the club members last evening.

Mrs. George Taylor Clarkson of Stratford avenue will entertain with a small bridge party this afternoon.

A social for the teachers of the Sewickley Methodist Episcopal Sunday school was held in the church parlors last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Murry A. Verner will entertain a few friends at bridge this evening at "Cathalyce Park," their home in Penn avenue.

Mrs. F. O. Van Gorder of South Negley avenue will entertain at bridge next Friday afternoon in honor of Mrs. W. W. Wilson of Germantown.

Miss Louise Long of North Negley avenue yesterday gave a small and informal luncheon in honor of Miss Maude E. Hunter, a bride-elect of March.

Mrs. Joseph B. Rankin of Thorn street, Sewickley, entertained at bridge yesterday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Rankin's mother, Mrs. Sarah Gilliam of Mount Vernon. About 25 guests were present.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Palmer of North Craig street entertained a few friends at bridge last evening to meet their visiting friend, Miss McAlpine of Rochester, N. Y., also Mrs. A. A. Coles of Detroit and Mrs. Robert Pogue of Cincinnati, who are visiting Mrs. John Jennings Brooks.

Miss Jennie Bruce of Bellevue was hostess last evening at a dinner in honor of her cousin, Miss Roberta Quaill, whose marriage to John H. Bragdon will occur in June. Covers were laid for twenty-six. This afternoon Miss Bruce will entertain a number of young people with a fancy work party.

Mrs. Wilson H. Luce of Sewickley gave a 4 o'clock tea yesterday in honor of Mrs. Frank Hays, formerly of the East End. Mrs. Archibald L. George presided at the tea table, and assisting were Mrs. James Todd, Mrs. Joseph Rohrbacher, Mrs. E. R. Dravo, Mrs. G. E. Tener, Mrs. William Arrott and Miss Marie Dravo.

Pineapple and Celery Salad.

Shred a ripe pineapple; set on ice until thoroughly chilled; mix with one cupful of finely chopped crisp white celery, and a sweet red pepper cut into dice. Sprinkle over this a little French dressing, and let stand a few minutes. Then mix with mayonnaise and whipped cream and garnish with nut meats. Serve on lettuce leaves.

Woman Invents Packing Aid to Keep Clothes Fresh in Trunks

A society woman who travels much has patented a clothes hanger that, her friends say, will revolutionize the old-fashioned methods of packing trunks and economize closet room in small flats, as well as in cramped traveling accommodations, not to mention being a boon to the short woman who now stands on chairs to reach the hooks in her closets.

The invention was not worked out because the woman wanted something to occupy her time, but because she spent 10 months out of the year traveling, and to keep her clothes in condition it became necessary for her to rig up some kind of a contrivance that would keep them from getting mussed and wrinkled while in her trunks, and orderly when hanging in her closet.

Her greatest difficulty was in hotels in France and Germany, where the hooks were all so high that she had to stand on chairs to reach them. Several bad falls and a few black and blue spots as a result decided her upon attempting an invention that would enable her to reach the high hangers without endangering life and limbs.

A long narrow shank of wire with a big hook on the end was first thought of. The hook was to be attached to the high hangers in the closet and on the bottom of it a wire coat support was attached by means of a screw. This was satisfactory, but to have one of these for every waist, jacket and coat, besides others for skirts, etc., would be a nuisance, so she studied out a plan to make a hat, skirt and jacket hanger all on one piece and in this way have fewer to take up space in her trunk. She accomplished this after much mathematical calculation by making a duplicate of the first hook and hanger and fastening it upside down with screws, so that it could be easily adjusted. In this way she had a hook at the bottom for a skirt hanger and the cross wire for a jacket or waist and could use the wrap support at the top by reversing it, so that the prongs would be upright and could be used for hat hangers, or for another jacket when in a natural position.

Not content with an invention that would not meet all the needs for traveling, she went to work at the hanger in the hope of making it into some kind of an arrangement that would keep her gowns from being wrinkled when packed for several weeks. She found this the most difficult and yet the simplest of all the contrivances, and after days of struggles suddenly discovered that by turning both coat hangers outward and sharpening the ends, so that they could be fastened securely into the sides of the trunk, that she had the desired contrivance for keeping her dresses in place and a method of preventing them from slipping and rumpling when the trunk was rolled around and turned end over end. She immediately had enough of these shanks made for 12 complete hangers, and in packing her trunks separated gowns, furs, coats, etc., by this new invention. A gown or perhaps three were carefully folded and placed in the trunk, and above them the invention was screwed into place. To make them attractive and hold the sides of the clothing more securely ribbons were attached to the cross pieces and tied in pretty bows.

One or two trips proved the practical value of her invention both for use in trunks and in closets, and she was so delighted with her mechanical success that she had a lot of them made and sent them to her friends.

She was besieged with letters asking if she would sell them some of her hangers, and had such persistent offers that she finally decided to have a patent taken out on her hook.

"Bridge" Debts Causing Women to Pawn Gems and Other Valuables

Women are pawning their jewels nowadays to pay "bridge" debts. Since they have been playing for such high stakes they sometimes get loans of $1,500 and $2,000 in a day on diamonds, pearls, etc., according to an up-town money lender of New York.

"Jewelry that has been in the family for generations they pawn lightly," he says, "and will part with anything from a christening present for their first born baby to their own engagement ring to get money for the game that is so popular now.

"A well-known woman came here recently and pledged her jewels for $1,000 to pay some losses, and told me that she had to make the money good and didn't want to ask her husband for it.

"She got the loan, of course, and told us that she would redeem her rings, necklace, etc., as soon as she could win enough money back, for if she went long without her jewelry her husband would notice their absence and insist upon knowing where they were. About two weeks later she came in with enough to make good the pledge, and in paying for them told me that bridge had been the means of separating herself and husband.

"'He didn't notice my not wearing them,' she said, 'until one night at a dinner party when some of the women with whom I had played when I lost the big stake jokingly asked me about them, and incidentally asked if I hadn't won enough to get them back. I tried to pass it off laughingly, but after the guests were gone my husband insisted upon knowing all about the jewels. I told him, and he was so disgusted that there was a scene and we agreed that as long as I played bridge we had better live apart. Since then he has told me that he would get a divorce.'

"She is only one of many women who have had trouble with their husbands over the game, but they will not give it up, and come in to pawn the jewels one day and if they have luck get them out the next.

"There is one prominent woman who regularly pawns a thousand dollars' worth of jewels every month, and if she can raise enough money to get them out before the end of the 30 days then she pledges them a second time. Her income is $1,000 a month, and frequently she gets twice the sum, and when she does she redeems her jewels so that she can get another loan on them. This money is not all spent on bridge, though a large part of it goes that way, for out of this allowance she must buy her clothes and pay for her living expenses.

"Frequently women come in here and taking off a handsome fur coat or sable collar and muff, ask for a loan on them, saying that they need the money to buy a $25 or $40 hat, and if it is not purchased right away the milliner will not promise to hold it. As soon as the garments are pledged they call a cab so that they will not take cold or look unusual without furs or wraps and drive off to get the desired hat.

"Occasionally women hurry in and pledge a ring, or a set of furs, or even a handsome rare lace handkerchief, to get money for a luncheon or a matinee. They explain that they didn't expect to meet some friends and came off without much change and no bank book. It is not unusual for a woman who has lost her purse to come in and leave her rings to get enough money to finish her shopping."

THE GAZETTE PATTERN.

Boys' Russian Blouse Suit.

The smart little Russian suits, made to be worn with full trousers underneath, have always been popular for little boys and are as suitable for the lightweight woolens as for the washable fabrics. The little trousers are in knickerbocker style, elastic bands confining the fullness at the knee. A patent leather belt or one of the same material may be worn. Cashmere, serge, flannel, pique and linen are all appropriate for the design. The medium size requires 1⅞ yards of 54-inch material.

Children's Food.

Dr. Robert Harvey recently addressed a gathering of mothers in Chicago on the "Nutriment of Children."

In the course of the lecture Dr. Harvey gave sample meals for babies of various ages. For the baby of one year the list included, besides milk, soups and broths, orange juice, bread crusts, yolks of eggs, soft boiled, and bacon. The list of meals for one day for a child of 2 years was something as follows:

First Meal—Barley water, oatmeal with sugar and cream, soft-boiled egg with stale bread crumbs, juice of orange or any ripe fruit.

Second Meal—Eight ounces milk, warm, bacon.

Third Meal—Beef juice, one tablespoon apple sauce, cracker, milk.

Fourth Meal—Eight ounces milk, warm, w.... barley water.

After the baby is 18 months old he should have jelly for dessert with lady fingers. Candy should not be given babies until they are 2 years old, when, in Dr. Harvey's opinion, they may have home-made molasses candy occasionally with their meals as dessert. He believes that a taste for sweets should not be cultivated in children, and if this is practiced, he says, they will not cry for candy.

Association Doing Missionary Work.

A petition has been received by the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Free Kindergarten association to offer another scholarship during the coming year, or in some way provide for an assistant to work with Miss Lydia Kasparova in the kindergarten established last fall at McKees Rocks by the Shadyside Presbyterian church. For two years and a half the association has been doing missionary work along this line, having trained Miss Kasparova, who came from Bohemia, to study kindergarten work with the purpose of working among the great numbers of foreigners in the outlying districts. Since she has started her school at McKees Rocks she has been most successful in some ways, though there have been many discouragements. The parents of the children do not take kindly to the week day kindergarten, and yesterday Miss Kasparova reported an attendance of only 25. She has a small room for the school. In it are placed 30 chairs, but on Sunday she has classes of the older boys and girls, as many as 70 crowding into the room at one time. During the past two years the association has also been educating a young Cuban girl, Miss Cueto, who at the close of this year expects to go back to Cuba to take up kindergarten work there. The faculty of the college and the managers of the association are especially pleased with the progress she has made, though handicapped first by a very limited knowledge of English. She is especially successful with the little children in the games and stories. The Pittsburgh and Allegheny Free Kindergarten association yesterday held its regular monthly meeting. Miss Kasparova presented her report and Miss Olga Kropff, director of the Fifth ward kindergarten No. 1, Allegheny, also gave a picture of the school work there. The benefit committee announced that the sale of tickets and the preparation of the program for the matinee in the Nixon theater March 14, with Miss Viola Allen in "The Toast of the Town," are progressing finely. Four of the boxes have already been sold. The association has just issued its annual report which, in addition to the reports of all the officers and reports from the kindergartens, contains an excellent picture of Miss Georgia Allison, the late supervisor, whose death last fall caused a vacancy which the association has not yet filled.

Tells of Washington's Home Life.

Mrs. Daniel Cullor of Washington, D. C., spoke yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the women in the Soho Baths Settlement house. Mrs. Cullor was formerly president of the women's college in Washington, and told of her visits to Mt. Vernon, the home of George Washington, giving many interesting glimpses of Washington's home life from his childhood. Mrs. Samual A. Ammon also spoke on patriotism, while Mrs. E. C. Lockwood sang a number of songs. The occasion was a Washington tea party given for the women of the neighborhood, by the Soho Baths Settlement house committee, under the direction of the mothers department, composed of Mrs. L. O. Livingston and Mrs. Jane A. Hall.

Reading from "The Rivals."

George Kiernan, who has given many successful readings of Joseph Jefferson's plays, will appear in Pittsburgh on Monday evening in the Pittsburgh Conservatory of Music, Dithridge street, when he will give a reading from Sheridan's play, "The Rivals." A number of well known society people are acting as patronesses for the entertainment, among the guarantors being Mrs. James M. Schoonmaker, Mrs. Alexander R. Peacock, Mrs. David Aiken, Jr., Mrs. James H. Lockhart, Mrs. George W. Dilworth, Mrs. Durbin Horne and others. Mr. Kiernan has been having much success in New York and Philadelphia, where he has appeared a number of times.

Will Give Colonial Tea in March.

The John Hart chapter, Children of the American Revolution, will give its colonial tea on Friday afternoon, March 9, in the Thurston Preparatory school, Shady avenue, East End. There has been some delay in arranging for the dances which will be presented, and the tea which was to have been held during the last of February has been postponed until March. The first rehearsal for the minuet will be held next Tuesday. All the members of the chapter will appear at the tea in colonial costume.

Missionary Women Entertain.

The Ladies Missionary society of the Allegheny Covenanter church gave the members and friends of the congregation a pleasant evening in the lecture room of the church last evening. The literary and musical program was contributed by the members of the society, among whom were Mrs. Orr, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Porter, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. McWilliams, Mrs. Slater, Mrs. Rice, Mrs. Coleman, Miss Fleissner and Mrs. Wallace. Refreshments were served, followed by a pleasant social time.

Civic Club Meeting Postponed.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Civic club of Allegheny county was postponed from yesterday afternoon to next Thursday. This was done that the directors might hear the reports from the lecture which Burr MacIntosh will give on Monday evening in the Carnegie Music hall under the auspices and for the benefit of the Civic club.

Meeting of Southern Women.

The Women's Southern society gave a resume of the holidays, or red-letter days of the month at its meeting yesterday, commemorating on the one occasion, Washington's birthday anniversary, the anniversary of Lincoln's birth and St. Valentine's day.

A Quick Dessert.

One of the daintiest of desserts and one that can be prepared in a surprisingly short time is called Dresden chocolate crumbs. It is one of those fascinating dainties so skilfully blended of ordinary materials that the trained palate will often fail to detect the component parts.

Mix one cup of stale bread crumbs with one-half cup grated unsweetened chocolate, two tablespoonfuls sugar and one-fourth teaspoonful salt. Put in a pan and bake in moderate oven until the chocolate is thoroughly melted and the crumbs well heated. Fill individual paper cases with this mixture and top with whipped cream sweetened and flavored with vanilla.

BIGELOW A LOSER AT HIS OWN GAME

Director Tries to Forestall Dr. Burns and Latter Breaks a Quorum of Select.

NEW ATTACK ON THE B. & O.

Director Bigelow ordered a special meeting of select council for yesterday afternoon, but he was not able to get a quorum. Going out of office with no patronage or other favors to bestow Mr. Bigelow's power is not as potent as it once was.

The special meeting was called by President Wightman at the request of Director Bigelow, to put through the tax levy and appropriations bills for 1906 and to forestall the efforts of Dr. Burns to get action on the Brand light resolution ahead of the tax bills. Dr. Burns was partly responsible for the failure to get a quorum yesterday. He gave Mr. Bigelow some of his own medicine. The director had prevented quorums whenever Dr. Burns had a meeting called to act on the light matter, and Dr. Burns yesterday turned the tables on the director. When the roll was called, only 13 members, or seven short of a quorum, answered to their names, although 20 members were in the city hall a few minutes before, Dr. Burns and several members leaving as the roll was called.

Director Bigelow announces that he intends to go away for a rest for several weeks as soon as the tax bills are through councils. If a meeting had been held yesterday he expected them to go through not later than Monday.

Both branches of councils will hold a regular semi-monthly meeting on Monday. Two meetings of select are called, a special meeting at 2:30 o'clock adjourned by Dr. Burns and his friends from Wednesday afternoon, and the regular meeting set for 3 o'clock. If Dr. Burns fails to get a quorum at 2:30 o'clock the body can begin its regular meeting at 3 o'clock, act on the tax bills and then adjourn before the light resolution is reached, which is in the order of unfinished business.

Opponents of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad in councils are said to be busy with a scheme to repeal the franchise granted the company two years ago for a new passenger and freight station on the Monongahela wharf. The company, after a fight of two years, succeeded in getting the franchise for an extension of its terminal on the wharf. The plan is revoke the franchise is based on the ground that the company has not kept its agreement to build the new station, and that the city is being deprived of the increased rental which the company agreed to pay. It has been paying the city $3,000 per year for the right to occupy the wharf, and agreed to pay $10,000 per year for the new franchise. The company obtained permission of the Unitetd States government to extend its property on the wharf below the harbor line, but work has not been started on the new station.

The company's ordinances for the transfer of its tracks in Junction hollow, Schenley park, are pending in common council, but will probably die there with the expiration of the present councils the first of April.

FRANCIES PROMISES TO HINDER DAN CUPID

Allegheny Postmaster Makes Investigation That Threatens Unpleasant Revelations.

Sitting under his student's lamp diligently perusing a musty volume of Uncle Sam's postal regulations one night last autumn, Postmaster John Francies inadvertently encountered, near the bottom of a yellow page, an obscure paragraph. It held his attention and caused him to muse on its significance. Later it started in progress an investigation in the Allegheny postoffice that will extend into many a household of the North Side and may result in a number of domestic revolutions.

The paragraph relates to the delivery of mail addressed to minors, and in substance is to the effect that all such matter shall be delivered either to the parents or the guardians of youths and maidens. This explanation is sufficient, according to Mr. Francies, in light of what he had learned during the months his quest for evidence has been pursued. Some really shocking revelations have been the fruits of this quiet investigation, Mr. Francies says, and when parents of a large number of boys and girls in Allegheny read through some of the mail that is addressed to the general delivery department, certain youngsters will be taken upstairs and dealt with in the good old-fashioned way.

In short, there has been a lot of highly improper correspondence carried on. Young girls with undue precocity in the matter of choosing for themselves companions and correspondents, have patronized the general delivery window to hide from their elders a state of affairs that will not cause joy in the homes affected. Mr. Francies says it is a matter that concerns only those whose sons and daughters are guilty of this species of indiscretion, and for this reason he will not talk about it further than to say that he has given orders that all such mail, addressed to minors, must in the future be delivered only to parents or guardians.

FISH QUITS INSURANCE.

Prominent New Yorker Follows Resignation from Committee by Withdrawing Altogether.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Stuyvesant Fish today sent to Charles A. Peabody, president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, his resignation as a member of the Mutual's board of trustees. No explanation was made. Mr. Fish on February 16 resigned his membership on the company's investigating committee.

"Now that you have resigned from the board," Mr. Fish was asked, "are you likely to assume any different attitude toward a policyholders' movement?"

"No," he replied. "I have never given such an idea the slightest encouragement, nor do I now intend to do so."

ALLEGED CROOKS ARRESTED.

Detectives and Police Make Important Capture Early This Morning.

Mickey Coleman and Eddie Deal, said to be professional safeblowers and all around thieves, were arrested at 2:30 o'clock this morning in Elm street by Detective Elmer Crooks and Lieut. Charles McAfee of the South Side police. For several days past there have been robberies reported on the South Side, money, diamonds and other valuable jewelry being taken.

Coleman and Deal were seen by Lieut. McAfee on several occasions, and a watch was kept on the pair, resulting in their arrest this morning. When searched a number of pawn tickets for jewelry was found. Deal is said to have a prison record.

COURT KEEPS YOUNG SPANG IN HOSPITAL

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 23.—(Special.)—Frederick Spang, the son of a wealthy Pittsburgh family, who, after voluntarily submitting to treatment for the drug habit at the Pennsylvania hospital, made application to the court to be liberated, was refused his request today in quarter sessions court. The plaintiff desired to go to Florida. He is under treatment in the insane department. Young Spang will have to remain until the institution discharges him.

Name Andrews for Governor.

MEADVILLE, PA., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—The Crawford county Republican committee met this afternoon and set Friday, March 23, for the county primaries. Resolutions were unanimously adopted naming Congressman Arthur L. Bates for renomination, W. P. Andrews for governor, and approving the course of President Roosevelt, Gov. Pennypacker and Senators Penrose and Knox.

A MOTHER'S LOVE.

What is More Beautiful than a Mother's Love?

"Who ran to help me when I fell
And would some pretty story tell,
Or kiss the place to make it well.
My mother."

A mother's worries are many. She sometimes forgets her own bodily discomforts because of her overpowering love for the child. She becomes broken down, sleepless, nervous, irritable and feels tired from morning until night. Many mothers of experience can tell you that at such a time they have been relieved, benefited and strengthened and put into proper health by taking a prescription which their mothers had told them was the best woman's tonic and nervine to be taken at such times. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has enjoyed an enviable reputation for over a third of a century. In all that time it has sold more largely in the United States than any other tonic for woman's needs, and to-day its sales are greater than ever. Dr. Pierce made up this prescription from native medicinal roots without the use of a particle of alcohol and for the single purpose of curing those diseases peculiar to women and when there is a lack of womanly strength to bear the burdens of maternal duty. How few women come to this critical time with adequate strength. The reason why so many women sink under the strain of motherhood is because they are unprepared. Is preparation then required for motherhood? asks the young woman. And every experienced mother answers—"Yes." "I unhesitatingly advise expectant mothers to use Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. J. W. G. Stephens, of Mila, Va. The reason for this advice is that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best preparative for the maternal function. No matter how healthy and strong a woman may be, she cannot use "Favorite Prescription" as a preparative for maternity without gain of health and comfort. But it is the women who are not strong who best appreciate the great benefits received from the use of "Favorite Prescription." For one thing its use makes the baby's advent practically painless. It has in many cases reduced days of suffering to a brief few hours. It has changed the period of anxiety and struggle into a time of ease and comfort.

A DUTY WOMEN OWE THEMSELVES.

"Good actions speak louder than words," so, too does the testimony of many thousands of women during a third of a century speak louder than mere claims not backed by any such record of cures.

Miss Emma Petty, 1126 S. Olive Street, Indianapolis, Ind., Past Vice-President, Daughters of Pocahontas, Minneola Council, also Organist, South Baptist Church, Indianapolis, writes: "For several years I suffered with leucorrhœa, which was a serious drain on my vitality, sapping my strength and causing severe headaches, bearing-down pains and a general worn-out feeling, until I really had no desire to live. I had many medicines recommended to me and tried many, but did not get permanent relief until I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. In two months I was much better and stronger, and in four months I was well. Have had no more disagreeable discharge, no more pain; so I have every reason to praise 'Favorite Prescription.' I consider it without an equal for ills of women."

All the ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription are printed in plain English on each bottle wrapper. Dr. Pierce thereby shows that he is not afraid to tell his patients just what this medicine is made of. This is not true of any other medicine especially designed for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments. This "Prescription" is also the only woman's medicine sold through druggists that does not contain a large percentage of alcohol; it contains not a drop.

As an indication of the high esteem in which the medical profession are coming to regard the several ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for weak and ailing women is composed, we have room here to insert only the following:

Dr. John Fyfe, of Saugatuck, Conn., Editor of the Department of Therapeutics in THE ELECTRIC REVIEW says of Unicorn root (Helonias Dioica) one of the chief ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription: "A remedy which invariably acts as a uterine invigorator and always favors a condition which makes for normal activity of the entire reproductive system, cannot fail to be of great usefulness and of the utmost importance to the general practitioner of medicine."

"In Helonias we have a medicament which more fully answers the above purposes than any other drug with which I am acquainted. In the treatment of diseases peculiar to women it is seldom that a case is seen which does not present some indication for this remedial agent."

"The following are among the leading indications for Helonias: Pain or aching in the back, with leucorrhœa; atonic (weak) conditions of the reproductive organs of women, mental depression and irritability, associated with chronic diseases of the reproductive organs of women, constant sensation of heat in the region of the kidneys: menorrhagia, ("flooding") due to a weakened condition of the reproductive system; amenorrhœa, arising from or accompanying an abnormal condition of the digestive organs and an anæmic (thin blood) habit; dragging sensations in the extreme lower part of the abdomen."

If more or less of the above symptoms are present, no invalid women can do better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, one of the leading ingredients of which is Unicorn root, or Helonias.

The Sunday Gazette

tomorrow will be the best paper published in Western Pennsylvania, because it will contain

Best News—Best Illustrations Best Features—Best Comics

The local newsgathering force of The Gazette is the largest and most competent in the city. The foreign service is the same as that of the New York Herald (by special arrangement with that paper) which has the well-deserved reputation of being the most efficient and complete in the world. In addition The Gazette has its own special wires, direct to the office from New York, Philadelphia, Harrisburg and Washington. These are some of the reasons why tomorrow's issue will contain

THE BEST NEWS

The Art Department of The Gazette occupies the entire sixth floor of The Gazette Building, where visitors are always welcome. In point of equipment and service it is unexcelled among the papers of Pittsburgh, and ranks well up with the same departments of the largest dailies of New York and Chicago. Photographers are always on hand, ready to present to the readers of the paper pictures of the important happenings of the day, which are always a valuable supplement to the news columns. A staff of artists is constantly at work preparing drawings for the Sunday edition, an excellent example of which will be seen in the cover-page of the Magazine Section tomorrow. A comparison of The Gazette with any other Pittsburgh paper will convince the most critical that "The Newspaper You See Everywhere" really does contain

THE BEST ILLUSTRATIONS

Just which are the best comics running in the various Sunday newspapers is a question largely to be decided by the individual taste of each reader. There are two series running at present, however, whose popularity is general all over the country, and which undoubtedly rank head and shoulders above any of their contemporaries. These are "Little Nemo in Slumberland" and "Buster Brown," and both run exclusively in The Sunday Gazette in this city. Besides these two there are "The Tiny Tads," "Jimmy Swift," "Latter Day Rescues" and the inimitable "Mister Coon," drawn by our own artist, all of which fully prove the truth of our assertion that The Gazette contains

THE BEST COMICS

Local sketches of interest to every Pittsburgher always play an important part in the make-up of The Sunday Gazette. In no department does this paper excel so conspicuously as in presenting to its readers that valuable asset of a newspaper—

THE BEST FEATURES

And of all the features ever carried by any paper, either now or in the past, none has approached, either in magnitude or interest, The Worker's Magazine. This occupies a full section of the Sunday paper, and is composed of articles which deal with the problems daily confronting men and women in all walks of life. These are written by persons thoroughly familiar with their subjects, and are made all the more interesting by numerous illustrations. Incorporated in the Worker's Magazine are local items of labor news, written by Sam F. Luty, Labor Editor of The Gazette. The subject of some of the articles which will appear tomorrow are given below.

IN PERIL OF HIS LIFE

BY EMILE GABORIAU

Author of "THE MYSTERY OF ORCIVAL," "FILE NO. 113," Etc.

Matters could not remain in this condition forever. One warm afternoon in July, as M. Galpin-Daveline walked along the Rue Nationale, the housewives who observed him from behind their window curtains, thought he looked even more anxious than usual. They were right. After a long conference with the public prosecutor and the presiding judge, the investigating magistrate had taken a serious determination. Proceeding to the prison, he went to Jacques' cell and announced that his "painful duty" was drawing to a close. The inquiry was finished, and on the morrow the papers, with a list of the objections to be used as evidence, would be sent to the attorney-general, to be submitted to the court.

Jacques de Boiscoran did not move. "Well, what then?" he simply asked.

"Have you nothing to add, sir?" asked M. Galpin-Daveline in his turn.

"Nothing, except that I am innocent."

The magistrate found it difficult to repress his impatience. "Then, prove it," he exclaimed. "Refute the charges which have been brought against you, which overwhelm you, which induce me, the court, and everybody else, to consider you guilty. Speak, and explain your conduct."

Jacques kept obstinately silent.

"Your resolution is fixed," said the magistrate once more, "you refuse to say anything?"

"I am innocent."

M. Galpin saw clearly that it was useless to insist any further. "From this moment," he said, "you are no longer in solitary confinement. You can receive the visits of your family in the prison parlor. The advocate you choose will be admitted to your cell to consult with you."

"At last!" exclaimed Jacques, with explosive delight, "am I at liberty to write to M. de Chandore?"

"Yes," replied M. Galpin-Daveline, "and if you choose to write at once, my clerk will carry your letter to its destination this evening."

Jacques de Boiscoran immediately availed himself of this permission and a couple of minutes later he handed the following note to Mechinet:

"I shall expect M. Magloire tomorrow morning at 9. J."

Ever since Jacques' friends had come to the conclusion that a false step might have the most fatal consequences, they had carefully abstained from taking any action. Besides, what would have been the use of any efforts they might make? Dr. Seignebos' request, though unsupported, had been at least partially granted; and the court had summoned a physician from Paris, a great authority on insanity, to examine Cocoleu's mental condition. It was on a Saturday that Dr. Seignebos came triumphantly to announce the good news; but on the following Tuesday he had to report absolute discomfiture. The Paris physician had proved as great a fool as his Sauveterre confrere—siding with the authorities and proclaiming Cocoleu to be an absolute idiot.

Dr. Seignebos was in a furious passion when he called on the Baron de Chandore to acquaint Jacques' friends with the result. Still he added that he did not yet despair of proving that Cocoleu was a miserable impostor, exclaiming, moreover, in stentorian tones: "And M. de Boiscoran may count on me. I have my reasons for saying so. I have formed very singular suspicions, very singular indeed."

M. Folgat, Denise and the marchioness urged him to explain; but he declared that the moment had not yet arrived for him to do so. He left the house in his usual abrupt fashion, vowing that he was overworked, and that he must hurry off to see the Count de Claudieuse, who was getting worse and worse.

"What can the old fellow suspect?" asked Grandpapa Chandore, as the hall door closed behind the doctor. M. Folgat might have replied that the medical man's suspicions were no doubt similar to his own, only perhaps better founded and more fully developed. Still it was not for him to say so. Was not all inquiry prohibited, had they not been told that a single imprudent word might ruin everything? Why, then, excite new hopes when they must needs wait patiently till M. Galpin-Daveline thought fit to put an end to this melancholy suspense.

Some days had elapsed without any news from Jacques, when, one afternoon, Mechinet, the clerk, boldly presented himself at M. de Chandore's house. This fact alone intimated that there was something new, and when M. Galpin's subordinate handed Jacques' brief note to Denise, who met him in the hall, she, reading it by a single glance, ran at once to acquaint her grandfather and M. Folgat with the good news that the prisoner was no longer in solitary confinement. At the same time she instructed a servant to go in search of M. Magloire. In less than an hour, the eminent advocate of Sauveterre arrived. Jacques' letter was handed to him, and when he had perused it, he remarked, with some embarrassment, "I have promised M. de Boiscoran my assistance, and he shall certainly have it. I shall be at the prison tomorrow morning as soon as the doors open, and I will tell you the result of our interview."

He would say no more. It was very evident that he did not believe in the innocence of his client; and, as soon as he had left, M. de Chandore exclaimed. "Jacques is mad to intrust his defense to a man who doubts him."

"M. Magloire is an honorable man," said Denise, "and, if he thought he might compromise Jacques, he would not undertake the task."

Yes, indeed, M. Magloire was an honorable man, and quite accessible to tender sentiments; for he felt very reluctant to go and see the prisoner, who had been his friend, and whom he could not help loving still, although he really believed that he was justly charged. He could not sleep for it that night; and all noticed his anxious air as he walked through the town next morning on his way to the jail. Slowly, and with his heart beating quick, the famous advocate went up the narrow stairs. He crossed the long passage; Blangin opened a door; and the next moment M. Magloire was in Jacques de Boiscoran's cell.

"At last you are here," exclaimed the unhappy young man, throwing himself into the advocate's arms. "At last, I see an honest face, and hold a trusty hand. Ah! I have suffered cruelly, so cruelly, that I am surprised my mind has not given way. But now you are here by my side, I am safe."

The lawyer could not speak. He was terrified by the havoc which grief had caused in his friend's noble and intelligent face. He was shocked at the distortion of his features, the unnatural brilliancy of his eyes, and the convulsive smile on his lips. "Poor man!" he murmured at last.

Jacques misunderstood him; he stepped back, as white as the walls of his cell. "You do not think me guilty?" he exclaimed; and as he spoke an inexpressibly sad expression came into his eyes. "To be sure," he continued with a convulsive laugh, "the charges must be overwhelming, indeed, if they have convinced my best friends. Alas! why did I refuse to speak that first day? My honor!—what a phantom! And still, victimized as I am by an infamous conspiracy, I should still refuse to speak, if my life alone were at stake. But my honor is at stake, Denise's honor, the honor of the Boiscorans. I shall speak. You, M. Magloire, shall know the truth; you shall see my innocence in a word."

And, seizing the advocate's hand, he pressed it almost painfully, adding in a hoarse voice: "One word will explain the whole thing to you; I was the lover of the Countess de Claudieuse!"

If he had been less distressed, Jacques de Boiscoran would have seen how wisely he had acted in choosing the great advocate of Sauveterre for his defender. A stranger, M. Folgat for instance, would have heard him silently, and would have seen in this revelation nothing but a fact submitted to his personal appreciation. But M. Magloire, on the contrary, was bound to express the feelings of the whole district; and when the advocate heard Jacques declare that the Countess de Claudieuse had been his mistress, he gave him an indignant glance and exclaimed: "That is impossible."

Jacques was certainly not surprised. He had been the first to say that people would refuse to believe him when he did speak; and this conviction had largely influenced him in keeping silent so long. "It is improbable, I know," he said; "and still it is so."

"Give me proofs!" said M. Magloire.

"I have no proofs."

The great lawyer's melancholy and sympathizing expression changed instantly. He glanced sternly at the prisoner; and the gleam in his eyes spoke of amazement and indignation. "There are things," he said, "which it is rash to affirm when one is not able to support them with proof. Consider——"

"My situation forces me to tell everything."

"Why, then, did you wait so long?"

"I hoped I should be spared such a fearful extremity."

"By whom?"

"By the countess."

M. Magloire's expression became darker and darker. "I am not often accused of partiality," he said. "The Count de Claudieuse is, perhaps, the only enemy I have in the province, but he is a fierce, bitter enemy. To keep me out of the chamber, and to prevent my obtaining many votes, he stooped to acts unworthy of a gentleman. I do not like him. But in justice I must say that I look upon the countess as the loftiest, purest, the noblest type of a woman, a wife, and a mother."

A bitter smile played on Jacques' lips. "And still I was her lover," he said.

"When? How? The countess lived at Valpinson, and you in Paris."

"Yes; but every year the countess came and spent the month of September in Paris; and I came occasionally to Boiscoran."

"It is very singular that such an intrigue should never have been suspected even."

"We managed to take our precautions."

"And no one ever suspected anything?"

"No one."

But Jacques was at last becoming impatient at the attitude which M. Magloire had assumed. He forgot that he himself had foreseen all the suspicions to which he was now exposed. "Why do you ask all these questions?" he said. "You do not believe me. Well, be it so! Let me at least try to convince you. Will you listen to me?"

M. Magloire drew forward a chair, and sitting down, not in the usual fashion, but astride it, and resting his arms on the back, he said, "I am listening."

PITTSBURGH MEN TO HONOR FOSTER

Old Associates of Composer to Take Part in "Foster Day" Exercises at Louisville.

SCULPTOR GETS DATA HERE

Coming to Pittsburgh to gather data from which to model his statue of Stephen C. Foster, the author of "My Old Kentucky Home," which will be unveiled in the new armory at Louisville, Ky., next June in connection with the celebration of "Home Coming Week," W. L. Roop, a well-known sculptor of that city, was more than rewarded for his journey. Not only did he meet and talk with the only daughter of the composer of the famous ballad, but he secured an hitherto unpublished photograph of him, and was enabled to meet personally many of the men who knew and were associated with the musician. More than this he gained the promise from a number of members of the Stephen C. Foster Serenaders and the original Stephen C. Foster quartet to attend the unveiling and participate in the exercises on Stephen C. Foster day, June 14.

Before beginning his work on the statue Mr. Roop is taking every possible means to learn aright the characteristics of the man whom the state is to honor. Just before coming to Pittsburgh he visited the round house on Federal hill, near Boydstown, Ky., where Foster composed "My Old Kentucky Home." Fresh from his trip to this historic spot he journeyed to this city, where he gained still further inspiration from his meeting with Mrs. Marion Foster Walsh and the friends of Foster, who knew the composer in the days when the piece was written. From the daughter he also secured the photograph, a reproduction of which is given. It was taken about 1858 and is made doubly precious because it is autographed.

Before leaving the city today Mr. Roop had about decided upon the form of the statue. The figure will be life size in a a seated pose, showing a flute in his lap, a sheet of music in the left hand and a pencil in the right. When finally placed in the state house at Frankfort, the statue will be mounted on a granite base. The old round house will appear on one side of the pedestal, a bar of the song on another, and on the front will be the name "Stephen Collins Foster." Only the plaster cast will be ready for the unveiling on June 14, and the figure will be made later, either in Italy or in New York city. The statue will cost, complete, between $6,000 and $8,000, the funds for its erection having been raised by donations from the school children of Kentucky.

Mr. Roop says that every day brings letters by the hundred from loyal Kentuckians from all parts of the country, who have the strains of "My Old Kentucky Home" echoing in their hearts, and who say they will be on hand for the celebration of Home Coming week. The festivities begin on June 13, which will be general reception day. Foster day, when the monument will be unveiled, comes next, then Daniel Boone day and Greater Kentucky day. The celebration is under the auspices of the Commercial club of Louisville, and Secretary "Bob" S. Brown is seeing to it that nothing is left undone toward making it thoroughly successful.

The surviving members of the Stephen C. Foster Serenaders will meet in the near future to talk over plans for going to Louisville to participate in the celebration and honor the memory of the man they knew and loved.

WRIGHT'S HIGH FINANCE LEAVES SMALL ASSETS

Liquidation of Companies Promoted by Big London Speculator Leaves Less Than Million to Pay Obligations of Almost Thirteen Millions.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Feb. 23.—The report of the official liquidator of the J. Whitaker Wright companies contains startling figures. The assets, which were estimated to produce $14,505,100, realized $2,575,970. To realize this cost over $1,505,000.

The unsecured creditors, whose claims aggregated $12,958,375, received $921,585. There was nothing to return to the shareholders.

High finance has had few more distinguished exponents than J. Whitaker Wright, whose failure in December, 1900, brought ruin to thirteen firms and thirty members of the London stock exchange and swept away the fortunes of probably thousands of persons, the crash involving also the reputations of many men high in British political and social circles.

Sensational as was the failure of Wright, it paled before the startling climax of his death by poison self-administered within the very hour of his conviction on the charge of "fraud of a director," and his condemnation to seven years penal servitude.

Whitaker Wright's financial career began at Leadville, Col., where, before he was 25 years old, he was engaged in several mining enterprises which did not result in great profit. In 1865 he went to Philadelphia where he entered the brokerage business. There he was naturalized and married, and from 1887 to 1891 he maintained a costly establishment at Haverford.

Then he went to London with the intention of retiring from business on the $1,000,000 which he had accumulated in America. The shrinkage in the value of some of the securities which he carried induced him to go to West Australian gold fields in 1893, where he entered more largely into the exploitation of mining properties.

Then in 1897 having returned to London, Wright organized the London & Globe Finance Corporation, the parent company of 11 other corporations, the aggregate capital of the 12 being something like $23,175,000.

Among those who were hard hit was the late marquis of Dufferin and Ava, once governor general of Canada, later viceroy of India, and afterwards British ambassador to Paris, who was left a comparatively poor man. He was a director. Other men were Lieut.-Gen Gough-Calthorp and Lord Edward William Pelham-Clinton, son of the fifth duke of New Castle.

There was long delay in bringing action against Wright, which caused reports to circulate that he was being shielded by persons high in the British government who wished to avoid the scandal of bringing into the affair persons very near the throne.

Arrest Five of the "Goat Gang."

Five members of a crowd of young rowdies, who, by insulting women, breaking windows in houses and hurling stones at people, have terrorized Thirty-third street residents for months past, were arrested and given a hearing yesterday morning before Magistrate Moke. They were ordered to forfeit $10 each or spend 20 days in jail. They gave their names as George Hess, Norman Rowe, Frank Herold, Thomas Smalley and Michael Kilgallon. They had gained the name of the "goat gang," because of their agility in scaling the steep hillsides in the neighborhood when pursued. It is said other arrests may follow.

Let Contract for Stationery.

Mayor Wyman and Controller Brown of Allegheny yesterday let the contract for stationery, printing and tax books for the several departments of the city government that have no appropriations for such supplies, to Joseph T. Colvin. His bid was $2,177 and the lowest.

Wants Money for Berlin Church.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Dr. J. F. Dickie, pastor of the American church in Berlin, is in the city in an effort to pay off the mortgage of his church, of which a large proportion of the congregation is American students. He will visit the principal cities in the west.

STATE AUTHORITIES CUT GAS PRICE IN NEW YORK

Order to Prevail for Three Years. Governor Says Reduction Is Thoroughly Justified.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 23.—The state commission of gas and electricity today issued an order fixing the maximum rate for gas on Manhattan island at 80 cents per thousand cubic feet. The order goes into effect May 1.

The commission quoted figures showing that the cost to the Consolidated Gas Company, the largest of the companies, was 60¾ cents. The Brooklyn Union Gas company is still under investigation. Gov. Higgins said:

"I think that an 8 per cent return to the gas company on the amount of its capital actually employed in its business is a fair return."

"Do you regard the order as confiscation?"

"I do not."

Miller Is Sent to Jail.

Ralph Miller of East street, Allegheny, was given a hearing yesterday afternoon on a charge of larceny, preferred by Elmer E. Herman. Miller is an orderly employed at the McKeesport hospital and was arrested there on Thursday. It was testified that Miller stole a $150 opal ring from Mr. Herman's wife. He was sent to jail.

ARE TO CANVASS AMONG MINERS

Committee Acting Against Dolan to Make House-to-House Visits.

DIGGERS' STRIKE IS PROBABLE

The insistence of Patrick Dolan, president of the United Mine Workers of the Pittsburgh district, that the rank and file of the union miners are opposed to a strike, is beginning at last to make Dolan's opponents, if not doubtful, at least desirous of verifying their own belief that the miners are willing to strike unless they receive an advance in wages. Dolan has already announced that he will canvass the miners to secure an indorsement of his stand at the Indianapolis convention. Today the district miners' committee, which is receiving advice from John Mitchell, and the committee of national executive committeemen, who have charge of Mitchell's interests here, will start out on a canvass among the miners' homes.

The ostensible purpose of the committee is to arouse the sentiment of the miners in favor of Mitchell's position in ousting Dolan, Vice President Uriah Bellingham and Secretary-Treasurer William Dodds, and thus counteract Dolan's proposed missionary work in his own behalf. It is stated by Dolan's friends, however, that the real purpose of the committee's labors is to learn whether the miners are willing to strike for an advance of wages, in other words, to ascertain what prospects there are of inaugurating and maintaining a strike in this bituminous field. Of course, there is no doubt the committee will also electioneer among the miners to induce as many of them as possible to adhere to the Mitchell side of the controversy and take part in the election of district officers ordered by Mitchell, but not recognized by Dolan. It is asserted by the Dolan adherents that the sentiment against a miners' strike is daily growing stronger.

The committee of miners conducting the fight against Dolan is acting under the directions of Mitchell's committee of three national executive committeemen, Thomas Haggerty, Joseph Sharp and William Little. James Clark is the chairman of the miners' committee. Mitchell's committee opened permanent headquarters in the Hotel Griswold yesterday, Dolan and the other district officers still remaining in possession of the regular headquarters in Diamond street.

Francis L. Robbins, chairman of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, returned yesterday from New York. He said he did not go east to make a deal for the disposal of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company. Mr. Robbins was quoted yesterday as saying that a strike "cannot be averted," but his expressions, while gloomy enough, were not so strong as that report would indicate.

"A strike in the bituminous field is very probable," said Mr. Robbins, "although I am still hopeful the miners will eventually realize the seriousness of a strike, and will agree to accept the operators' terms. The operators are as firm now against granting the advance in wages as they ever were. The situation is exactly the same as it was when the interstate agreement was disrupted in Indianapolis."

Another Drop In Clothing Prices—And Why

THE piles on our clothing tables averaged only about a foot high when the special messenger came from one house and the telegram came from another telling us that two great clothing concerns were urgently anxious to have us relieve them of big surplus stocks at our own prices. Piles a foot high here are next thing to "sold out." So we were in splendid shape to grasp both of these happy chances—and to buy several thousand pairs of trousers, too, from a specialty house that was ready for unconditional surrender. That's why Pittsburghers and all who can come to Pittsburgh, have only to reach out and take these.

These Mammoth Purchases of Suits and Overcoats Divided Into Three Lots

FOR HIGH-GRADE CLOTHING WELL WORTH $25, $28 AND $30

THE SUITS are the latest shades of mixed worsteds and cheviots, single and double-breasted, including a superb assortment of blacks and blue and the more genteel pronounced patterns and striking effects that appeal to business and professional men.

WINTER OVERCOATS of highest excellence—swagger Paddocks, warm roomy Tourist, elegant Three-quarter lengths, etc., in the most eligible woolens.

TOPCOATS, too—Silk-lined and exquisitely tailored with every mark of superiority.

RAINCOATS—The superior grades that go so well with full evening dress. Suitable for fine day and rainy wear, too.

THE PRICE-MARK ON GOOD $10 AND $12 GARMENTS NOW

THE SUITS are made of honor. Fancy worsteds, cheviots and cassimeres, as well as plain black cheviots in correct styles from end to end. Fine serge and mercerized linings. Value double the price.

WINTER OVERCOATS—Shapely, warm and durable, in plain blacks, blues, browns and Oxford grays, correct lengths.

TOPCOATS, too, at 5.75—Good, stylish ones in tan and Oxford gray woolens.

RAINCOATS that are perfect protection from pelting storms. Sufficiently well made from good materials for business purposes or social wear.

TROUSERS FOR THOUSANDS

We could fit out three or four regiments with the Men's Pants that entered into this deal.

For 1.00—Well-tailored Trousers in fancy cheviots, worsteds and cheviots, worth $1.75 and $2.00.

For 2.50—Stylishly cut all-wool Trousers, in excellent woolens, peg-top if preferred, worth $3.50 to $4.50 for 2.50.

For 4.00—Men's Dress Trousers in fine worsteds, high grades which should bear $6 and $7 price-marks for $4.00

ON THE MEN'S SUIT TABLES under the $9.75 sign are spread in impressive array fine all-wool garments, cut in the latest approved Winter styles, made of all the woolens that have the sanction of careful dressers this season. Among 'hem the conservative blacks and the blues whose popularity never wanes are much in evidence—a fact that makes it doubly safe to buy for future use.

THE OVERGARMENT FAMILY is splendidly represented in this $9.75 section—table after table of Winter Overcoats in heavy cheviots, meltons and vicunas—a goodly group of handsome Cravenetted Raincoats in fancy cheviots and worsteds—and a captivating spread of swell Topcoats in black and Oxford gray coverts, whipcords and unfinished worsteds.

PHIL KEARNEY, THE SKATER, IN HARD LUCK---GENERAL SPORTING NEWS

COLLEGE AND NON-PROFESSIONAL SPORTING BY RICHARD R. GUY.

WOODS CAPTURES TWO BIG EVENTS

National Champion Wins Mile and Two Mile Skating Race on Duquesne Garden Ice.

KEARNEY IN HARD LUCK

Morris Woods, the champion skating under the colors of the Beacom's club of New York, won both world championships, the mile and two-mile, last night at Duquesne garden. He captured both events comparatively easily.

Phil Kearney, the blonde-haired Brooklyn skater, who is a general favorite in Pittsburgh, had hard luck. He failed to sprint at the right time at the finish of the final in the mile and, although he apparently beat Robson, the Canadian champion, for the place, the judges, after announcing among themselves he had second place, reversed their decision in favor of Robson.

Kearney won his trial heat in the two-mile, and was preparing for a sprint in the last quarter-mile of the final when he fell, and before he could regain himself, the pack was at least one lap to the good going for the final sprint. Kearney dropped out of the race, much to the disappointment of his many admirers.

Therval Thomsen of Minneapolis was declared ineligible for the races last night on a charge of professionalism, said to have been preferred by Robson. Thomsen came to this country from Norway in 1899, where he was a prominent skater. The year of his arrival in the country he competed in a skating race at Montreal with professionals. Thomsen received no recompense for participating. Robson showed the officials last night a clipping, and Thomsen was barred.

Thomsen last night skated an exhibition half mile in 1:28 2-5. No records were broken in any of the events last night.

Woods was first in the first heat of the mile race with Robson second and Con. Hefferman, an Ontario youth, third. Kearney captured his heat in commanding fashion and was given hearty cheers by the crowd. McDonald of the New York A. C. was second and Woodward Sutphen was third. Kearney beat Wood's time for the trial one-fifth of a second.

In the final Woods went to the front on the last round of the rink and Kearney started after him, but he did not get away in time, as Robson came up from behind and made a pretty sprint. But Kearney seemed to have beaten him. The summaries:

One mile race, first heat—Morris Wood, first; Fred Robson, Canada, second; Con. Hefferman, Ontario, third. Time, 2:54 2-5. Second heat—Phil. Kearney, New York A. C., first; McDonald, New York A. C., second; Sutphen, Beacom's team, third. Time, 2:54 1-5. Final—Wood won, Robson second, Kearney third. Time, 2:57. W. L. Smith, Alf. Horne, Pallister, Lyman, Jacobson, Kirk, Hoffman also started in the first heats.

Two-mile race, first heat—Wood first, Hefferman second, Robson third. Time, 6:18 2-5. Second heat—Kearney first, Anderson of Chicago second, Taylor of New York A. C. third. Time, 6:13 4-5. Final—Wood won, Hefferman second, Taylor third. Time, 6:21. Crabb, Doran, Sutphen, Ebersberger, Fisher and Moeller started in the second heats of each event.

M'KEESPORT TO HAVE A FAST POLO TEAM

A water polo team comprising some of the best amateur players in McKeesport and vicinity will be organized in that city next week. Among the players who will represent McKeesport will be Harry Young, George Bain and Norman Black of Duquesne; Bert Vaughn, George Robinson, C. Dickson, Roy Wallace of McKeesport.

A meeting is scheduled to be held next Monday night to further plans for the team.

STANDFASTS BEATEN BY THE BROWN BOYS

The W. J. Brown pool team of Woods Run last night defeated the fast Standfast team by the score of 100 to 67. The feature was the playing of Holiday for Brown, and Schroeffel for Standfast. The Browns will go to Hazelwood next Wednesday night and play the team of that place. The management would like to arrange games with all good amateur teams, either at home or abroad. Address George Apern, 614 Preble avenue, Allegheny. Scores:

W. J. Browns—		Standfast—
Davis	22	Schroeffel	21
Holiday	46	Standfast	19
Williams	32	Wernert	27
Total	100	Total	67

Referee—Mipple. Scorer—Moran.

New Castle Signs Players.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—President Charles H. Andrews of the New Castle club today received word from Manager Stetler, stating he has signed Edward Schintter, late of the Minneapolis team, as first baseman. Thomas Lovett is to be second baseman. Peter Dorn, a pitcher of the Northern league last season, has also been signed.

Out of the Brighton Handicap.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—The following horses have been declared out of the $25,000 Brighton handicap of 1906: James R. Keene's Von Tromp; John E. Madden's Hot Shot; E. R. Thomas' Hermis and Stalwart; T. E. Mannix's Disobedient; H. K. Knapp's Oak Duke (dead), and Scott Hudson's Miltiades.

Erie Fight Declared Off.

ERIE, PA., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—The 15-round boxing contest between Kid Williams of Canton and Diamond Al. of Detroit, at the opening of the Keystone Athletic club, was declared off tonight. Williams, although offered the entire gate receipts if he would stand six rounds, refused to fight.

FINAL MATCHES IN LAWN TENNIS

Fisher and Grant Will Meet Today for the Indoor Championship.

GRANT ALSO IN THE DOUBLES

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Edwin P. Fisher of the Westside Lawn Tennis club of this city and Wylie C. Grant of the New York Lawn Tennis club will meet tomorrow in the final match for the indoor tennis championship. Both of these players won their semi-final matches today in the tournament on the courts of the Seventh regiment armory. Grant defeated T. R. Pell and Fisher disposed of H. L. Westfall.

In the doubles today Grant and Irving C. Wright of Boston, the pair which won the international tournament at Homburg, Germany, two years ago, defeated Fisher and Hugh Tallant in straight sets.

Tomorrow afternoon, in the finals of the doubles championship, Grant and Wright will meet the Yale-Princeton combination, Harold H. Hackett and Frederick B. Alexander. Wm. B. Cragin, Jr., and Harry F. Allen will engage in the final of the consolation singles. The summary:

National championship singles, semi-final round—Edwin P. Fisher, Westside Lawn Tennis club, defeated H. L. Westfall, Kings County Lawn Tennis club of Brooklyn, 6—5, 6—3; Wylie C. Grant, New York Lawn Tennis club, defeated T. R. Pell, New York Lawn Tennis club, 6—2, 6—3.

National championship doubles, semi-final round—Wylie C. Grant and Irving C. Wright, New York and Longwood Cricket club, of Boston, defeated Edwin P. Fisher and Hugh Tallant, Westside Lawn Tennis club, 6—4, 7—5.

Consolation singles, first round—King Smith defeated A. L. Koskins by default.

Second round—King Smith defeated W. Rosenbaum, 6—2, 6—4; Harry F. Allen defeated Shepard Homans by default; William B. Cragier, Jr., defeated W. H. Moore by default; Morris S. Clark defeated Julio K. Steinacher, 6—1, 6—4.

Semi-final round—Harry F. Allen defeated King Smith, 6—4, 6—4; William B. Cragin, Jr., defeated Morris O. Clark, 4—6, 8—6, 12—10.

CHAMPION WATERBURY BEATS AUSTIN POTTER

BOSTON, MASS., Feb. 23.—Lawrence Waterbury of New York, the American amateur racquet champion, defeated Austin Potter of this city today in the national tournament held at the Boston Athletic association. The champion had to work hard to beat his opponent. His volleying was weak at times, although otherwise his game was strongly played. In the fifth game Waterbury rallied after an emphatic defeat in the fourth and won the match in a driving finish, 3 to 2. The score was 15—7, 6—15, 15—12, 10—15, 15—6.

G. H. Brooke of Philadelphia won his match by default from A. Hewitt of New York. The remaining match of the day was that between H. D. Scott and C. G. Winslow, both of this city. Scott won easily in three straight sets. He proved altogether too brilliant for his opponent. The score was 15—4, 15—4, 15—11. Four matches are scheduled for tomorrow.

AMONG THE BOXERS.

The Business Men's club will tonight hold its first boxing show of the season in its hall, out Fifth avenue. There are four bouts on the program. Paul Moore will be on in the main bout, with a man who is said to be all to the good. Moore's last appearance was at Old City hall, when he knocked out Kid Ferns, the Buffalo fighter, in less than two minutes. Joe Alton, the 122-pounder, who has beaten all the boxers in this section and who only a week or so ago beat Joe Campbell of Altoona, will meet Kid Harvey of Allegheny. The latter is said to be a knock-out boxer on the same order as Paul Moore. The favorites, Bosco and Bananas, will again try and knock out each other and the management has offered a suitable prize to the winner, beside the purse. Willie Mack, a messenger boy, will go against Red Ford, who works in McCreery's store and who is touted as a wonder. The show will positively start on time.

Kid Tyler has an offer to meet Young Mississippi at Altoona before the Bellevue A. C. Tyler will meet Mississippi if he will do 124 pounds at 3 p. m.

In the intercity tournament between Boston and Philadelphia on Thursday night, Matty Baldwin of Boston knocked out Eddie Haney of Philadelphia in the first round, and Billy Willis of Philadelphia knocked out Tommy Golden of Boston in the second round. In the windup Rouse O'Brien of Boston and Frank Carsey of Philadelphia fought a hard and bloody three-round bout.

Parson Davies, according to a report from New Orleans, has been stricken with blindness. His physician is of the opinion that the Parson will recover his sight to some extent.

Joe Tyler, who goes under the name of Young Fitzsimmons, is home from the west, where he was successful in several battles. He says he is ready to meet Paul Moore, Young Dixon or Al. Martin at 133 pounds.

Arrangements are under way by a number of McKeesport sports for a big intercity boxing show which is to be given by the McKeesport Athletic club next month. Out-of-town boxers will be engaged to go on with some of McKeesport's best boxers, and good contests will be arranged. The events will be six-round affairs.

AMATEUR BASEBALL.

The Wampums has these players: William Gustner, manager; Frank Loy, treasurer; John Williams, secretary; J. Mack, A. Schnicker, L. Miller, W. Niggel, H. Faynhan, T. Parcell, J. Pethron, William Drake, F. Atkinson and Charles Kelly. Would like to book games with 19-year-old teams. John Williams, 20 South Thirteenth street, city.

The Carson Midgets have organized and expect to make all 9-year-old teams hustle. The line-up: McEvoy, Maloney, Judge, Petrie, Douglass, Forcebach, Molloy, Welch, Leavey and Gibbons. Address Francis Gibbons, care Crucible Steel Company of America, city, or call 3800 Court and get the information department and ask for Gibbons.

COLLEGE AND SCHOOL NEWS

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 23.—(Special.)—The University of Pennsylvania basketball team managed to maintain its lead in the championship race by defeating Cornell here tonight, 25 to 22. The contest, which was the last intercollegiate league game scheduled to be played in Philadelphia this season, was very slow, with the exception of a few fast plays on the part of the red and blue five.

Penn's team took the lead at the start on a foul goal scored by Capt. Flint. Five minutes later Flint scored a field goal for his team, and from this time on the red and blue scored frequently. The game ended with the local team in the lead by three points. Lineup:

Cornell—22.		Pennsylvania—25.
Lyford (capt.)	F	Flint (capt.)
Dickerman	F	Keinath
Root (Avery)	C	Fitzpatrick (Ehlers)
Goodwin	G	Kiefaber
Chase	G	Striegel (Sprague-McCrudden)

Goals from field—Flint 4, Avery 2, Keinath 2, Root 2, Dickerman 2, Ehlers. Goals from foul—Flint 11, Dickerman 8. Fouls—Chase 6, Kiefaber 5, Kienath 1, Goodwin 4, Dickerman 2, Root 2, Striegel 2, McCrudden 2, Ehlers. Referee—A. L. Sharp, Yale. Time of halves—20 minutes.

LEWISBURG, PA., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—Bucknell defeated Gettysburg here tonight 18 to 10. The first half ended 4 to 3 in Gettysburg's favor, both sides being unfortunate in their shooting. In the second half Bucknell came back strong and there never was any doubt of the outcome. Capt. Sieber played a good game for Gettysburg, while the work of Lose for Bucknell was a feature. Lineup:

Bucknell—18.		Gettysburg—10.
Lose	F	Strohmeier
O'Brien	F	Elliott
Lenhart	C	Sieber
Claypool	G	McClure
McNinch	G	Snyder

Goals from field—Lose 5, O'Brien, McNinch, Sieber 2, Strohmeier, Elliott. Goals from fouls—Lenhart 4, Strohmeier 2. Referee—Hoskins. Time of halves—20 minutes.

Princeton defeated Yale Thursday at Princeton in basketball with a score of 21 to 14.

Princeton—21.		Yale—14.
Vanderbilt	F	Humpstone
Thompson	F	Anderson (Murphy)
Clark	C	Fargo
Halliday	G	Rockwell
Bokum	G	Noyes

Goals from field—Vanderbilt, Clark, Halliday, Bokum 2, Humpstone, Murphy 2, Fargo, Rockwell 2. Goals on fouls—Vanderbilt 10, Clark, Rockwell 2. Referee—Mr. Lockmiller of New York. Time of halves—20 minutes. Timekeeper—Feagles, Princeton.

Mercersburg academy won the middle states championship relay race in the U. of P. indoor meet. Time, 3:16.

Yesterday afternoon on the Pittsburgh Central High school floor the Allegheny preparatory girls defeated the girls' basketball team, 27 to 8. The girls from Allegheny had the ground all the way. The first half ended, Allegheny Preparatory school 8, Pittsburgh High school 0. Miss Bothwell and Miss Zimmers guarded so efficiently that the Pittsburgh forwards had only four shots at the basket. All these shots were wild. In the second half Miss Kiefer made sensational baskets. The Allegheny centers, Miss Lindsay and Miss Worcester, helped to keep the ball in their opponents' territory. The lineup:

A. P. S.—27.		P. H. S.—8.
Miss Kiefer	F	Miss Lafferty
Miss Willock	F	Miss Lamble
Miss Lindsay	C	Miss Carson
Miss Worcester	C	Miss Morehead
Miss Bothwell	G	Miss Ray
Miss Zimmers	G	Miss Kingsbaker

Goals—Miss Kiefer 10, Miss Willock 2, Miss Lamble. Fouls—Miss Kiefer 5, Miss Lafferty. Referee—Miss Whitmore. Scorer—Miss Lockhart.

The members of last year's Braddock High school baseball team reorganized last night under the name of the Braddock Scholastics. It will be composed of players from both Braddock and North Braddock High schools. The election resulted as follows: Williams, captain; Strebich, manager, and Charles Fanker, assistant manager. The candidates who are now practicing in the cage are Gillespie, Williams, Caroll, Hyslop, Gibney, Fanker, Carrouthers, Watkins, McGinley, H. Mills, Milbert, Richards, R. Mills, Strebich and Galley.

The following communication is from Thomas Nokes, manager of the Johnstown High school basketball team:

"I appeal to you as one interested in scholastic athletics to give us a little notice in the High school championship of Western Pennsylvania. We are now claiming the championship, because Butler refuses to play us for no good reason. They beat us for the championship last year by the close score of 14 to 12. We beat Pittsburgh High on their own floor 24 to 23, and Butler beat them 25 to 15. We beat Williamsport High, 28 to 8, and they trimmed Central High of Philadelphia, 27 to 18, for the state honors."

BILLY BAIRD QUITS THE PITTSBURGH HOCKEY TEAM

Crack Cover of the International Takes French Leave Because Kent Was Released—He Leaves for His Home in Ontario.

Billy Baird, the forward on the Pittsburgh hockey seven, deserted the team yesterday morning, leaving for his home in Ontario. He told nobody of his departure, but before boarding a train he sent a letter to Chris Clune, the club's trainer, announcing his departure.

Baird gave no excuse for leaving, but the local hockey contingent surmise he quit the team because Kent, his friend, had been released by Capt. Arthur Sixsmith. The opinion is prevalent that Kent, who is older, exerted influence over Baird, who is but a youth.

Baird was one of the strongest players on the team. He was regarded as the best point in the International league, and Hod Stuart last night said, in his opinion, Baird is better than any man playing the position today in either the United States or Canada.

Telegrams were sent him last night asking him to return. The Portage Lake seven comes here next week for a series, and this series is being looked upon as the hardest of the season at the garden. Should Baird not return the local seven would surely be in a bad way. Capt. Sixsmith, however, might use Garnet Sixsmith at point. The younger Sixsmith was originally a point man. Dunc. Taylor can be secured for a wing to play against Fred Lake of the Portage Lake team. Taylor is as fast a skater as Lake.

DANIELS LOWERS MORE AMERICAN RECORDS

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—C. M. Daniels of the New York Athletic club made some more swimming championship records today. In the 440-yard championship of the Amateur Athletic union tournament, at the New York Athletic club tonight, Daniels simply swam away from the other contestants and made a new American record for the distance. His time was 5:50 2-5, the best previous time under American rules being 5:54 3-5, held by H. J. Handy of Chicago. Marquand Schwartz was second, 15 yards behind the winner, and G. S. Dockrell of the N. Y. A. C., finished third.

The A. A. U. fancy diving championship, which was decided on a percentage, was won by W. C. Boonaman of the Chicago Athletic association; D. B. Renew of the same club was second, and Walter Lee of the N. Y. A. C. was third.

In the tussle for third honors in the water polo championship, Columbia university defeated the Brookline Swimming club of Massachusetts by a score of four goals to none. New York and Chicago will decide the premier position tomorrow night.

NEW YORK GIANTS ARE SIGNING THEIR CONTRACTS

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—One by one the baseball champions are sending their contracts to Manager McGraw. All of the players have been well treated in the matter of salary, and there has not been a single complaint, a state of affairs that is worthy of comment in these days of salary arguments.

Today's mail brought in a few more bulky envelopes, and by the time the players report to McGraw at Memphis next week Fred Knowles expects to have all of the documents in his office.

Bill Dahlen was a caller at headquarters today. He brought his signed contract with him. The "Angel Child" looks fit and is of the opinion that he will be a star at the push ball game, which McGraw will introduce as a feature of the training this year. This brought on a discussion in which Bill admitted that he might have had a better batting average last fall in the championship series if the pitchers had been twirling a push ball instead of the regulation article.

Luther Taylor's contract and that of George Wiltse came in yesterday. Mathewson wired yesterday that he had forwarded his contract and would arrive here early next week, accompanied by his brother, Henry. Sam Mertes wired from Los Angeles that he had signed and Dan McGann telegraphed like information from Shelbyville, Ky. Altogether 14 contracts have been received.

In a letter to Secretary Knowles Mathewson says that the sprained left wrist which bothered him last summer is now only a memory. The big fellow is in splendid condition and anxious to get into a uniform.

CHALLENGE TO ALLEGHENY COUNTY BOWLING TEAMS

GREENSBURG, PA., Feb. 23.—Bowlers of Greensburg and Latrobe have formed a team to challenge any four-man team in Allegheny county for a side bet of $100 to $200. The team will be made up of Ferris and Hartley of Greensburg and Shulte and Mullin of Latrobe. The first of a series of matches was played last night at Latrobe between the Greensburg and Latrobe bowlers, Latrobe winning. The match was featured by phenomenal scores, as follows:

Greensburg—
Hartley	201	206	186—593
Ferris	221	215	179—615
Latrobe—
Mullin	233	206	224—663
Shulte	185	152	220—557

Duquesne Beats Braddock.

Duquesne defeated Braddock in the Interclub league at Braddock last night, 18 to 14. The score was always close, and the game was well played. Score:

Duquesne—18.		Braddock—14.
Decoursey	F	McKnight
Dallas	F	Bowers
Bissell	C	Britzsnyder
Hall	G	Davis
Needham	G	Jeffords

Substitutions—Langford for Dallas and Giboney for Bowers. Field goals—Decoursey, Dallas, Bissell, Hall, Bowers, Davis, Giboney 2. Foul goals—Hall 8, McKnight 5, Bowers.

Measures Against Bookmaking.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 23.—Two bills designed to prevent bookmaking at the Benning race track were introduced today, one by Representative Acheson (Pennsylvania), and the other by Representative Dalzell (Pennsylvania), by request. The bills are almost identical, differing chiefly in the amount of fines for violation, and prohibit all gambling or betting anywhere in the District of Columbia. Under the present law betting is prevented within one mile of Washington and Georgetown. The Benning track has been permitted to operate, as it lies beyond the one-mile limit.

Fox Escapes the Pack.

CRESTLINE, O., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—The most successful fox hunt ever held here was decided today by local sportsmen under the leadership of John McClellan. The fox was large and a 15-minutes start of the hounds proved too much and reynard escaped. The hunters returned tonight, having given up the chase. In all there were nearly 50 hounds in the chase and half as many hunters on horseback. Some of the best foxhounds in the state were here.

No Sale of Schreiber's Horses.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 23.—The St. Louis representative of Barney Schreiber, the horseman, today took up notes aggregating $32,000 and satisfied a sheriff's lien of $1,900 for back taxes, thereby clearing from all incumbrances his stock farm in St. Louis county, known as Woodlands. The auction, advertised for tomorrow, at which Woodlands was to have been sold, has been cancelled.

Hoprend Wins Waterloo Cup.

LIVERPOOL, Feb. 23.—The Waterloo cup for coursing, otherwise the dog derby, was concluded at Altcar, near here, today, with a victory for H. Hardy's Hoprend. There were 64 entries and the heats occupied three days. The betting, which at the start was 10 to 1 against Hoprend, this morning was 11 to 10 on Mr. Hardy's entry.

Gotch Throws Hackenschmidt.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 23.—Frank Gotch, generally regarded as the champion wrestler of America, tonight won from Charles Hackenschmidt of Sweden in straight falls. The first, catch-as-catch-can, lasted 16 minutes and 32 seconds, and the second, Graeco-Roman, 21:35.

BASKETBALL NOTES.

Newman plays the Butler team at Newman hall tonight.

Lawrenceville would like to have a good team to play on its floor Wednesday evening. Call up Kelly, 219-J Fisk, between 9 and 10 a. m.

The McKeesport team will play the South Side team at Odd Fellows' hall, South Side, tonight.

The Holger Reserves want games. Address Bernard O'Donnell, 121 Fourth avenue, or call up 6487-J Court.

The Central Reserves want a game for tonight with any 12-year-old team having hall. Address William R. Barr, 30 Vine street, city.

MARVIN HART BEATEN BY TOMMY BURNS

LOS ANGELES, CAL., Feb. 23.—The fight tonight between Marvin Hart and Tommy Burns before the Pacific Athletic club went the limit of 20 rounds, and Burns got the decision, being the aggressor all the way.

REFORM IS NECESSARY IN FOOTBALL OF TODAY

Willis F. McCook, While Favoring the Game, Sees Where Much Harm Is Being Done by It.

In a lecture before the Pittsburgh Catholic Lyceum last evening, Willis F. McCook, the first captain of a Yale football team, held that the present game of football as played in America was far different from the Rugby game first introduced in this country and the undue roughness of the present game should be eliminated or the game should be abolished altogether. Mr. McCook said that as a physical exercise nothing compared with football for the American youth, but great danger also prevailed in the mass formations and flying tackles.

The speaker held that if the rules of Rugby were strictly adhered to both of these dangerous plays would be done away with and the game would reach the standard set for it when first introduced in the United States. Commercialism was also vigorously attacked by the speaker. Mr. McCook followed the history of football for hundreds of years and showed that the game had always been played and that it had never in the olden days been what is now known as association ball, in which the ball is kicked altogether.

There have always been attacks upon the roughness of the sport and some monarchs ruled that it should not be played during their reign. Mr. McCook was the first person in the United States to receive a copy of the Rugby rules and a Rugby ball. While being heartily in favor of the game and believing it reached its highest point during the last year, he still thinks there is room for improvement and those interested should not oppose the present reform movement.

The lecture was part of an entertainment at the Lyceum, in which music, both vocal and instrumental, played a large part.

CROWLEY KNOCKED OUT.

Ross Again Puts Him Into Dreamland in the Second Round.

BEAVER FALLS, PA., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—A large crowd witnessed the boxing show given here this evening under the auspices of the Nonpareil Athletic club in the club auditorium, in Sixth avenue. The main event was a 15-round bout at catchweights between Con Crowley of New Brighton and Tony Ross of New Castle. Considerable interest had been aroused, as the men had met before at Monaca, when Ross knocked Crowley out in the second round. Crowley claimed that he had underrated his man and had not trained properly and wanted another chance. Tonight's battle went two rounds with the same result, Ross again knocking Crowley out with a short right jab to the jaw.

Ross did all the leading, and it looked like his fight from the start. Crowley was knocked down twice in the first round, with short jabs to the jaw and took the count each time, but was not groggy. Again in the second round he was knocked down twice and took the count the first time, but was unable to rise the second time. Referee "Dar" Braden then declared Ross the winner.

There was but one preliminary, a six-round bout between Jack Young, colored, of New Castle, and Toots Maley of Colonia. The affair went the limit with the men fighting evenly. The referee gave the decision to Young on points, much to the disapproval of the crowd. Young was knocked down in the first round.

Alex. Reed of New Brighton challenged Ross at the ringside at the finish of the main bout.

CY FLYNN BEATEN BY YOUNG MAHONEY

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 23.—Young Mahoney of Milwaukee defeated Cy Flynn of Buffalo, N. Y., in an eight-round bout before the Badger Athletic club tonight. Mahoney was the aggressor throughout the bout and scored knockdowns in the third and the fifth rounds, and had his man nearly out at the gong of the seventh round. Flynn was clever with his left and had the advantage in reach, but in the in-fighting was clearly outpointed by Mahoney.

Steve Kinney of Milwaukee knocked out Young Morris of Green Bay in the first round of a six-round bout.

Wilmerding Beat East Liberty.

The Wilmerding Y. M. C. A. basketball team showed good form last evening by defeating the East Liberty Y. M. C. A., 30 to 7, at the former's hall. Lineup:

Wilmerding—30.		East Liberty—7.
Scott	F	Stevenson
White	F	Peterson
Mitchell	C	Reets
Ruprecht	G	Kuhn
Weaver	G	Brennan

Field goals—White 4, Mitchell 3, Ruprecht 4, Weaver, Stevenson, Reets. Foul goals—White 6, Peterson 3. Referee—Burkhart.

In the preliminary, the Wilmerding Y. M. C. A. Juniors defeated the Irwin Independents of Irwin, 36 to 5.

Geneva Reserves Beaten.

FREEDOM, PA., Feb. 24.—(Special.)—Freedom Reserves played a snappy game of basketball at Armory hall last night with Geneva College Reserves, the score being 16 to 15. The lineup:

Freedom—16.		Geneva Res.—16.
Jackson	F	Sterrett
Hamilton	F	Shuman
Pearson	C	Arthur
Bane (Goetman)	G	McElhinney
Malls	G	Metheny

Goals from field—Jackson 4, Pearson, Malls, Sterrett 2, Arthur, Shuman. Goals from foul—Jackson 4, Arthur 6. Referees—George and Moore, alternating.

BIRTHS EXCEED DEATHS.

Pittsburgh Bureau of Health Report Shows Mortality Record Increased Last Year.

There were 7,273 deaths and 7,591 births in Pittsburgh during last year. According to the annual report of G. W. Moore, superintendent of the bureau of health, there was an increase of the death rate over 1904 and a decrease in the births. During 1904 there were 6,975 deaths in Pittsburgh and 7,696 births. There is a slight tendency to race suicide in this city. Each year the birth rate is less than the preceding year.

In 1904 there were 25 births to every 1,000 of the population. Last year there were but 18 births to every 1,000. During last year there were 1,106 cases of scarlet fever, 513 cases of diphtheria, 2,471 cases of typhoid fever, six cases of smallpox and 11 cases of chickenpox.

Twenty-nine new cases of measles, 28 of typhoid fever, seven of pneumonia, six of mumps, three of scarlet fever, two of diphtheria and one each of meningitis and erysipelas were reported yesterday.

The various teams of the Allegheny County pool league met last night for the twenty-fourth round of their schedule and several surprises were furnished by weak teams landing on top, notably the Primrose team, in the tenth position in the standing, which defeated the Arlingtons at home. Arlington set the pace to the half-way mark, when Sweeney and Charles of Primrose woke up and by making 14 and 12 respectively, carried their team to victory by the close score of 100 to 92. Birch of Arlington played strong and steadily all through the game and had high score for his team. Vowerck traveled to McKeesport with plenty of confidence and money and were determined to win, but came back sadly disappointed and a great deal wiser. Olympia showed superior team work, each man making almost the same score, Gleason getting 34, Paul 36 and Brooks, a new man, making 34. Elson of Vorwerck made 42, high score for both teams, but even that could not win.

The Garfields played at the Demmel rooms in Carrick and they also have a tough luck story to tell. The Demmels started from the wire like race horses and made 55 while Garfield made 16; then Yahring came to the front with 15 and Rompenelli with 13, and came within six of catching the fast going Demmels. The game was close from then on, but the home team played too good and were winners by the score of 100 to 85. Keasen made high score for Demmel, getting 48 balls, and deserves great credit, but Aul and Clepper played steadily and with excellent judgment.

The Federals and Union came together at Braddock, and Union, through the clever playing of "Farmer John" Black and Meredith, took the Federals along all the way through the game and ended up 100 to 74.

Crescent and Glenwood had a merry time trying to beat each other, and Crescent through Brown's superior playing were victorious 100 to 86. Brown had high score of 50, closely followed by Meehan with 49.

The defeat of the Friendships by Swissvale was not due to the efforts of Frankhauser, who played safe constantly and kept Morgan from making more than 31. Arnold played loosely and Freeze, who followed, took care of each opportunity as presented, knocking off balls like clockwork, and the defeat of the Friendships was the natural result. The scores:

A match game for the championship of Wilkinsburg has been arranged between J. W. Cronin of the Crescent billiard rooms and Grant Eby, Jr., of the Casino rooms. They will play 200 balls, 100 in the Crescent room and 100 in the Casino next Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Keen rivalry exists in Wilkinsburg, and the match was arranged to satisfy the demands of the patrons of the two rooms and determine who is really the best player. The odds are in favor of Cronin, he being considered a better general and without doubt having had considerably more experience. The match is awaited with great interest, and the friends of the two players can hardly wait until time for the game.

The Simon Junior pool team would like to hear from all amater teams in or around Pittsburgh. For dates call up 174 Walnut, on Bell 'phone.

The St. Michaels Casino pool team defeated the Southern team on the Southern table by a score of 100 to 99. The playing of A. Dietrich was the feature, he pocketing 54 balls and having high run of 13.

BILLY ROCHE WILL BE THE REFEREE

Frankie Neil and Harry Tenny Choose Him to Arbitrate Their Differences.

WILL FIGHT ON WEDNESDAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 23.—Jim Neil, acting for his son, Frankie, and Morris Levy, representing Harry Tenny, met at Jimmy Cofforth's offices for the purpose of selecting the referee for the Neil-Tenny bout, which comes off at Mechanics' pavilion next Wednesday night. Morris Levy was the first to propose a third man for the ring, and named Eddie Graney. Jim Neil made objections to Graney on the grounds that the horseshoer had failed to keep an appointment with him to talk over matters pertaining to the fight trust.

The next name mentioned was that of Billy Roche, and Neil thought the Bowery boy should be the third man in the ring. It was then Levy's turn to make an objection, and a deadlock resulted. As the articles of agreement say that in the event of the principals failing to name a referee one week before the fight, the promoters of the affair will nominate the man, so that matter is now out of the hands of Neil and Levy, and Billy Roche will most likely be made the referee.

There were a number of visitors to the training quarters of both fighters yesterday, and they found both little fellows in great condition.

BOSTON DOG SHOW COMES TO AN END

BOSTON, Feb. 23.—The judging of the Irish terriers, which were not reached yesterday on account of the large number of entries in other classes, held the chief interest today at the bench show of the New England Kennel club, which came to an end tonight. The feature of the morning judging was the double defeat of the Rev. Father O'Gorman's Celtic Badger by G. S. Thomas' Endcliffe Ignito in the classes for Irish terriers. Until his appearance at the New York dog show recently, Celtic Badger had never met defeat and his appearance here resulted in more than ordinary interest in the Irish terrier classes.

In the class for whippets the Bay View kennels took six out of seven prizes, the only other winner in this class being Miss Anna Lewis' Lansdowne Rolyat Rosalie. The Red Brook kennel took all the prizes offered for poodles. There was a big field of French bulls and the Nellcote kennels carried away four prizes with Nellcote Gamin and Nellcote Lovette.

In the special classes for collies, which were judged in the afternoon, all of the eight prizes offered went to Samuel Untermyer's Greystone kennels of Yonkers, New York.

Baron, owned by E. D. Walsh of New York, carried off the medal offered for the best bulldog born and bred in the United States and Thomas W. Lawson's Dreamwold Miss Monarch captured the medal for the best bitch born and bred in the United States. The bronze medal offered for the best bulldogs and bitches in the show went respectively to champion Shoe Town Pride, owned by Mrs. R. Lobban of Newark, N. J., and the Dreamwold kennel's champion La Roche.

DIOCESAN POOL LEAGUE.

St. Charles and St. Aloysius of South Side Return the Winners.

St. Charles defeated the St. Joseph pool team last night on the St. Charles tables by the overwhelming score of 100 to 48. The St. Charles boys have been leading all season and have but nine games to play and are three games in the lead. Scores:

St. Charles—		St. Joseph—
J. Ommert	31	J. Hungerman	27
T. Gillig	34	Green	10
P. Kraus	39	Gaus	15
Totals	104	Total	52

Scratches—St. Charles 4, St. Joseph 4. Referee—Hungerman. Scorer—Miller.

On the South Side tables the St. Aloysius team took the game from the St. Anthonys by a score of 100 to 72. The winners played a steady game, each of the three players getting neary the same score. Scores:

St. Aloysius—		St. Anthony—
Lieb	33	C. Rossman	27
Scherer	33	H. Feldt	20
Geiger	34	Gunther	25
Total	100	Total	72

Referee—Mahles. Scorer—Harlbedl.

The schedule committee of the league made a mistake by scheduling too many games. Therefore the St. Joseph-St. Aloysius (South Side) game of March 3 is dropped and so is the St. Charles-St. Anthony game of March 2. The St. Charles-St. Aloysius game, scheduled for March 3, will be brought forward to March 2. Next week's schedue is as follows: Tuesday night, St. Aloysius (Sharpsburg) at St. Josephs, and St. Aloysius (South Side) at St. Anthony; Friday night, St. Joseph at St. Aloysius (South Side) and St. Charles at St. Aloysius (Sharpsburg).

Bilsing Wins the McKeesport Shoot.

The McKeesport Gun club held a jackrabbit shoot at its grounds on Thursday in which 14 shooters took part. The feature was the shooting of S. W. Bilsing of New Brighton, Pa., who broke 137 out of 150, and walked off with first honors. J. F. Calhoun, the shooting attorney of McKeesport, who always gives a good account of himself with the scatter gun, was a good second, breaking 133. Dr. Davis took third honor by nosing Irwin out by one point.

Pittsburghers at Assembly Ball.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 23.—(Special.)—The second assembly ball, the last of these most exclusive functions to be held this season, took place tonight at the Bellevue-Stratford. There were a large number of out-of-town guests, among them being Malcolm Guthrie and Maurice Phillips of Pittsburgh.

Radtke Breaks a World's Record.

HOT SPRINGS, ARK., Feb. 23.—Jockey Herman Radtke, by winning four races today, smashed the world's record for winning mounts during a week. The record first belonged to Tod Sloan, who rode 18 winners in one week, then to Eugene Hildebrand, who rode 20. By today's victories Radtke brought his record for one week up to 21 winning mounts. The officials have now secured full evidence that the horse registered as The Rake is a ringer. Track good. Summaries:

JULIA MARLOWE IS ILL AND MISSES PERFORMANCE

Unable to Appear in "The Taming of the Shrew" Last Evening—Will Play Twice Today.

Last fall in Cleveland Miss Julia Marlowe met with a very painful accident from a fall on the stage and received a very severe sprain to the ligaments of the ankle. At that time the actress persevered and kept playing until her physician forced her to take a short rest. Ever since Miss Marlowe has suffered at odd times with a return of pain and soreness in the limb. Last night she was suffering so much that it was thought better that she remain out of the cast so as to be able to appear without difficulty this afternoon and tonight.

Miss Alice Harrington played the part of Katherine in "The Shrew" last night and acquitted herself with great credit, many people not noting the change.

It is stated positively that Miss Marlowe will appear as Katherine in "The Taming of the Shrew" at the matinee performance this afternoon, and as Portia in "The Merchant of Venice" this evening.

MULLANEY TAKES POISON.

Prominent Labor Leader Is Found in a Shanty Suffering from Carbolic Acid.

MONACA, PA., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—Thomas Mullaney, president of the local union of the Amalgamated Association Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid at noon today, dying two hours later in the Beaver County General hospital, at Rochester. He was well-to-do, but the death of his wife a short time ago affected him greatly. He went to the shanty of Watchman Samuel Merriman at the Pennsylvania clay works, said he was ill and sent Merriman away with 2 cents to get him papers.

When Merriman returned Mullaney was unconscious, with the carbolic acid bottle beside him. He is survived by two sons and two daughters.

FARMERS ON STRIKE.

Demand Dollar Per Bushel for Grain and Fix Minimum Rates on Farm Products.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 23.—A strike of the 200,000 farmers composing the American Society of Equity, an organization with headquarters in Indianapolis, has been called for March 1. Everyone who responds for this call will agree to withhold from marketing any agricultural products excepting at prices that are up to the level that has been decreed as equitable.

The word is passing through all the wheat-growing states and the response that is returned is said to be causing considerable concern on the part of the market men and speculators.

BOY CAN ONLY READ WITH BOOK INVERTED

WASHINGTON, PA., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—Officials of the Washington county children's home reported here today that a boy inmate of the home reads with the type inverted. He is James Sanders, aged 11. Miss Elizabeth Coleman, a teacher, yesterday discovered him reading a book, holding it upside down. He told her he had always read that way and could decipher the words in no other manner.

French Workingmen to Be Pensioned.

PARIS, Feb. 23.—The chamber of deputies today almost unanimously passed the long debated bill providing for workingmen's pensions. The law provides that the employer, employe and government each contribute to a fund from which the workingmen may be pensioned after he is 65 years old.

Explosion Kills Four Men.

BLUEFIELD, W. VA., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—Four Italians were torn to fragments this morning at Rock, W. Va., by the accidental explosion of a can of giant powder. Joseph Brado, foreman, was one of the men killed. The men were preparing to set off a blast when in some manner the powder ignited.

Close Lumber Deal for $358,000.

ELKINS, W. VA., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—A big lumber deal has been consummated in the transfer of the Glady Fork Lumber Company to the Glady Fork Lumber Company. The consideration was $358,000. The Glady Lumber Company is a constituent company of the Tygarts River Lumber Company.

Bar Iron Prices Reaffirmed.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—(Special.)—The Eastern Bar Iron association held its regular monthly meeting and reaffirmed the existing schedule of prices. The sentiment of the meeting was optimistic. Manufacturers are sold well ahead and look for a continuation of present prosperous conditions for many months to come.

Destructive Fire in Japan.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—The correspondent of the Daily Telegraph at Tokyo says that fire in the town of Taira, 60 miles southeast of Fukushima, destroyed 600 houses and caused the death of 37 persons.

SURGEONS HALL LUTHERAN CHURCH TO BE DEDICATED TOMORROW

Zion Lutheran Church at Surgeons Hall.

This handsome church will be dedicated tomorrow. The service will begin at 10 a. m. The Rev. F. W. Abicht of Marysville, O., will preach the German sermon and the Rev. J. F. A. Lautenschlager of Malveron, O., the English sermon. The pastor, the Rev. C. V. Sheatsley, will dedicate the church. At 2 p. m. another service will be held and pastors of the neighborhood will deliver short addresses. The evening services will begin at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. J. S. Oglesby of Knoxville, and the Rev. W. J. Schoman of Allegheny, will preach. The church was erected under the supervision of Architect E. V. Denick from plans drawn by him. The congregation is the oldest Lutheran association in Allegheny county. A number of Germans from Virginia and Eastern Pennsylvania settled in the district in 1788, and some of their descendants still live there.

BIGAMIST DISBARRED.

Illinois Court Scores Man Who Wedded Allegheny Woman While He Had Wife Living.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—Albert H. Propper of Chicago was disbarred from practice by the supreme court of Illinois in a scathing arraignment. The court declares that every charge was proven.

It was charged that he was a bigamist; that he married Marie Delavan in Allegheny, Pa., while his first wife, Lena Starke Propper, was living and undivorced; that he swore he had never been married before; that he advertised in Chicago papers free legal advice and when people responded he charged them under guise of court costs, fees for which he did no work; that he is an immoral and dissolute character and that he had been convicted of sending immoral matter through the mails.

MITCHELL IMPRESSIVE.

Claim He Is Trying to Settle Bituminous Situation Before Tying Up Anthracite.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The full scale committee of the United Mine Workers of America met tonight to consider the demands the anthracite miners are to make to the committee of operators. It was intended that President Mitchell should at once notify the operators that a meeting with them was desired. His action in first calling a meeting of the scale committee has given rise to reports that the miners' demands are such as to make the situation a grave one.

No statement would be given out either as to the meeting of the scale committee or as to when the miners would seek a further conference with the operators. It was reported that before presenting the anthracite miners' demands President Mitchell desires to discuss the situation in the soft coal fields with the bituminous operators and if possible to come to an understanding with them.

IMPROVEMENTS AT EXPOSITION PARK

Work will be started next week on a new stand in left field, which will materially increase the seating capacity at Exposition Park for the coming baseball season. The seats which were used on the south side of the gridiron during the football season have been moved back to the center field fence and will be used to accommodate the overflow crowd on days when the attendance is large. The present stand in left field will be torn down and will be replaced by a larger structure. When the new stands are finished the only parks that will exceed Pittsburgh's in seating capacity will be the Polo Grounds at New York and the National league park at Chicago.

Groundkeeper O'Maley, who will start for Hot Springs tonight to fix up the field there for the training season, has just completed a new drainage system at Exposition park.

The schedule for the Pirates' exhibition games will be announced tonight. At the same time President Dreyfuss expects to be able to make up the list of the players selected by Manager Clarke to go to Hot Springs.

DECISION IN STANDARD CASE EXPECTED SHORTLY

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The Missouri inquiry into the Standard Oil Company proceeded tonight for a few minutes. After two questions had been put to a subpoena server an adjournment was taken until tomorrow. It was said today that a decision is expected from the Missouri courts next week as to the legality of certain questions Attorney General Hadley desires to ask several witnesses.

PLAN NOONDAY LENTEN SERVICES

Prominent Episcopalian Clergymen Will Address Daily Meetings in Trinity.

CHURCH TO BE DEDICATED

The Lenten season begins next Wednesday, known as Ash Wednesday, and plans are being made for the proper observance by the Protestant Episcopal, Roman Catholic and several other denominations of Pittsburgh. Elaborate arrangements have been made for its observance by the Pittsburgh assembly of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, under whose auspices a daily service will be held throughout Lent, in Trinity church, Sixth avenue. These services will last only from 12:30 to 12:50, five minutes being devoted to a short church service and the remaining 15 minutes to an address by some member of the denomination. Music of a bright and attractive character will be a feature of the meetings.

The Rev. Cortlandt Whitehead, bishop of the Pittsburgh diocese, will conduct the opening services on Ash Wednesday. The speakers will then be as follows: March 1 to 3, the Rev. J. J. Dimon, rector of Grace church, Mansfield, O.; March 5 to 10, the Rev. W. W. Bellinger, rector of Grace church, Utica, N. Y.; March 12 to 16, the Rev. Dr. G. C. Cox, rector of Calvary church, Cincinnati; March 19 to 24, the Rev. Herman Page, rector of St. Paul's church, Chicago; March 26 to 30, the Rt. Rev. Dr. William M. Brown, bishop of Arkansas; April 2 to 6, the Rev. L. N. Caley, rector of the Church of the Nativity, Philadelphia; April 9 to 14, the Rev. Dr. E. H. Ward, rector of St. Peter's, Pittsburgh.

The committee in charge of these services is composed of W. A. Cornelius of McKeesport, president of the local assembly; the Rev. E. H. Young, associate rector of Christ church, Allegheny, and chaplain of the assembly; John H. B. Phillips, Charles S. Shoemaker, William Robbins, Edwin Logan, E. H. McKinley, J. Kingsley Burnett and Harvey H. Smith.

St. Stephen's Also to Hold Meetings.

The St. Stephens chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew has also arranged for special weekly services during Lent. These will be held every Thursday evening at 7:45 with the exception of the second week, when they will be held Friday evening instead. The following is a list of the ministers and the dates on which they will make their addresses: March 1, the Rev. E. H. Ward, St. Peter's, Pittsburgh; March 9, the Rev. W. W. Bellinger, Utica, N. Y.; March 15, the Rev. E. M. Paddock, Allegheny; March 22, the Rev. Herman Page, Chicago; March 29, the Rt. Rev. W. M. Brown, bishop of Arkansas; April 5, the Rev. L. N. Caley, Philadelphia; April 12, the Rev. E. H. Young, Allegheny. W. Yeatman Griffith will assist in the singing.

With appropriate services in which a number of clergymen will participate, the new church of the Zion Lutheran congregation, Surgeons Hall (formerly Whitehall), will be dedicated tomorrow. The principal service will take place at 10 a. m., when the church will be formally dedicated by the pastor, the Rev. C. V. Sheatsley. The sermon in English will be preached by the Rev. J. F. A. Lautenschlager of Malvern, O., and in German by the Rev. F. W. Abicht of Marysville, O. The neighborhood service at 2 o'clock will be chiefly one of music and song, addresses being made by the pastors of neighboring churches. At 7:30 p. m. the sermon will be delivered by the Rev. O. S. Oglesby of Knoxville and the Rev. W. J. Schoman of Allegheny. The Zion church choir and orchestra, under the leadership of Harry McClure, will lead the music at all these services.

Oldest Church in County.

The Zion congregation is the oldest in Allegheny county and one of the oldest west of the Alleghenies, being started in the year 1788 by a colony of Germans from Virginia and Eastern Pennsylvania. In 1800 they elected their first pastor, the Rev. John Stauch, and in 1812 built their first church, a log edifice, on the lot at Elizabethtown and Brownsville roads, which was deeded by John Varner for "a meeting house and graveyard."

The log church was replaced by a frame structure in 1836, which was used until the present edifice was built. English services were introduced in the '30s, but this caused a split, the English element building a brick structure farther up Brownsville road, the Germans using the old building.

The present pastor, the Rev. Mr. Sheatsley, was called in 1900, and again introduced English services. The congregation at present numbers 250, of which many are young people. They lately erected a parsonage on a lot near the church at a cost of $3,000. The new church is of brick and stone and cost over $15,000.

The new Ballantyne Methodist Episcopal church in McKeesport will be formally opened tomorrow with the Rev. H. C. Gregg as pastor. The pastor is a graduate of the Boston school of theology, and a resident of McKeesport, being at one time connected with the First Methodist Episcopal church of that city. During his student days he served a Massachusetts congregation. The new building is of buff brick and Romanesque design. The Ballantyne congregation is an offshoot of the First and Coursin street churches and was named in honor of former Presiding Elder James Ballantyne, deceased.

Honors for Local Priests.

The ceremonial investiture of the Rt. Rev. F. L. Tobin, V. C.; the Rt. Rev. Joseph Suhr, V. C., and the Rt. Rev. William Kittel as domestic prelates will take place at 7:30 tomorrow evening in the Epiphany parish church. The Rt. Rev. J. F. Regis Canevin, bishop of the Pittsburgh diocese, will officiate at the pontifical vespers, and will be assisted by a number of prominent priests. The sermon will be preached by the Rt. Rev. Monsignor John Boyle, vicar general of the Altoona diocese.

Rabbi Leo M. Franklin of Detroit, Mich., will preach on "The American Jew: A History and a Prophecy," at the weekly service of the congregation Rodeph Shalom, in Carnegie hall, Allegheny. Rabbi Franklin is said to be an eloquent speaker and is a graduate of the Hebrew Union college, Cincinnati. The Rev. Dr. J. Leonard Levy, rabbi of the Rodeph Shalom congregation, will occupy Rabbi Franklin's pulpit in Detroit.

A reunion meeting of the senior and adult departments of the Sunday school of the East Liberty Presbyterian church will be held tomorrow morning at 9:30. The teacher of the lesson, "Jesus' Power to Forgive," will be Homer L. Castle.

A meeting of the Allegheny City Epworth League union will be held in the Perrysville Avenue Methodist Episcopal church on Tuesday evening. The principal address on "Some Privileges, Obligations and Opportunities of the Epworth League" will be made by the Rev. W. S. Lockard of Hazelwood. A solo by Mrs. J. Will Peterson and recitation by Miss Edna Barrett will be features. The social hour will be in charge of Prof. John C. Dickie. The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of the Second Presbyterian church will give a reception to all new members in the church parlor on Monday evening. A short musical program, games and light refreshments will form the evening's entertainment.

Will Talk to Young Men.

John Marron will deliver an address at 3:30 tomorrow afternoon in Lyceum hall, Center avenue, under the auspices of the East End Lyceum. His talk will refer especially to young men, but the meeting will be open to all who wish to attend.

"George Washington, the First Pittsburgher," will be the subject of the moving pictures at the Alvin theater services tomorrow afternoon at 3:30. The Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young will deliver an address on "The Making of a Great Career." Basso John M. Roberts and Contralto Minnie C. Davis will render the solos.

Evangelistic services in response to the general call of the Presbyterian general assembly's evangelistic committee will be conducted in the Second Presbyterian church tomorrow evening, continuing Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. This is intended to be a national evangelistic campaign, the Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young being the special representative of the committee in Pittsburgh.

Returns Home and Is Arrested.

Detectives Lally and McGough arrested A. Ainsly at Fifth avenue and Smithfield street yesterday on a charge of the larceny of a diamond ring, which, it is alleged, he stole about a year ago. He left the city after the theft had occurred and returned recently. The ring was valued at $100.

RETAIL LIQUOR LICENSE APPLICATIONS.

The following Applications for Retail License to sell vinous, spiritous, malt or brewed liquors, or any admixture thereof, at the several places designated below, will be heard by the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, commencing on Monday, March 19, 1906, at 9:30 o'clock a. m., and continuing from time to time in accordance with the Rules of Court, etc., beginning with the First ward, Pittsburgh, and continuing in order as published.

PAY FOR DEPOSIT OF PUBLIC FUNDS

Hamilton County Treasurer Tells Drake Committee He Has Received $20,000 This Term.

COMMISSION BARS ATTORNEYS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, Feb. 23.—County Treasurer R. J. Hynicka has received about $20,000 in gratuities for deposit of public funds from various banks according to his testimony this afternoon, before the commission appointed by the state senate to investigate the public offices of Cincinnati and Hamilton county. The commission began its investigation this morning. The three Democratic members of the committee, Senators Drake, Espy and Schmidt, were assisted by Attorney Philip Roettinger, the two Republicans who had been named to serve with them having resigned from membership on the commission. Before the testimony of Treasurer Hynicka, several bankers had testified to the payment of gratuities to various persons connected with the county treasurer's office, such payments being as an expression of appreciation for the deposit of public funds.

None of the witnesses was permitted the advice of attorneys, nor were attorneys allowed to represent any of the officers whose offices were to be investigated, but the chairman of the commission, Senator Drake, announced that the order might be revoked later.

Uses Many Banks

County Treasurer Hynicka testified that he had been treasurer one and a half years, and deputy treasurer five and one half years before that. He continued: "While I have been treasurer Mr. Schott, the cashier, has had charge of the funds. I should say $3,500,000 is the amount collected semi-annually in taxes. I should judge four-fifths of this is paid in checks. We deposit them in the various banks, in almost every bank in Cincinnati. Probably we have used more banks during my term than in any previous term. We have not deposited currency.

"The checks are received for the accommodation of the public, and are deposited for collection. When we get the collections we send out the receipts. It has been customary to hold checks for from 10 to 30 days to accommodate citizens. We collect from the banks on production of receipts the banks give us when we deposit checks with them. The record of checks deposited is the bank's receipt. Otherwise there is no record of the transaction. The cashier has charge of these receipts. The county treasurer's office has no account of gratuities, but Mr. Schott has from time to time handed me gratuities in cash."

Banks Send Donations.

"From what banks?" asked Attorney Roettinger.

"I don't know. It is customary to accept checks for taxes. We do not have to do that. It is done at the risk of the officer and the drawer. This is done for accommodation of the public. So from time to time banks thus favored have sent donations, or whatever you might call it, to the county treasurer's office in recognition of our accommodation, and I have received the money.

"I never ask a bank or any person for such gratuity. Mr. Schott largely selected the banks to which checks were sent. I knew the money came from the banks. Mr. Schott alone knew the banks the money came from. I kept no account of these amounts and deposited them in my private accounts."

"Will you produce your private account books?" asked Mr. Roettinger.

"Certainly, tomorrow," said Mr. Hynicka.

"I do not know on what basis the amounts were calculated. Mr. Schott handed me in this term about $15,000 or $20,000.

"I don't know if Mr. Schott or anyone else received any money from the same source. I have no knowledge of anyone else receiving any money. This money was not regarded as public funds. It was accepted as I took checks at my risk and I was under bonds."

AMERICAN MAY OBTAIN LARGE EGYPTIAN DESERT

Citizen of Rhode Island Thinks He Has the Site of an Ancient City.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—In connection with the inquiry now being made by the senate committee on foreign relations into the merits of the Cope Whitehouse claim against the Egyptian government to a vast tract of land in the desert region of that country, the department of state recently addressed an inquiry to the Egyptian government to determine the accuracy of the claimant's contention that he had made application under the forms of Egyptian law for the lands in question.

A reply has just been received through American Consul General Iddings, at Cairo, enclosing a letter from the Egyptian Minister of Foreign Affairs, Boutros Pasha, establishing the fact that the Whitehouse application was made in due form. Mr. Iddings has been instructed further by cable to forward to the state department complete copies of the papers relative to the case on file in Egypt.

NEWPORT, R. I., Feb. 23.—Cope Whitehouse, who is a resident of this city, has made extensive explorations in Africa, particularly in Egypt. He discovered what he believed to be the site of an ancient city in the Egyptian desert, and took steps to secure the title to a large area of land including this place. His purpose was to reclaim and develop the arid land by means of irrigation, which he claimed could easily be done from the formation of the country in that region, it being in the nature of a huge basin. He has not yet been able to take possession of the land and he alleges that his claim has been held up in the Egyptian foreign office on technical grounds without any right.

CHARTER FOR TEACHERS.

Public School Instructors Forming Organization to Extend Influence—Big Meeting at North School.

The Pittsburgh Teachers' association has determined to apply for a state charter for the purpose of making the organization permanent and making it more potential in the school affairs of the city. At a meeting of the members of the association yesterday afternoon at the North school, Duquesne way, 500 teachers were present, and 250 paid the admission fee of $1 to become charter members.

The annual meeting will be held on the second Monday in March, and until that time any member of the association can become a charter member. It is proposed to have a reception and banquet in October of each year to greet new members and cultivate the social spirit of the association. Headquarters will be established at which will be found the files of all the leading journals, telephone service and every convenience for the members.

Margaret Anglin's Engagement.

From present indications the return engagement of Margaret Anglin in "Zira," at the Belasco theater next week will be even more successful from the standpoint of attendance than when she opened the Belasco last September. The advance sale has been large all week, nearly all the boxes being taken for every night. Society will doubtless turn out in full force next week to see Miss Anglin.

German Tariff Bill Passes Finally.

BERLIN, Feb. 23.—The reichstag today by a large majority passed the final reading of the bill providing for the extension of Germany's reciprocal tariff rates to the United States. The faction voting against the bill today as yesterday were mostly extreme Agrarians and some National Liberals.

CHIEF OF POLICE IS EXONERATED

Jury Acquits Him of Manslaughter for Shooting and Killing a Fugitive.

WILSON BEGINS HIS SENTENCE

After being out an hour and 40 minutes the jury in the case of Chief of Police George Foster of Carnegie, charged with involuntary manslaughter for killing George Irwin, rendered a verdict of acquittal. Foster was surrounded by friends when the verdict was rendered and heartily congratulated.

When the trial was resumed yesterday morning Foster was again placed on the stand for cross examination. He declared Irwin was 85 feet away and was gaining when he fired the first shot. He shouted to him to halt before he shot and had no intention of hitting him when he fired. He denied that his aim was intended when he shot, and asserted that he held the revolver close to his side.

In charging the jury Judge Shafer said that under the law the offense with which Irwin was charged was a felony, and the jury had no right to consider the value of the property alleged to have been stolen. It was Foster's duty to shoot Irwin if that seemed to be the only way to prevent his escape.

James Wilson, former captain of police in Allegheny, convicted of extortion, was taken to the workhouse yesterday afternoon. Wilson went into criminal court yesterday and soon after Judge McClung, before whom he was tried, entered and took his place on the bench. Wilson and the attorneys stepped up to the rail. District Attorney Stewart handed Judge McClung the order, it was signed at once and Wilson was taken in charge by a deputy sheriff. The sentence of the court was a fine of $100 and imprisonment for six months in the workhouse, to run from date. This is the same sentence as was originally imposed before the appeal was taken by Wilson to the supreme court. He was convicted on June 12, 1905. Wilson was taken to the workhouse at once.

Probate of an alleged will made by R. V. Pare under which J. J. L. D. McCoy was the beneficiary, was refused by Judge Hawkins. Pare's estate consisted of a house and lot on Taggart street, Allegheny. He died in 1885, leaving a widow and one daughter. Mrs. Pare died in 1905, and the daughter is also dead, but she is survived by a daughter and it was for the latter, a grandchild of Pare, that the contest was made.

The case had some peculiar features. Pare had been adjudged a lunatic, but five days after the alleged will was made the decree in lunacy was annulled. Claims of undue influence and of the existence of a later will were made. Judge Hawkins decided that the weight of the evidence was in favor of the contestants and refused to probate the will in favor of McCoy.

Judge Hawkins dismissed the exceptions to the distribution of the estate of Ellen Price. She had made three of her children beneficiaries in an insurance policy, and directed in her will that they were to consider this in an equalization of her estate among her six children. The court holds the policy is not part of the estate and the three children named in it get a full share of the estate in addition to the policy proceeds.

An answer has been filed by the National Coal Company in the suit brought against it by the Pittsburgh Coal Company. It denies that there was a shortage in the acreage of a coal tract sold to the plaintiff, asserts that the plaintiffs did not make a careful survey, and offers to deliver the deed.

An appeal to the higher court has been taken by the defendant in the suit of the Guarantee Title and Trust Company vs. James C. Austin in the United States district court. The action is a bankruptcy proceeding and the question at issue is of alleged unlawful preference.

Helen Nicklas sues Leonard Nicklas for a divorce, alleging desertion.

The Consolidated Traction Company and the Pittsburgh Railways Company sued the Pittsburgh Steeplechase and Amusement Company for $15,341, which is alleged to be principally for a balance claimed for rent and for electricity furnished.

C. B. Judd filed an equity suit against John H. Galey and George H. Shickler to enforce an alleged agreement concerning the kind of buildings to be built on Swissvale property.

Jacob Markle had a capias issued for R. H. B. Rorison from whom he demands $10,000, alleging false arrest.

The jury disagreed in the case of Policeman Martin Sullivan, charged with larceny from the person of $31, from John H. Lyeha. Sullivan was discharged.

Charles Illig and others for use of Caroline Illig, sued the Monongahela Natural Gas Company for $2,390, alleged to be due under the terms of an oil and gas lease.

Bennett Sher filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy, giving his liabilities as $2,736 26, and assets as $547 50. He is a local tailor.

In the Oil Fields

The Hinchberger well on the Streightner farm, south of Coylesville, Butler county, is no longer a gusher, if it ever enjoyed that distinction. The well was drilled in less than two weeks ago, and was "touted" a 500 or 600-barrel producer. It created a good deal of excitement up that way and attracted the attention of operators from a distance. The fuss and fluster it created when drilled into the fourth sand soon subsided and the latest reports give its production at 30 barrels a day. This is about the speed it was credited with by conservative oil men when it was drilled into the sand and began to flow. That section has been noted for wells of the soda fountain kind in the past. A mile to the south, in the vicinity of the Southern Oil Company's producer on the Smith farm, there is considerable new work starting. In that part of the field the oil is encountered in the third sand and the wells show better staying qualities.

Light wells were again reported from the lower southwest fields. Near Shuman, Monongalia county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its test on the E. W. Core farm through the Gordon and has a show for a 15-barrel pumper. In the Smithfield district, Wetzel county, the same company has drilled its No. 75 on the E. W. Petersen farm through the fourth sand and found that formation barren. It will be plugged below and shot in the Gordon. A light show of oil was developed when that formation was drilled through. In the Folsom district the same company has drilled its No. 55 on the Genine Robinson farm 10 feet into the Gordon and has developed no oil or gas. In the Wallace district, Harrison county, the South Penn company has drilled its No. 8 on the Elmer O. Hall farm 68 feet into the stray and has shut down to move back the boiler. In the same district No. 5 on the Henry Talkington farm has been drilled 10 feet into the Gordon and has developed a light show of oil.

In the Middlebourne district, Tyler county, Neeley & Foster have drilled their No. 3 on the Joseph A. Gorrell farm through the Keener sand and have a duster. In the Littleton district, Wetzel county, J. E. Carnahan has drilled his No. 3 on the John Hudson farm into the Gordon and has a light show of oil. In the Burning Spring district, Wirt county, the Niagara Oil Company has completed its No. 22 on the Rathbone oil tract and has a light pumper in the first Cow Run sand at a depth of 399 feet. In Shirley district, Doddridge county, the Swisher Oil Company has drilled its No. 4 on the Harriett McCormick farm through the Big Injun. At 18 feet in the sand a light show of oil was encountered and it will be shot and tested at that level.

In the Elm Run district, Ritchie county, the New York Petroleum Company has drilled its No. 15 on the J. W. Marshall farm through the salt sand and has a show for a 15-barrel pumper. On the Little Kanawha river, Calhoun county, the Potomas Oil and Gas Company has drilled its second test on the B. B. Ferrell farm through the Berea grit and has a duster. This location is 450 feet northwest of the South Penn Oil Company's No. 1 on the E. A. Slicott farm. The No. 2 on the Ferrell farm found but 20 feet of Berea grit and it contained no traces of oil.

West of the Harper pool, on the Ohio side, in Monroe county, the Carter Oil Company has drilled its No. 5 on the Bennett Bros.' farm through the Keener sand and has a strong gasser. The well is spraying some oil and may make a producer. The Carter company has been trying for some time to develop a pool west of the old field. In the Woodsfield district, same county, the Pure Oil company has drilled its test on the John Brown farm through the Berea grit and has a duster.

STOCK MARKET FIRM, BUT TRADING VERY DULL

Rumor of a Scrip Dividend on Union Pacific an Element of Strength—Continued Activity in Local Mining Shares.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Yesterday was the dullest day in the New York stock market for any full session this year. During the first half hour, and again at the close, there was a spurt of activity, but the intervening period was extremely dull and without decided tone. The sales for the day foot up 593,200 shares.

The stagnation was partly due to the absence from the market of many prominent traders who extended the legal holiday of Thursday over the remainder of the week. Another factor was the uncertainty regarding the future of the money market, and also in the labor field. The strength at the opening was ascribed to the higher London quotations and the purchase for foreign account of some 30,000 shares. The attitude of London toward our market was construed as a denial of the report that came from St. Petersburg that the Russian banks had suspended specie payments, or at least that there were other considerations which when made public would minimize the effect of such action. The disorders which have prevailed in Russia ever since the end of the war not only prostrated business, but probably interfered with the collection of taxes. In addition to this the well-to-do Russians who fled to Berlin and Paris during the reign of terror made large drafts upon their home banks and transferred funds to other countries, and the ability of Russia to maintain gold payments over the crisis has been discussed for weeks past.

Union Pacific, which was quoted ex-dividend of 3 per cent, opened at 149, rallied a point, sold off to 148⅝, and then rallied to 151¼, closing at 150⅞, showing a recovery of 2⅞ per cent of its dividend. An element of strength was the publication of a report that the company was contemplating the payment of a scrip dividend, which would be exchangeable for preferred stock, the transaction being in the nature of a distribution of profits realized out of the sale of Northern Pacific and Great Northern stock acquired upon the disintegration of the Northern Securities Company. The market did not at first respond to this report, but when the rumor had been in circulation long enough to permit of an official denial and no denial was forthcoming, the street seemed more inclined to take some stock in it. The rally at the close ensued and shorts did not feel so certain of their position.

Among the other high-priced stocks Northern Pacific closed 2 and Great Northern preferred 3 per cent higher. Atchison rallied 1¾ per cent, and St. Paul closed ⅞ higher. Pennsylvania fluctuated within a narrow range and closed ¼ higher. Reading gained 2¼ per cent, Baltimore & Ohio ⅝ and Erie 1 per cent.

United States Steel stocks were neglected during the greater part of the day. The common closed ½ higher and the preferred ¼ lower. The weakness in Pressed Steel Car, which closed 1⅛ lower, was based upon the theory that the recent annual report did not hold out any encouragement for an early resumption of dividends on the common stock. The copper stocks were firm. Anaconda closed 6 and Amalgamated ⅞ per cent higher. American Smelting made a good rally in the final dealings and closed 1⅛ higher.

The rates for call loans ranged between 4 and 4¾ per cent, averaging about 4½ per cent. The estimates based upon unofficial returns indicated that the New York banks had lost less than $1,000,000 net during the week, and there was some expectation of a fairly favorable statement today.

Trading on the Pittsburgh stock exchange was confined almost exclusively to mining stocks. Sales of Ohio Tonopah reached 29,100 shares at prices ranging from 64 to 66 cents a share, the latter being the highest ever quoted. The final sale at 65 cents represented an advance of 5 cents for the day. Tonopah Extension sold to the extent of 1,700 shares at $11 and closed at 11⅛ bid. Lustre Mining was unchanged at $30 a share. United Copper was fairly active and firm, advancing to 74¼ and closing at 74, a net gain of 3⅛ per cent. In the curb market Golden Anchor declined from $1.52 to $1.47 and closed at $1.47 bid.

The regular industrial list was extremely dull. Crucible Steel closed unchanged at 15½. The preferred advanced to and closed at 77⅞. United States Steel common and preferred were fractionally higher. Pittsburgh Brewing was strong, the common advancing to 27¾ and the preferred to 49½. Independent Brewing issues were unchanged. National Fire Proofing preferred was weak, declining to 26, and Sewer Pipe was a fraction lower, closing at 34⅛. The report of a new deal involving River Coal had no effect upon the market, the preferred closing unchanged at 23½ bid. Pittsburgh Coal preferred sold unchanged at 55. The Natural Gas stocks were dull but steady. Philadelphia Company declined ¾ to 52. The Westinghouse stocks were neglected.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Today's New York bank statement is awaited with some interest because of the advance in the call loan rate early in the week to 8 per cent. and the subsequent firmness in the rates for time loans. As bearing upon the loan item in today's statement, it may be said that some large private bond transactions have been handled during the week which would indicate requirements for credits. The statement, however, will cover but five days, and may not reflect the true condition of the market. That Wall street operators are not exactly sure of the market for the ensuing 60 days is evidenced by the fact that they have been supplying themselves with time loans running over April 1.

A notable fact in the sagging of prices in the New York market during the early afternoon was the small offerings of stocks necessary to effect it. Some influence in this result was attributable to the report of the insurance investigating committee. Some of the recommendations of the committee regarding securities to be held by insurance companies, while not threatening any immediate results in the stock market, promise the ultimate necessity of marketing very large holdings.

The figures of the annual report of Union Switch and Signal which will be presented at the stockholders' meeting next month, were given out yesterday. For the year ended December 31, 1905, the earnings from sales were $2,979,151, an increase of $492,311. The net profits were $409,667, an increase of $50,826, being equivalent to more than 20 per cent on both classes of stock. Following is the balance sheet:

The 619 national banks in the state of Pennsylvania report as of January 29 last: Loans and discounts, $245,691,725, against $239,418,835 for 611 banks on November 9, 1905; individual deposits, $303,369,724, against $296,609,504; the percentage of legal reserve was 16.81 on that date, against 17.11 on November 9, 1905.

On the New York metal exchange copper advanced ⅛c a pound, bringing lake up to 17⅞@18⅛c, electrolytic to 17¾@18c, and castings to 17⅝@17¾c.

The break in Consolidated Gas of New York was due to the announcement that the state commission of gas and electricity has ordered that after May 1 the price of gas in the borough of Manhattan be reduced to 80 cents.

The General Chemical Company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent on its preferred stock, payable April 2.

Directors of the Butte Electric & Power Company have declared a dividend of 5 per cent on the preferred stock for 1906, payable in quarterly installments of 1¼ per cent each on the first days of May, August and November to stockholders of record on the 26th day of the months preceding the payments. The directors have also declared a dividend of 1 per cent on the common stock, payable March 15 to stockholders of record March 10. The last dividend on this stock was $3 in February, 1905, and payable in semi-annual installments of $1.50 each.

The earnings of the United States Steel Corporation in January and the first two weeks of the current month ran several hundred thousand dollars in excess of earnings for the corresponding period of the preceding quarter. If there is no setback earnings of at least $36,000,000 for the current quarter, or nearly $1,000,000 in excess of earnings in the last quarter of 1905, are assured.

R. R. Brown of Morris, Brown & Co., has returned to the city after six weeks' spent in Florida.

The governing committee of the Chicago stock exchange have placed in the unlisted department a number of the more prominent copper stocks quoted in the Boston market.

One of the anomalies in the stock market is Baltimore & Ohio. Many brokers have put their clients into the stock because for a 5 per cent issue it was selling comparatively low. For some unfathomable reason speculative cliques have given the issue a wide berth. Perhaps this was due to the dead weight of Pennsylvania control, which makes against mystery movements. Even the January net earnings, which showed a gain in net of over $1,000,000, failed to stimulate buying. This increase was in part due to the open winter and is a good barometer of the prosperity of the iron and steel trade, from which the Baltimore & Ohio obtains quite a large tonnage.

The Colorado Fuel & Iron Company will largely increase the capacity of its rail department and open-hearth furnaces.

The gross earnings of 39 roads for the second week in February were $8,681,269, an increase of $1,925,720.

For the half year ended December 31 the gross earnings of Canadian Pacific increased $4,229,956 and net increased $2,042,653.

Gross earnings of Missouri Pacific for December increased $104,369, and net increased $55,497.

Gross earnings of Chicago & Northwestern for January increased $976,944.

The Atchison January report will be out in a few days and it is predicted that it will show an increase in net of between $850,000 and $900,000.

The Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Movement in the drygoods market today was very moderate at first hands. Buyers were influenced to an appreciable extent by the weakness in raw material and operated only as they needed goods. The current apathy, however, did not have any appreciable influence upon prices, which were held steadily by the large advance business which has been done. Jobbers continued fairly active.

Standard Investment Bonds.

The Colonial Trust Company, No. 317 Fourth avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa., has for sale a variety of bonds yielding the purchaser from 3½ to 6 per cent, which it recommends as desirable investments. Inquire of Alexander C. Thompson, manager bond department.

BUSINESS ENTIRELY OF PROFESSIONALS

Market Closes Lower Than Nominal, With Aggregate Sales at Low Figures.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—The Herald this (Saturday) morning says: Compared with recent days of excitement and active trading, the stock market of yesterday was a little lower than nominal. There was a decided curtailment in activity, aggregate dealings not only fell to the lowest figure for a full day, but to the lowest total since October 30 last year. Business was wretchedly disturbed, only ten properties showing at the close dealings in excess of 10,000 shares, while these ten properties made up about four-fifths of all that was done during the day.

Business was almost entirely professional. This was to have been expected in consequence of the unsettling nature of the news developments, which served as an effectual check to any outside buying, and was more calculated to induce selling than anything else. However, in this respect there were no signs of disturbing liquidation, and in the absence of this the short element at the close was disposed to cover, influencing a strong close.

Such news as developed over the holiday and yesterday, while mixed, could scarcely be classed as favorable either to speculative or investment interests. The Armstrong report on the life insurance investigation, with certain recommendations as to corporate investments, not only greatly restricting the buying of certain classes of securities, but advocating the sale of huge quantities of bank and trust company stocks, railway and corporation stocks and enormous blocks of collateral trust bonds, even though not adopted, remote in its application, had a sentimental influence on bankers and dealers both of stocks and bonds.

Later in the day the announcement of the reduction of the price of gas to 80 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, called attention again to the extent that legislators have gone in dealing with corporate affairs. Whatever the merits or demerits of this matter, the action is calculated to make investors pause, to think twice, in laying out their money.

POLICE OFFICIAL ON CAR WHILE COUSIN LOSES GEMS

Miss Julia Nelson of 2310 Perrysville avenue, Allegheny, called at the North Side central police station and notified Acting Superintendent John Glenn that she had either lost a $300 diamond and pearl brooch or it had been stolen from her while she and her mother were coming to Pittsburgh earlier in the evening on a Perrysville avenue car. She told Glenn, who is her cousin, that he rode down to city hall on the same car with her and her mother, but it was so crowded he did not see them. Miss Nelson offers a reward of $50 for the return of the brooch, which was a present from her father.

NOTES OF TRADE.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 23.—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Northern Central railway today the following directors were re-elected: A. J. Cassatt, H. Walters, J. D. Cameron, Luther S. Bent, N. Parker Shortridge, Charles E. Pugh, Wayne MacVeagh, Michael Jenkins, A. Loudon Snowden, Samuel Rea, J. B. Thayer and Henry Tatnall. President Cassatt, Vice President Pugh, Treasurer W. A. Patton and General Manager Atterbury were present.

HARDWICK, VT., Feb. 23.—The Woodbury Granite Company announced today that it had been awarded the contract to furnish the granite for the new Cook county court house in Chicago. The contract involves an expenditure of $1,000,000.

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 23.—The Railway Steel Tie Company was incorporated today with an authorized capital stock of $1,000,000. The company is to manufacture steel railway ties. The incorporators are: John G. Snyder, Altoona, Pa.; William M. Davis, New York, and George M. Osgood, Mount Clair, N. J.

PORT HURON, MICH., Feb. 23.—Circuit Court Commissioner Clark sold the Michigan, Midland & Grand Trunk railroad, running from St. Clair to Lenox, Mich., this afternoon to Attorney Charles H. Campbell, representing the New York Central, to satisfy a bonded indebtedness of $290,934, of which $87,367 is interest. The road was constructed in 1873 by the Canada Southern Railroad Company.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—At the annual meeting of the Standard Oil Company today the old board of directors and officers of the company were re-elected.

THE MONEY MARKET.

Foreign Financial.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Consols for money, 90½; Consols for account, 90 9-16. Bar silver firm, 30 11-16d per ounce. Money, 2½@4 per cent. The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 3 15-16@4 per cent. The rate of discount in the open market for three months' bills is 3⅞ per cent. Money was in fair demand in the market today, and considerable sums changed hands in connection with various railway dividends, aggregating nearly $17,500,000. Discounts were rather easier as the result of the strong bank return and the latest influx of gold. Prices on the stock exchange generally were firm and a more hopeful feeling prevailed. There were no further failures announced. A moderate amount of business was transacted and prices eased at the close. Consols advanced on good support and home rails hardened. Americans were quiet until the New York opening prices were received, when they hardened. Later they became inactive and closed firm, especially Union Pacific and United States Steel. Grand Trunk was active. Mexican rails were in lively request on rumors of a combination. Kaffirs continued yesterday's improvement on the more hopeful view taken of the Chinese labor question in South Africa, but they reacted later on profit-taking. Japanese imperial 6s of 1904 were quoted at 103¼. Copper was strong but inactive today and closed at £79 10s. Five hundred and fifty tons were sold. Tin was firm despite heavy realizing. All offers were readily absorbed. The price closed at £166 5s. Three hundred and fifteen tons were sold.

PARIS, Feb. 23.—Prices on the bourse today opened firm, became indecisive and closed weak. Russian imperial 4s were quoted at 84.40, and Russian bonds of 1904 at 494.00. The private rate of discount was 2⅝ per cent. Three per cent rentes 99f 35c for the account. Exchange on London, 25f 16½c for checks.

BERLIN, Feb. 23.—Trading on the boerse today was quiet. Prices were steady. Exchange on London, 20 marks 50¾ pfgs. for checks. Discount rates—Short bills, 3½ per cent; three months' bills, 3¼ per cent.

Banks and the Treasury.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—(Special.)—In redemption of checks drawn by depositors of gold at the San Francisco and Seattle assay office, today's official records show that the subtreasury paid out Wednesday, $16,899; of this amount $5,561 had been deposited at San Francisco, $11,338 at Seattle; total thus paid out since Friday, $80,327, against $141,933 for the same period a week ago; total payment by government to New York banks for the day, $4,789,000; payment by banks to government, $3,560,000; balance on the day's transactions, $1,229,000, paid by government to banks; total net payment by banks to government since Friday, $1,413,000, against $4,149,000 similarly paid for the corresponding period a week ago, and $1,219,000 also paid by banks to government a year ago.

Receipts and Expenditures.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—National bank notes received today for redemption, $1,301,568; government receipts from internal revenue, $1,481,168; customs, $1,233,402; miscellaneous, $193,160; expenditures, $2,440,000.

Condition of the Treasury.

GETS BIG CONTRACT.

Pennsylvania Bridge Company of Beaver Falls Will Build Atlantic Coast Line Shops in Georgia.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Feb. 23.—It is announced from Atlantic Coast Line headquarters that the contract for the shops at Waycross, Ga., had been awarded. Twenty-seven firms submitted bids. The contract is given to the Pennsylvania Bridge Company of Beaver Falls. It is stipulated that the work must be completed by January 1, 1907.

While the officials refuse to state the contract price it is known that the shops will cost not less than $400,000.

REAL ESTATE MAN IS MURDERED BY ITALIANS

PITTSBURG, KAS., Feb. 23.—Frank Marsh, a real estate dealer, was murdered by unknown persons while driving last night in a buggy in company with Tony Valencia, an Italian. Valencia is being held. Marsh, under sentence in Missouri for forgery, is alleged to have involved several Italian miners in real estate deals.

BIG GAIN IN PENN AVENUE VALUES

Isaac Wildberg Sells 1224 for $40,000—Increase of $15,000 in Eight Months.

RESIDENCE SALE OF $22,000

Nothing more clearly evidences the growing popularity of the outer Penn avenue district than the steady and rapid advances in the prices paid for property between Tenth and Twenty-second streets. For the fourth time within eight months 1224 Penn avenue was sold yesterday, the last sale being at exactly $15,000, or 60 per cent more than the first price paid in the series of deals. Last summer Catherine O'Reilly bought the property from Susanna Lynch and Charles Lange for $25,000. A few weeks later she sold it to A. J. Pentecost for $29,000. Maj. Pentecost had owned the property but a short time when he sold it to Isaac Wildberg of the Wildberg Company, furniture dealers, for $32,000. These three deals were handled by the Real Estate Trust Company. Mr. Wildberg has now sold the property to a local investor for $40,000, the deal being credited to the Aronson-Friedman Company. It consists of two lots, 12.5x100 feet each, facing on the south side of Penn avenue and running back to Spring alley. An old two-story brick building on the lot is rented for about $1,300 a year. The present deal, which nets Mr. Wildberg $7,400 on an investment of only a few months, is at the rate of $1,600 a front foot, or $16 a square foot.

North Negley Residence Sold.

The best residence sale made in the North Negley district for some time is that of the David Fritz house on the south side of Elgin avenue, near North Negley avenue. It was purchased by Sarah T. Termerty for $22,000 for a home. The house is a very handsome brick dwelling of 12 rooms and stands on 57x124 feet. It is near Richard Bennett's $35,000 residence and the Joseph Vilsack residence now being erected.

Swissvale has a house building boom of no small proportions already started. Fully 180 houses are now under way in the borough. Twenty-five of these are being built by George H. Shickler on the John H. Galey property in Delaware, Hampton and Edgewood avenues. Otto Felix is building 12 reception-hall brick houses in McClure avenue, and nearly 50 houses are going up on the Milligan Manor plan. By April 1 it is estimated that at least 100 more houses will have been started. Borland & Waddell are going to build at least a dozen on the former Sherman property, which they have graded and improved. Individual lot owners all over the borough are preparing to build homes this summer. With the possible exception of Bellevue, no borough around Pittsburgh has shown such activity in residence property the past year, and this season promises to eclipse all previous records.

The German Trust Company, now in the Dallmeyer building, has secured a five-year lease on the first floor of the Hostetter building at 239 Fourth avenue, which is now occupied by Edwards, George & Co., insurance agents. It is reported that Warren & Gray, who are also in the Dallmeyer building, will have quarters in the new location.

Wrong Brokers Were Credited.

The Real Estate Trust Company handled the sale of the Willis F. McCook property at 518 Wood street for $180,000, instead of the Samuel W. Black Company, as announced in The Gazette yesterday. Much guessing has been done as to the buyer of the property, most of the opinions being that it was secured for the Farmers bank for an entrance to its rathskellar in Oliver avenue. This report was denied in several sources that are considered authoritative. William H. McCarthy is not the buyer as reported, for he is now dealing for another downtown location. The sale at nearly $143 a square foot was somewhat of a shock to the realty public, but is not considered an excessive price in view of the location of the lot, two doors from one skyscraper and directly opposite another that is proposed.

Peter McGovern is the purchaser of the W. L. Curry lot at 5611 Penn avenue, just east of Negley avenue, the sale of which for $25,000, or $1,000 a front foot, was reported in The Gazette yesterday. The deal was handled by J. A. Young & Co. Mr. McGovern is the proprietor of the hotel on the opposite side of Penn avenue, and may use this property for his own business later on.

No deal has been made for the E. V. Coffin holdings at 6018 Penn avenue. Thursday a rumor was on the street that a sale had been effected for $60,000, but the report was denied the same day by the Kelly-Wood Real Estate Company, which has charge of the property. Another deal is now pending for the lot which may be closed today.

Getting Ready for the Boom.

Economy is waking up. Yesterday the Real Estate Trust Company sold for the Liberty Land Company 48x70 feet at the northwest corner of Merchant and Fourteenth streets for $5,400 as the site for a business block. The lot is now improved with one of the old time Economite brick houses, and is directly opposite the famous old Economy hotel. It adjoins the handsome office building of the company. Deals are also pending for two other Merchant street corners which are wanted for business sites. The Real Estate Trust Company also sold for William S. McLain to John Z. Levy an improved lot 55x120 feet, on the northeast corner of Francis street and Wylie avenue, Thirteenth ward, for $4,100.

Wilkinsburg: Clarence and Josephine M. W. Brenneman sold to Mary C. Aldendifer a 10-room house and lot at 1307 Singer place, Wilkinsburg, for $9,000 cash.

Webster avenue: The Aronson Realty Company reports the sale of the Turtill property, a store and dwelling on 22x110 feet, at 2119 Webster avenue, to S. H. Rubenstein, for $4,500.

Heath street: James W. Drape & Co. report the sale of a brick house on 37x100 feet in Heath street, East End, for $7,100. The same firm reports these mortgages placed: Three mortgages of $2,700 each and one of $5,500 on Crafton property, and $6,000 on a residence in the East End, all at 6 per cent.

Allegheny: A. Z. Byers & Co. sold through the Manchester Savings Bank & Trust Company for O. R. Minnemeyer to Louis Bodine, 1917 Market street, Sixth ward, Allegheny, an eight-room store and dwelling on 20x100 feet, for $3,500.

East End Residence Sales.

Shetland avenue: The Real Estate Corporation sold for Walter S. Gardner to Abraham M. Cohen an improved lot, 30x130 feet, on the west side of Shetland avenue, near Lenora street, Twenty-first ward, for $7,800.

St. Clair street: Joseph A. Glesenkamp sold to L. W. Wagoner an improved lot, 22x112 feet, on the south side of St. Clair street, Nineteenth ward, for $7,900.

Portland street: Charles L. Kemery sold to Katharine Trestman a new reception-hall brick house on 33x100 feet on the west side of Portland street, near Hampton street, Nineteenth ward, for $9,500.

Atlantic avenue: John M. Wanner sold to Roxalena Holman 15x107 feet in South Atlantic avenue, Twentieth ward, for $3,000.

Oakland: The Lawton Real Estate Company sold to Johanna Brennen an improved lot, 16x75 feet, on the east side of Kennett square, Fourteenth ward, for $3,250.

Greenfield: Daniel R. Deely sold to George F. Rupp 60x102 feet on the north side of Greenfield avenue, Twenty-third ward, for $2,700.

Carnegie street: Garrett Fitzgerald sold to Thomas Heneghan an improved lot, 20x105 feet, in Carnegie street, Eighteenth ward, for $2,650.

College avenue: Edward E. Hunt sold to Anna M. Boyd an improved lot, 60x110 feet, on the east side of College avenue, near Alder street, Twentieth ward, for $8,700.

Erin street: Thomas McIntyre sold to Moses Harter an improved lot, 15x77 feet, on the east side of Erin street, near Bedford avenue, Thirteenth ward, for $2,550.

Sterrett street: George H. Shickler sold to Clarence C. Lowe an improved lot, 23x140 feet, on the east side of Sterrett street, Twenty-first ward, for $4,360.

Fifth avenue: Morris Wanetick sold to Charles H. Sachs and Harry M. Stein an improved lot, 16x100 feet, on the south side of Fifth avenue, near Solar street, Fourteenth ward, for $4,500.

Frankstown avenue: Harry E. Luty sold to Robert Linton an improved lot, 30x135 feet, on the south side of Frankstown avenue, Twenty-first ward, for $8,500.

Second avenue: J. Z. Levy sold to the Queen City Improvement Company an improved lot, 20x100 feet, in Second avenue, near Simpson street, Fourteenth ward, for $6,600.

The Pittsburgh bureau of building inspection issued the following permits yesterday: To B. C. Vaughn, row of five two-story and mansard frame dwellings, on Shakespeare street, near Denniston avenue, Twentieth ward, to cost $22,500; to Thomas A. Coleman, six two-story and attic brick veneered dwellings, on Portland avenue, near Hampton street, Nineteenth ward, to cost $36,000; to M. V. Ramaley, two-story and attic brick veneered dwelling, Rebecca and Broad streets, Nineteenth ward, to cost $3,500; to Lessie J. Hass, two-story brick dwelling, on Gettysburg street, near Reynolds street, Twenty-second ward, to cost $3,500; to Peter Peiver, two-story frame dwelling, Agnew street, Twenty-first ward, to cost $950; to M. J. Wunderland, two one-story frame stores, Kelley street, near Lang avenue, Twenty-first ward, to cost $1,000.

The Cotton Market.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Cotton futures closed steady. Closing bids: February, 10.31c; March, 10.32c; April, 10.44c; May, 10.55c; June, 10.65c; July, 10.72c; August, 10.64c; September, 10.33c; October, 10.22c; November, 10.25c; December, 10.27c. Spot closed quiet; middling uplands, 10.80c; middling gulf, 11.05c; sales, 150 bales. The market opened barely steady at an advance of 5 points on February, but generally unchanged to 6 points lower, and notwithstanding better cables than expected and bullish advices from various spot markets, sold off to a net decline of 8 points during the first few minutes with March touching 10.17 or a new low level for the movement. The decline was due to continued March liquidation, some local bear pressure and stop loss orders, but the demand was of a very good character at the decline, New Orleans was relatively steady and prices here rallied to a net gain of about 4 points during the middle of the morning with the market active and firm. The market was less active at midday with fluctuations irregular about 3 to 4 points higher. Spot cotton quiet; middling uplands, 10.80c bid; middling gulf, 11.05c. Estimated receipts at the ports today, 18,000 bales, against 20,230 bales last week, and 23,952 bales last year. For the week 120,000 bales, against 133,002 bales last week and 115,833 bales last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans, 4,896 bales, against 6,902 bales last year, and at Houston 4,706 bales, against 5,332 bales last year.

FINE WEATHER HELPS THE PRODUCE MARKETS

Good Trading Is Reported from All Sections and General Feeling Is Steady.

The heavy buying experienced Thursday in the produce markets continued throughout yesterday, and all of the merchants report good business. There was a large quantity of fresh green stuff received yesterday, but this had no effect whatever on the firm and steady market which has been ruling for several days.

There were few changes in prices during the day. A slightly firmer feeling is experienced in celery and cabbage.

The market for apples, reported as being firm Thursday, remains steady under a good demand, with rather light supply. Stock of exceptional quality easily brings prices higher than the outside quotation.

Fate seems to be against the egg merchants. When the market looked as though it would become a little firmer, the weather becomes fine again, and once more a weaker feeling is noted. While no change in quotations was made during the day, there was little demand for any grades, and a reduction is possible today, both in storage and selected.

The firm market for butter reported the first of the week continues, and there is a good demand for fresh creamery stock, with little supply on hand. The only change in quotations was the advance of ½c on Monday, but a further rise is expected the first of next week.

The grocery market continues about the same. There has been little, if any, change in the general feeling during the present week.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts bulletined yesterday were: Pennsylvania, 46 cars hay, 13 cars corn, 14 cars oats, 2 cars rye, 4 cars feed, 3 cars straw; Baltimore & Ohio, 2 cars hay; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 10 cars hay, 3 cars corn, 5 cars oats.

There is little change in the general market. The dull and unsteady feeling continues, with few changes in prices. There is still a good demand for No. 1 timothy hay.

The Wool Market.

BOSTON, Feb. 23.—The Boston Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow of the wool market: Operations of importance in domestic wools are generally prevented by the lack of suitable stocks. The new foreign wools now arriving quite freely are meeting with a most satisfactory demand. The largest mills are constantly represented on the market, and sales, whenever possible, steadily follow. The aggregate of the business is large, although said not to be up to the total of last week's transactions. While merchants claim that there is no necessity for higher values, they do assert that conditions warrant a continuance of the present basis. The smaller as well as the larger mills are active and both are close observers of the situation from day to day. Woolen mills are moderate purchasers, and many are taking sample bales. All grades of territory wool are well exhausted. Staple in the grease is hard to obtain, and prices are consequently firmly held. The transfer of territory that stands out prominently is that of 500,000 pounds of medium Dakota, with some Wyoming and Idaho to a Philadelphia mill at 28c, or 68@70c scoured. Two other sales of fine and good fine medium aggregating 450,000 pounds are reported. Clothing wools are steadily dwindling away, as the transfers, while not as a rule large, are sufficient as a sizeable total. Fine wethers, 69@70c; fine medium, 66@68c, and medium, 62@64c. Only fall Texas is now available, and that is being purchased in a moderate way at 22@24c, or 63@65c clean. Northern and Middle California move fairly well at 27@28c, and 23@24c, respectively, or on a scoured basis of 69@70c and 66@68c. Free fall baled and scoured goes at 60@62c, while slightly defective brings 52c.

The shipments of wool from Boston to date from December 27, 1905, according to the same authority are 33,050,384 pounds, against 35,721,074 pounds at the same time last year. The receipts to date are 38,408,874 pounds, against 38,328,243 pounds for the same period last year.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at an advance of 5@10 points in response to higher European cables and reports that the valorization bill of the Brazilian government which is expected to advance the price of coffee by regulating its marketing and supply had been finally approved. There was active business here and heavy switching from March to later positions, but the liquidation of the nearby longs did not help the advance and the market closed with a net gain of 5@10 points. Sales were reported of 280,000 bags, of which about 200,000 bags represented exchanges. The business included March at 6.55@6.65c, May, 6.75@6.80c; July, 6.95@7.05c; September, 7.20@7.30c, and December, 7.40@7.50c. Coffee—Spot Rio steady; No. 7 invoice, 8¼c. Mild steady. Sugar—Raw steady. Fair refining, 2⅞c; centrifugal 96 test, 3 11-32@3⅜c; molasses sugar, 2⅝c. Refined steady.

WEATHER UNABLE TO RETARD BUSINESS

Present Trend of Trade Too Strong to Be Affected by Transitory Influences.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say: Holidays and erratic weather were calculated to interrupt progress in commercial channels, but business has become established on too sound a basis to reflect adverse influences of such a temporary character. Sections that experienced especially high temperature report the early opening of spring lines with most satisfactory results; excessive moisture elsewhere proved beneficial for manufacturing purposes, while at other points seasonable merchandise was distributed freely. Jobbers of drygoods, clothing and notions are shipping large quantities of spring goods, accumulations of heavy-weight wearing apparel having no depressing effect on the new season's business. Prices are firmly held, as a rule, except in the markets for farm staples, which are still higher than normal, despite a general reaction. Manufacturing plants report new orders that assure activity still further into the future, and several dividend announcements show gains over recent preceding years.

Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: Springlike weather stimulates jobbing distribution. Crop preparations are going forward actively, and at the south some actual planting has been done. Iron and steel production, while of unprecedented volume, is largely for the first half of the year's requirements, future orders being of lighter volume. Just how much of this is due to uncertainties as to the coal strike situation is not clear, but that this is a factor is unquestionable. The season favors active building, and lumber, brick and hardware, among others, are very strong. It is noted that wool is very strong, and dealings in the new western clip are checked by high prices. Coal is more active and firmer.

The railways are active as never before at this season. Earnings are breaking all records, and a larger part of the gross receipts are showing up in the net because the usual winter expenditures are down to the minimum. Collections are, taken as a whole, only fair, slack retail trade in winter goods at the north and holding of cotton at the south being drawbacks. Money has shown a tendency to work firmer. Bank clearings are large for the season, and, in fact, exceed all previous February aggregates.

Business failures in the United States for week ending February 22 number 185, against 208 last week, 220 in the like week of 1905, 209 in 1904, 185 in 1903 and 204 in 1902.

In Canada failures for the week ended Thursday number 32, against 28 last week and 27 in this week a year ago.

Wheat, including flour, exports from the United States and Canada for the week ended February 22 are 2,357,068 bushels, against 2,851,643 last week, 923,022 this week last year, 2,091,485 in 1904 and 2,656,870 in 1903. From July 1 to date the exports are 92,278,096, against 42,059,977 last year, 196,346,597 in 1904 and 159,184,648 in 1903. Corn exports for the week are 4,403,007 bushels, against 4,163,853 last week, 3,827,081 a year ago, 1,486,722 in 1904 and 2,368,939 in 1903. From July 1 to date the exports of corn are 80,655,659 bushels, against 42,301,972 in 1905, 37,249,528 in 1904 and 39,674,895 in 1903.

BULLISH CABLES CAUSE FIRM TONE

Wheat Market Recovers Somewhat Through Active Covering by Shorts.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Active covering by shorts caused a firm close today in the local wheat market, although prices were a trifle below the final quotations of Wednesday, the May option being off ⅛c. Corn was up ½@⅝c. Oats showed a gain of ¼c. Provisions were 2½@5c higher.

The wheat market at the opening was decidedly weak, initial quotations on May being off ⅛c to ⅝@⅞ to ⅛c at 81¾@82c. The chief bearish influence came from abroad. A cablegram was received from an English statistician telling of additional rains in India and giving a revised estimate on the total wheat crop of Australia, which showed an increase over figures previously given. Shipments from Argentina for the week were reported to be a trifle larger than for the corresponding time one year ago. The domestic situation also was favorable to the bears, mild weather throughout the entire wheat section of the United States being the main feature. During the first half hour there was apparently little demand except from shorts, and prices made further recessions from the opening decline. In May the lowest point of the day was reached at 81⅜@81½c. At that point shorts bought freely and the demand created by them caused moderate buying by traders. The market gradually became firmer, and closing prices were almost at the highest point of the day. After touching 82⅝c May closed firm at 81¾@81⅞c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 209,000 bushels. Exports for the week as shown by Bradstreets were equal to 2,350,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 388,000 bushels, against 484,000 bushels one year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 755 cars, against 305 cars last week and 404 cars one year ago.

Reports of damage to corn in crib by damp weather caused free covering by shorts and resulted in a firm close in the corn market. Early in the day sentiment was bearish because of lower cables and the decline in wheat. An advance of ½c in the price of cash corn stimulated the demand for future deliveries. May opened ⅛c to ⅜@½c lower at 42¼@42⅜c to 42½c, sold up to 43@43⅛c, and closed at 43c. Local receipts were 440 cars, with four of contract grade. The weakness of wheat and corn had little effect on the oats market, there being a good demand throughout the day from leading longs. A report from New York that contracts had been let for exporting 400,000 bushels to France was the chief bullish influence. The close was firm, with prices at almost the highest point. May opened a shade to ⅛c lower at 29¾c to 29⅞@29⅞c, sold up to 30¼@30⅜c, and closed at 30⅛c. Local receipts were 178 cars.

Provisions were firm for the greater part of the day. Profit-taking caused by the break in wheat and corn caused an easier tone early in the day, but the market soon recovered on buying by local packers, and an advance of 5@10c in the price of live hogs. At the close May pork was up 2½c at $15 62½. Lard was up 5c at $7 77½@7 80. Ribs were 2½@5c higher at $7 22½.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 12 cars; corn, 360 cars; oats, 141 cars; hogs, 20,000 head.

The leading futures, as reported by Messrs. Armstrong & Co., Farmers Bank building, Pittsburgh, members of the Chicago board of trade, ranged as follows:

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

The Tri-Bullion Smelting and Development Company has issued a statement to stockholders, some of them residents of Pittsburgh, to the effect that the annual work on the eight mining claims located in the Little Pipestone district of Montana has developed some fine gold and silver ore, with copper indications. The St. Paul road is making a survey for a proposed branch of that road into the mining district. The Starlight mines belonging to this company have shipped 10 carloads of ore the net returns on which were $5,540 99, although the period covered by these shipments is not stated in the report. J. B. Crusan, manager of the company, states that the January shipments from the Kelly mines were 62 cars, yielding approximately $20,000.

General Manager Ely, of the Ohio Tonopah Mining Company, describes the new strike on the property as follows: "The south crosscut on the 400-foot level recently encountered a large ledge of quartz at a point about 300 feet from the shaft. The body of ore, taken as a whole, is of low grade, but we have a nice streak of ore on the footwall, which is very rich. We cannot tell definitely whether the ledge is the western extension of the West End until we get through the north and south fault plane, which cut the edges close to our end line."

Shipments of ore by the Tonopah Extension Company last month aggregated 451 tons. The company is now shipping about $90,000 worth of ore a month. It is denied that the company has made another rich strike, as reported last week. Ore shipments over the Tonopah railroad last week were 2,610 tons, divided as follows: Tonopah company, 1,852 tons; Tonopah Extension, 451 tons; Belmont, 210 tons; Montana Tonopah, 55 tons; Midway, 50 tons; West End, 41 tons; from Goldfield, 209 tons, from Manhattan, 12 tons.

The Calumet and Arizona Mining Company has declared a quarterly dividend of $2.50, payable March 20.

The annual report of Tennessee Copper Company shows that production for the year ended December 31, 1905, was 7,977,982 pounds fine copper. This entire product was marketed in the form of pig copper, the comparatively high price received for the crude material making it unprofitable to refine the copper at the company's works. Cost of production and marketing was 9.28 cents a pound. Profits for the year after deducting $22,042 for depreciation of the plants in Tennessee were $452,168. Cost of repairs, renewals and development was charged to operating expenses. A dividend of $1.25 a share on the issued stock, amounting to $218,750, was paid January 25, 1905. Cost of addition to smelting works has been paid out of the surplus and profits for the year, necessitating a temporary suspension in payments of dividends. During the past year the 25,000 shares of treasury stock have been sold at par, amounting to $625,000, being held in reserve in the treasury and will be applied to the enlargement of the scope of the company's operations.

The present Balakiala Consolidated Copper Company has 200,000 shares of stock, par $50. Present stockholders will give up their stock, concerning the legality of issue of which there is some question, and receive two shares of stock in a new company for each share now held. Stockholders have also voluntarily agreed to give up a proportion of their holdings so as to return 100,000 shares of the stock into the treasury of the company. The American Smelting and Refining interests pay $12 a share for their new stock. Expert reports on the Balakiala property in California adjoining the Mammoth mine of the United States Smelting, Refining and Mining Company show a tonnage of 1,847,000 tons of ore in sight, which it is figured can be mined at a profit of $4 a ton, figuring the price of copper at 12½ cents a pound.

The Metal Markets.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Spot tin was 5s higher than on Wednesday in the London market, closing at £166 5s, while futures were unchanged at £163 10s. Locally the market was a shade higher, with spot quoted at $36 25@36 50. Copper had a sharp advance in the London market, with spot closing at £79 10s and futures at £78 10s. This was taken to mean that outside offerings which have recently been an unsettling factor were diminishing and the local market was also steadier. Lake and electrolytic are quoted at $17 87½@18 50, and casting at $17 62½@17 75. Lead was unchanged at $5 35@5 45 locally, but declined 10s to £15 15s in London. Spelter also was unchanged at $6 00@6 10 in the local market, declining 15s to £25 in London. Iron was higher abroad, closing at 48s 6d for standard foundry and 48s 10½d for Cleveland warrants. Locally the market was unchanged. No. 1 foundry northern is quoted at $18 25@19 35, No. 2 foundry northern at $17 75@18 82. No. 1 foundry southern $18 25@18 75, and No. 2 foundry southern at $17 75@18 25.

BOSTON, Feb. 23.—The local market was extremely dull, showing no change worth mentioning. The majority of the traders are away for the holiday and there is nothing in the situation at present to inspire either buying or selling. The death of Mr. Stanton will not, as far as we know, cause any change in the policy of the companies which he managed and certainly the action today of the stocks in which he was interested was satisfactory to everyone. The buying of Old Dominion still continues and the stock is talked for considerably higher prices.

PANHANDLE WILL CUT ALL TUNNELS

New Stations for Crafton, Carnegie, Bridgeville and Steubenville—Plans of B. & O.

WELLER SUCCEEDS WILLIAMS

Eventually every tunnel on the Panhandle will be eliminated. The experimental work on the road has been successful to such a degree that the complete annihilation of these troublesome holes will be but a matter of a couple of years. The Burgettstown tunnel has been removed, the tunnel at Bulger will have the roof completely removed in about six weeks and the company will start its forces at work immediately upon the Dinsmore tunnel, about 30 miles from Pittsburgh. Later on it is expected that the work will be started on the Sheridan tunnel, although an alteration of plans may be made that will retain this tunnel because of the property over the line. Incidentally this tunnel work has to do with the extension of the four-track roadway from Carnegie to Steubenville and thence to Columbus.

Somewhat more elaborate station improvements are intended for the Pittsburgh division of the Panhandle this year than heretofore in any one year. Among the places on the Pittsburgh division that will secure new stations, unless the present plans are changed, are Washington, Steubenville, Carnegie, Crafton and Bridgeville. The station at Washington has already been contracted for. Steubenville and Carnegie are heavy traffic points that are badly in need of better passenger station facilities, while at Crafton and Bridgeville there is need of better facilities for the heavy suburban traffic.

On the Pennsylvania railroad's Pittsburgh division there will be new stations built at Johnstown and Cresson. Wilkinsburg is on the list of new passenger stations, also, but this will not be built until some permanent decision has been reached regarding the elimination of grade crossings. The Pennsylvania proposed raising its tracks six feet and lowering the streets about eight or nine feet, the expense of this work to be borne in certain proportions. Wilkinsburg council rejected this and submitted a counter proposition that the railroad elevate its tracks 15 feet. The Pennsylvania has replied that this is prohibitive, but says it will be possible to raise the tracks 10 feet. No reply has been given by the Wilkinsburg authorities.

"Jim" Weller Also Steps Up.

There hasn't been a traffic promotion in the Pittsburgh district in many a day that has been more generally gratifying to the legion of friends of the man promoted than the advancement given to James E. Weller from general agent of the Vandalia and Grand Rapids & Indiana roads to district freight solicitor of the Pennsylvania lines. The official announcement was made yesterday and the news spread almost instantly to every traffic office in this district. It was a testimonial to the popularity of "Jim" Weller in a manner that was not thought of at the time. At a dozen traffic offices outside of the company's offices the word was given out to The Gazette representative: "Say, have you heard of Jim Weller's promotion—succeeds Vernie Williams?" No successor has been named for Mr. Weller's office, and this will not be decided until Monday, when a meeting of the Vandalia traffic men will be held by General Freight Agent Hodgdon at St. Louis. Mr. Weller started as a stenographer in the offices of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern at Pittsburgh when George E. McCague was general agent. That was back in the 80s. Then he served as rate clerk in the office of Division Freight Agent James Means of the Panhandle in Pittsburgh in 1890-91, taking service with the Vandalia in the latter year.

Enterprise of the B. & O.

Apparently the Baltimore & Ohio is beginning to look upon Pittsburgh with somewhat of a favorable eye; sort o' regarding Greater Pittsburgh and McKeesport as in the metropolis class. The Baltimore & Ohio really is serious in its proposition for a 25-minute train service between Pittsburgh and McKeesport, the trains to operate between the two cities every half hour from each city during the day and probably every hour from 8 o'clock p. m. until midnight. It is not an impossible thing by any means, and the construction of the four-track, with an enlargement to a six-track, line between the two cities, with a new station for Braddock and another, with possibly an entirely new line, in McKeesport, looks toward this rapid-service end. It is said the company may also build a new station in Pittsburgh. At any rate, Baltimore & Ohio officers are not overlooking the revenue in and about Greater Pittsburgh. The six-track line, with half-hour trains stopping at all of the stations, would be a hummer for traffic to and from the mill towns and between the two terminal cities. Possibly the Baltimore & Ohio is figuring on having electric service for these half-hour trains, but not a word to this end has been hinted.

Col. Shoemaker Pays a Visit.

Col. John A. Shoemaker, freight agent of the Pennsylvania Company at Massillon, O., took a couple of days for a Washington's birthday vacation and spent it visiting the general officers and the traffic men of Pittsburgh. Col. Shoemaker, who has been freight agent of the company at Massillon for 21 years, is known to every freight traffic man in the Pittsburgh and Cleveland districts. During his stay here he was the guest of W. H. Oliver, freight agent of the Pennsylvania Company in Allegheny.

Charles Forrest has been appointed chief clerk in the Massillon office by Col. Shoemaker to succeed Arrel Higerd, who comes to Pittsburgh as chief clerk to Traffic Manager C. O. Johnson of the H. J. Heinz Company.

Sebastian's Jurisdiction Extended.

Official circulars issued by Third Vice President Biddle of the Rock Island-Frisco system were received here yesterday by District Passenger Agent George S. Pentecost, announcing the extension of the jurisdiction of Passenger Traffic Manager John Sebastian of the Rock Island over the Frisco and Chicago & Eastern Illinois roads. In this capacity he succeeds Bryan Snyder on the Frisco. Mr. Snyder retired from railroad life a year ago.

Electrical Power on the Wabash.

The Wabash is doing its own wiring for electric power and lighting in the new freight house in Pittsburgh and also in connection with the new yards, roundhouses and the draw-bridge across the Cuyahoga river in Cleveland. The work is under the direction of C. A. Patterson, engineer of power, of Pittsburgh. At Cleveland the company has its own power plant, while a large plant is also proposed for Pittsburgh.

Railroad Notes.

General Agent Hurd of the Lake Shore is in New York.

General Passenger Agent Crane of the Wabash is expected in Pittsburgh today.

No steps have been taken by the Pennsylvania toward removing the tracks from Liberty avenue.

Frederick A. Stanley, westbound agent of the Western Transit Company, was here from Buffalo Thursday and yesterday.

Traveling Timekeeper Crawford was here from Baltimore conferring with Timekeeper Fisher and other Baltimore & Ohio officers.

Commercial Agent Charles H. Jackson of the Big Four has returned from his honeymoon trip to the south and has resumed his duties.

W. A. Cox, general agent of the Chicago & Northwestern at Portland, Ore., has resigned to accept service with an eastern road on March 1.

Richard J. Culliton has been promoted from assistant city passenger agent of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh to soliciting passenger agent at Buffalo.

Superintendent Duer of the Pittsburgh division of the Baltimore & Ohio took advantage of the fine weather yesterday to walk over to his office for awhile, having recovered pretty well from his illness of a couple of weeks.

The flitting of traffic men will not be very large this year. General Agent W. I. Laird and District Passenger Agent W. F. Burch of the Chicago Great Western, will remove from the Park building to room 503, Bessemer building, on April 1.

Traffic club committeemen on the annual banquet are working hard now on arrangements for the big dinner, which will come in April. Owing to George D. Ogden's transfer from Pittsburgh to Philadelphia on March 1, he has resigned as chairman of the speakers' committee, being succeeded by S. S. Bridges, commercial agent of the Norfolk & Western. W. B. Everest, traffic manager of the Westinghouse electric interests, is the other member. A third member will probably be appointed at a meeting of the board of governors on Monday.

THE THREE RIVERS

The stage of water at Davis Island dam at 9 o'clock last night was 7.6 feet, and the river was rising.

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 23.—(Special.)—River 10.6 feet and rising. Departures were: Courier for Maysville, and City of Cincinnati for Louisville.

LOUISVILLE—River rising; in canal, 4.7 feet; on falls, 3.3 feet; below locks, 9.3 feet.

PARKERSBURG—River 8.5 feet and stationary. The Bedford left for Wheeling, the French for Preston.

STEUBENVILLE—River 5 feet 9 inches and rising. The Helen White has gone up with her tow.

POINT PLEASANT—River 8 feet 2 inches and rising. Up: Henry M. Stanley.

WARREN—River 1 foot.

GALLIPOLIS—River 10 feet and rising.

MORGANTOWN—River 9 feet and falling.

GREENSBORO—River 9 feet 8 inches and falling.

MARIETTA—River 7 feet and stationary. Up: Ben Hur for Pittsburgh.

OIL CITY—River 2 feet and rising.

PACKET LINES TO RESUME.

Water Has Reached a Stage Sufficient for Navigation.

Packet men were elated yesterday over a stage of water sufficient for the trade to resume business. The first departure will probably be the Queen City, which will leave here Monday afternoon for Cincinnati. She left Wheeling yesterday and will arrive here some time today.

The Keystone State will leave Cincinnati for Pittsburgh today and will return Wednesday.

The Kanawha will probably leave here Tuesday.

There is a large amount of freight at all of the wharfboats, which will keep the steamers busy for several weeks.

Should the rise continue, a large number of tows of empties, which were forced to tie up between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, will be brought in.

It is not thought the March rise this year will reach a great stage, and a number of river men contend that 20 feet will be the deepest point reached.

POLICE SUSPECT NEWSY OF BELONGING TO BAD GANG

The Allegheny police yesterday arrested Lawrence Bailey, aged 13, of West Jefferson street. It is alleged he is one of the four newsboys of the North Side who held up and robbed Martin Hayney, the old man who carries baskets and packages at the market house. John Jahn, who was arresteld on Thursday on suspicion of having been implicated in the holdup and robbery, was yesterday identified by the county detectives as the young man they have been hunting for being connected with a robbery in Westview several months ago.
